WILLKIE TURNS HIS DRIVE INTO MIDWEST TODAY

He'll Talk in Indiana and Michigan.

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Sept. 29 [Special].—Wendell Willkie left New York this evening for a five day campaign tour of Indiana, Michigan, Ohio, and Pennsylvania.

He will return here next week-end, devote three days to New York and New Jersey, and then go into New England. After that he will enter the middle west again, speaking in Illinois, Indiana, and Missouri. He may dip into the south if prospects of carrying any of the southern or border states show improvement. Willkie's earlier intention of making a strong campaign in the south has been somewhat tempered by reports from that section.

South Bend Visit.

The first stop of the Republican nominee in this tour will be at South Bend, Ind., at 7:55 a. m. tomorrow. He will stay there for an hour, paying a visit to the University of Notre Dame as well as speaking from the station.

He will then swing into Michigan, stopping at Niles, Kalamazoo, Battle Creek, Jackson, Ann Arbor, and Wyandotte. At this latter stop he will detrain and motor into Detroit, where he will speak in the evening to the Republican women of the nation on the importance of this election from the standpoint of women. He will spend Tuesday in Michigan and then go into Ohio.

Major addresses of this tour will be the Detroit speech, one at Cleveland, O., on Wednesday, when he will attack the New Deal foreign policy, an address at Pittsburgh, Pa., on Thursday night on labor, and one at Philadelphia, Pa., on Friday night, the subject of which has not been announced.

"Never Felt Better."

The western trip just concluded has been a sort of shakedown trip for Willkie, giving him a chance to try out campaign subjects on which he will elaborate in the closing weeks of the struggle. He said today that he never felt better in his life, altho he has been under an unusually heavy schedule. His voice is now in good shape, and he has the daily attention of Dr. Harold Barnard, Los Angeles, Cal., specialist. He probably will make fewer long back platform speeches in the future in order to conserve his strength for the night meetings. He will make hundreds of appearances, however, and brief talks.

Willkie had luncheon today with Representative Joseph W. Martin Jr., chairman of the Republican national committee; John Hollister, former manager for Senator Robert A. Taft and a Willkie adviser; Sam Pryor, eastern campaign manager, and Representative Richard B. Wigglesworth of Massachusetts.

Willkie also conferred with Representative Bruce Barton, who has just been nominated United States senatorial candidate for New York to oppose the New Deal senator, James Mead. Barton's nomination was urged by Willkie, who also took steps to harmonize the party in the state, which has its upstate and downstate factions and some division over the followers of Thomas E. Dewey and other Republican groups.

CAMPAIGN ON UPGRADE.

Wendell Willkie's Presidential campaign is on the upgrade, Representative Charles Halleck [R., Ind.] said in Chicago last night. He spoke at a reception for George F. Barrett, Republican candidate for attorney general, in the Hotel La Salle.

Halleck, who placed Willkie's name in nomination at the Republican National convention, just completed touring the west with Willkie. He said Michigan will return to the Republican fold in November and that there is an even chance of California doing the same.

31 Foreign Entertainers Ordered to Leave Egypt

ALEXANDRIA, Egypt, Sept. 29 (AP).—Thirty-one Rumanian, Jugo-Slav, Bulgarian, and Greek cabaret entertainers were ordered expelled from Alexandria today by the military governor. The order was believed inspired by efforts to prevent espionage. The entertainers had been permitted to remain in Egypt after others were required to leave shortly before Italy entered the war.

LONDON, Sept. 29 (AP).—Parents of Lieut. P. N. Buckley, commander of the British submarine Shark reported lost by the admiralty July 15, today said they had received two letters from him in which he said he was receiving treatment for wounds in a Norwegian hospital. The letter aroused hopes that the other 43 of the Shark's crew were alive.

LEVY ON EXCESS PROFITS FIXED AT 25 TO 50 PCT.

Hope for Final Vote by Wednesday.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 29 (AP).—A senate-house committee reached an agreement today on an excess profits tax bill, clearing the way for early final congressional action on this measure.

Senator Tom Connally loses amendment to boost taxes in wartime.

The legislation, asked by the administration would impose a 25 to 50 per cent levy on corporation profits in excess of normal, and would also increase the normal corporation income tax from 20.9 to 24 per cent. Both taxes would apply to 1940 income.

Makes Some Concessions.

Estimated by committee members to yield nearly a billion dollars a year, the legislation includes special concessions for defense contractors and would suspend existing 8 and 7 per cent limitations on profits from warships and military aircraft.

It also would set up a government insurance system for members of the army and navy, including draftees and National Guardsmen. This would permit them to buy policies with a face value of up to $10,000 at a rate of about 66 cents a month per thousand.

The corporation income tax increase applies to companies earning more than $25,000. Corporations whose earnings are below this figure now are accorded a special rate schedule which the bill leaves unchanged.

Strikes Out Amendment.

The senate-house committee was appointed to reconcile differences in excess profits legislation passed by the two chambers. Meeting in an extraordinary Sunday session, it struck out a provision, offered by Senator Tom Connally [D., Tex.] and approved by the senate, setting up a system of high income and other taxes to become applicable immediately upon a declaration of war. This would have increased the present 4 per cent basic individual income tax to 10 per cent during wartime.

Immediately upon committee agreement on the bill, congressional leaders made plans to seek its indorsement by the house Tuesday and by the senate Wednesday.

The national defense commission has urged early enactment of the legislation because of its defense plant amortization provision. This would permit government contractors to deduct from their taxable income the entire cost of new facilities completed, for defense purposes, after June 10, 1940. These deductions could be made at the rate of 20 per cent a year over a period of five years.

First $5,000 Is Exempt.

Under the excess profits tax provisions, the first $5,000 of corporation income would be exempt. Two systems would be provided for determining the amount of corporation profits which were "excess" and, therefore, subject to the excess profits levy. The first, or "average earnings," method would permit a corporation to count as its untaxed credit 95 per cent of its average earnings over a base period, 1936 to 1939, inclusive.

The second, or "invested capital" formula, would grant a credit of 8 per cent of a corporation's current invested capital.

The tax rates on excess profits would be 25 per cent on the first $20,000, 30 per cent on next $30,000, 35 per cent on next $50,000, 40 per cent on next $150,000, 45 per cent on next $250,000, and 50 per cent on more than $500,000.

Hope for Appropriation Action.

Congressional leaders hope final action also can be taken this week on the $1,469,993,636 defense appropriation bill which would provide money for the initial costs of the draft program. The measure already has received house approval and hearings will begin tomorrow before the senate appropriations committee.

Spain to Join War Soon, Berlin Hints

THE SHOEMAKER'S DAUGHTER

Style Winners to Be Chosen by Lady Mendl

BY MARCIA WINN.

Lady Mendl, Gail Patrick, and Mrs. Howard Linn will be judges of THE TRIBUNE'S $7,500 American Fashions competition.

Each of the three has achieved wide renown in the world of fashion. French couturiers gave Lady Mendl, the former Elsie de Wolfe, the title of best dressed woman in the world. Gail Patrick, vivacious brunette star of the screen, is known as the best dressed woman in Hollywood. Mrs. Linn, beautiful Chicago society matron, figures annually in the list of the 10 best dressed women in America.

As such they are well qualified to name America's foremost designer as revealed in THE TRIBUNE'S nation-wide contest of American design.

49 Designs to Be Modeled.

They will make their decision Wednesday when the 49 final designs, culled out of the 12,491 submitted in the competition, are modeled in three lavish fashion shows in the audience studio of W-G-N.

On their word alone rests the decision of who wins the grand prize of $3,000 and the second prize of $2,000. Twenty-three other cash awards also will be designated by them, three of $500 each and 20 to $50 each.

The judges and the fashion show audiences will have a common bond in that both will be seeing the designs for the first time. Lady Mendl left Los Angeles yesterday and will arrive tomorrow for the event. Miss Patrick is flying from Hollywood.

Celebrity of Two Hemispheres.

Lady Mendl, American born wife of Sir Charles Mendl, British diplomat, long ago became a celebrity of two hemispheres and for a potpourri of attainments. She knew King Edward VII, of England when he was prince of Wales and she was a London debutante, and now is a close friend of the former King Edward VIII. and the duchess of Windsor.

She has won international acclaim as an actress [when she was John Drew's leading lady, his niece, Ethel Barrymore, was her understudy], as a hostess, and as an interior decorator with exotic tastes.

Gail Patrick Once Law Student.

Gail Patrick—Mrs. Robert Cobb in private life—once studied law and hoped to be governor of Alabama, but she abandoned such aspirations in 1932 to go to Hollywood. Her success there has been phenomenal.

Mrs. Howard Linn's reputation for distinctive dress is such that life size wax mannequins at the Chicago Historical Society museum wear four of her castoff evening gowns. She also is renowned as a beauty and as a horsewoman. Her home is in Lake Bluff.

The fashion shows, for which all seats have been sold, will be at 1:45, 4, and 8:30 p. m. Wednesday.

Style Commentator Arrives.

Travis Banton, head fashion designer of Twentieth Century-Fox studios and outstanding style creator, arrived here yesterday on a TWA air liner in preparation for his rôle as commentator at the style shows. With him was Miss Peggy McNaught, fashion editor of the same studios.

"Designers and stars alike in Hollywood are enthusiastic about the contest," Banton said. "They think it's the first step toward crystallizing the opinion that America is the fashion center of the world."

COURTESY WEEK AUTO SAFETY DRIVE OPENS; 'DEAD' PARADE TODAY

Chicago's Courtesy Week opened yesterday with the city's clergymen appealing to their congregations to remember the slogan "Courtesy Saves Lives." The observance is sponsored by Mayor Kelly's Keep Chicago Safe committee.

Today will be Pedestrian day, with 506 loop marchers in a noon parade representing 506 pedestrians who the Greater Chicago Safety council says were killed by autos last year. Tomorrow will be Industrial day; Wednesday, Civic and Club day; Thursday, Private Car Owners' day; Friday, Student and Bicycle day, and Saturday Community day.

George W. Fleming is general secretary of the Keep Chicago Safe committee.

Bombs Fall on Same Place Twice—26 Years Apart

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ON THE SOUTHEAST COAST OF ENGLAND, Sept. 29.—The axiom that bombs never hit the same place twice was broken today when one fell in a garden, the same place where the first bomb ever dropped on the United Kingdom fell on Christmas, 1914. At that time the bomb's only casualty was frightening the gardener so that he fell from a tree. This time the casualties were no greater.

Veterans to Act on Captaincy Given Elliott

Elliott Roosevelt, son of the President, will be urged to resign his recently obtained captaincy in the air corps reserve "for the good of the country" in a resolution to be presented at the next meeting of the Cook county council of the Veterans of Foreign Wars. Homer McGuffey, Cook county commander of the V. F. W., who served 14 months in France in the world war, said last night that he will sponsor it.

"This business of picking men off the top to make army officers, whether or not they have had military training, is going to demoralize the conscript army we're going to raise, and it will discourage enlistment," McGuffey said.

Veterans Scent Danger.

"Ex-service men are incensed about it, and they think it's dangerous to the country.

"I am sure the members of the Veterans of Foreign Wars are going to be much interested in the situation. I am going to present a resolution at the next county council meeting calling upon both Elliott and James Roosevelt to resign their commissions. The morale of the country stands to gain if they quit."

Elliott Roosevelt, second son of the President, went directly to Gen. George C. Marshall, army chief of staff, to get his commission and assignment to the procurement division of the air corps. James Roosevelt, eldest son, was appointed lieutenant colonel of marines in 1938 so he could dress the part while serving as his father's aid on a trip to South America. He resigned the lieutenant colonelcy a year ago and accepted a captaincy. Neither has had any military experience.

Started in Advertising Job.

Elliott went into a New York advertising agency shortly after his marriage in 1932. He successively held down the following jobs: Airport manager in California; ranch manager in Arizona; vice president of the aeronautical chamber of commerce in Washington, D. C.; president of two radio chains, newspaper aviation editor, and radio commentator.

Elliott also took an active part in Texas politics, and became involved in charges of attempting to engineer a monopoly for certain companies in the aviation field, and of trying to make half a million dollars in a deal to sell American airplanes to Russia.

James' civilian life has been a continuous financial success. He recently resigned a $50,000 a year job with the movies to become a movie producer.

ADVISERS CHART ROOSEVELT PLAN TO 'STOP' JAPAN

BY CHESLY MANLY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Sept. 29.—The future policy of the Roosevelt administration in far eastern affairs is indicated by a prospectus prepared by an organization whose recommendations the administration has followed thus far without deviation. It calls for progressively stronger economic sanctions against Japan and war if necessary to dispose of the Japanese before Germany is in a position to move across the Atlantic.

Admiral Yarnell.

The outline of strategy in the Pacific was prepared by the American Committee for Nonparticipation in Japanese Aggression. Honorary chairman and one of the moving spirits of this organization is Rear Admiral Harry E. Yarnell, retired, who commanded the Asiatic fleet until July, 1939, and is one of the administration's closest advisers on far eastern affairs.

Has Voice in Administration.

Henry L. Stimson was honorary chairman until he became secretary of war last June. The committee's letterhead still carries Stimson's name as honorary chairman, but with a line drawn thru it. Thus the committee has a quasiofficial status, with a voice in the cabinet.

Also affiliated with the anti-Japanese committee is William Allen White, chairman of the Committee to Defend America by Aiding the Allies, whose recommendations for increasing participation in the European war have been followed step by step by the Roosevelt administration.

One of the major recommendations of the "stop Japan" committee is a deal between the United States and communist Russia, to insure continued supplies of war materials for China from the soviet union and to immobilize a large part of the Japanese army on the frontier of Manchukuo.

Seek Pact with Stalin.

For weeks the Roosevelt administration has been seeking such an understanding with Russia. Both Secretary of State Cordell Hull and Undersecretary Sumner Welles have held conferences with Constantin Oumansky, the soviet ambassador, and immediately after the announcement of the Japanese military alliance with the Berlin-Rome axis powers on Friday, Laurence Steinhart, American ambassador to Moscow, hurried to confer with Foreign Commissar Molotov.

Japan also is striving with German assistance to reach an agreement with Dictator Stalin, but the Roosevelt administration, with the help of Great Britain, is wooing Stalin in the hope of forestalling a Russo-Japanese deal and breaking up the communist-Nazi accord. The chief hope of success for an Anglo-American understanding with Stalin is based upon a belief that he will fear a war on two fronts with Germany and Japan.

LT. COL. HERSHEY GETS POWER AS TEMPORARY DIRECTOR OF DRAFT

Washington, D. C., Sept. 29 (AP).—President Roosevelt has signed an executive order conferring upon Lieut. Col. Lewis B. Hershey the powers of director of selective service pending the appointment of a regular director, it was announced tonight. Hershey has been executive officer at selective service headquarters. The order permits him to issue public notices and instructions, allocate funds, and appoint certain subordinates.

Col. Hershey, who is 47 years old, is a former Indiana schoolmaster.

Born near Angola, Ind., he attended Tri-State college and later joined the National Guard, rising from the ranks to become an officer. He served on the Mexican border in 1916 and in the world war.

Continuing in the army after the war Hershey was assistant professor of military science at Ohio State university, served with field artillery units, and attended service schools.

MADRID WILL GET GIBRALTAR, ROME IS TOLD

Viewed by Axis as Active Partner.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]
(Picture on back page.)

BERLIN, Sept. 29.—Italy's foreign minister, Count Galleazzo Ciano, after experiencing a double air raid in the German capital last night, left for Rome today. Spain's minister of the interior, Ramon Serrano Suner, who has taken part in axis conferences here, will follow him to Rome. Suner will, however, stop in Munich to give Ciano time to reach the Italian captial before he does.

Ramon Serrano Suner.

When Suner arrived here, Berlin authorities declared he would return to Madrid by way of Paris. The fact that he is going to Rome is taken as a confirmation of reports that Spain will soon drop her position of nonbelligerency and openly side with Germany and Italy.

[Rome dispatches indicated Spain's early entrance into the war against Great Britain and hinted that the Spaniards will be given Gibraltar, the British fortress, as a reward for aiding the axis.]

In announcing the signing of the German-Italian-Japanese pact, Foreign Minister Joachim von Ribbentrop of Germany declared that he hoped other powers would join. Now it is assumed that Spain may join soon and turn the three-power pact into a four-power pact.

Tells of Gibraltar "Deal."

ROME, Italy, Sept. 29 (AP).—Restoration of Gibraltar to Spain is in the axis' plan for the rearrangement of Europe and Africa, the authoritative Fascist editorial spokesman, Virginio Gayda, declared today.

New talks in Berlin prove that Spain figures in the "immediate scheme of things," said Gayda, who indicated for the first time that Spain, which has been regarded as only a sympathetic friend, is now to be considered an active partner in the world-girdling axis lineup. He avoided saying in so many words, however, that Spain will enter the war.

"Gibraltar is Spanish territory, which Spain is redeeming for herself in the new European order," said Gayda.

The axis still has two big countries to worry about, the United States and Russia.

U. S. Stand a Puzzle.

Leading press commentators showed they were not sure of American reaction.

Giovanni Ansaldo, editor of Count Ciano's Leghorn daily, Il Telegrafo, in a dispatch from Berlin, took the view there was no reason for a break between Russia and Japan.

Ansaldo said Secretary of State Cordell Hull's comment on the axis pact showed its "importance was understood, despite an effort to discount it as a development which had been anticipated."

Mario Appelius, commentator of the Popolo d'Italia, warned the United States that a bursting of the "myth of American power" and destruction of her army would result from any U. S. intervention.

British to "Look After" Rock.

LONDON, Sept. 29 (AP).—An authoritative British source, commenting today on Virginio Gayda's assertion that Gibraltar is Spanish territory, said: "If there is to be any assigning of Gibraltar it would not be left to Italians, and the British feel quite capable of looking after it."

Russia Informed in Advance.

MOSCOW, Sept. 30, Monday, (AP).—Tass, official soviet news agency, quoting an editorial in the newspaper Pravda today, said Russia was informed in advance of the triple axis alliance, and that it "does not represent anything particularly unexpected."

ADVISERS REVEAL ROOSEVELT PLAN TO 'STOP' JAPAN

Pamphlet Charts Course of Increased Pressure.

high esteem by the Roosevelt administration before Stalin and Hitler made their deal in August, 1939, and the bolshevists subsequently invaded Finland, after taking over what Hitler had left of Poland. Russia, to the Roosevelt administration, was one of the great "peace loving democracies," and many high New Dealers were members of the communist dominated American League for Peace and Democracy.

A new understanding with Stalin's government respecting far eastern affairs undoubtedly would bring the American communists and their fellow travelers back into the New Deal fold.

Altho Secretary of War Stimson is the foremost advocate of cracking down on Japan in the Roosevelt administration—as he was as secretary of state in the Hoover administration—his belligerent views are shared fully by Secretary of State Hull, according to Hull's most intimate friends in congress.

Policy to Be Pursued.

Hull made it clear that the Berlin-Rome-Tokio alliance would produce no change in American policy when he asserted that previous steps to halt Japanese expansion were taken in anticipation of such an alliance.

The prospectus on strategy in the Pacific, distributed to Washington correspondents by Admiral Yarnell, was prepared in advance of the triple alliance, but predicted such an agreement and used it as an argument for immediate action to stop Japan.

Altho stating that the United States is confronted by a two ocean peril and that the American fleet will be needed in the Atlantic if Hitler is victorious in Europe, the far eastern interventionists insist this is all the more reason to go after Japan before the war in Europe is decided.

Four Point Program Offered.

The program advocated by the committee follow:

"1. Increased aid to China. China, no less truly than England, is a first line of defense for the United States." [Since the document was written, the administration has made another $25,000,000 loan to China, bringing the total to $70,000,000.]

"2. Better relations with Russia. . . . In Japan the full implications of such a move would not be lost. It would be recognized that the United States and Russia could, if they wished to do so, provide the Chinese with necessary means for counterattacking effectively Japan's extended forces in China." [Such negotiations are in progress.]

"3. Closer accord with Australia and the Pacific islands. . . . These moves might well be accompanied by the stationing of a larger defense force in the Philippines, for whose protection the United States is under obligation at least until 1946, together with negotiations for use, if needed, of the Singapore base and bases in Australia and possibly the Dutch East Indies as well." [Negotiations for the use of these bases by the American fleet are in progress.]

"4. Cutting off aid to Japan. . . . Liscenses for the export of arms, ammunition and implements of war and of airplanes, certain machine tools, and certain minor commodities to Japan are being refused. Exports of aviation gasoline are prohibited. . . . But there is a long list of vitally important war supplies which Japan continues to purchase in large quantities from the United States, including iron and steel scrap, finished steel, copper, lead, several alloys, gasoline other than high octane aviation gasoline, most grades of crude and lubricating oil, and motor vehicles and parts used for tanks and military trucks." [Since this was written the President has embargoed exports of iron and steel scrap to Japan.]

The document also advocates restrictions on the sale of Japanese goods in the United States, explaining that the President has authority under the tariff act to place additional duties upon or to prohibit any or all imports.

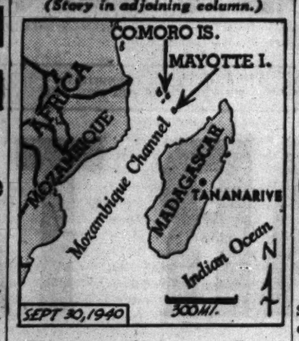
Frankly admitting the risks involved in such a policy, the prospectus concludes:

"In face of such a policy, the cards would be stacked too heavily against Japan to make it possible for her to engage in any serious threats against us. Imagining the worst, and assuming that retaliatory action by Japan so inflamed American public opinion that war became inevitable, then it is far better that the issue be brought to a head quickly and disposed of before Germany is in a position to move across the Atlantic.

"In the event of war the United States could take control of Singapore, force a reopening of the Burma road [the administration has been urging Great Britain to reopen the Burma road to China], and pour a volume of supplies into China which would insure Japanese reversals there, at the same time blockading all Japanese trade with North and South America and even with the Dutch East Indies and Australia. Such a war would be swift and decisive."

Report Ultimatum

(Story in adjoining column.)



Map locates Madagascar, French island off Africa's east coast, whose governor reports that the British have ordered him to align the colony with the Free French movement.

AMERICAN FIRM SEIZED BY JAPS, THEN ABANDONED

Offer Regrets for Incident in Indo-China.

HAIPHONG, French Indo-China, Sept. 29 (AP).—Japanese soldiers today occupied the United States Far Eastern Trading company's warehouse here but a few hours later abandoned it, replacing the American flag they had removed and tendering regrets to United States Consul Charles Reed.

The consul had placed the incident before French colonial authorities. Haiphong is being garrisoned by Japanese as part of the Vichy-Tokio agreement granting "limited" military facilities—these to be used for an attack on China.

Maj. Gen. Issaku Nishihara, head of a Japanese delegation which negotiated details of the military facilities, and another ranking general headed a new mission, 50 strong, which arrived at Hanoi, Indo-China's capital, today.

The chiefs of mission arranged to meet Indo-China's governor general, Admiral Jean Decoux, tomorrow for conversations to clarify and implement the agreement.

Madagascar Reports Ultimatum.

VICHY, France, Sept. 29 (AP).—The governor general of French Madagascar, off the east coast of Africa, informed the Marshal Philippe Petain government today that he had been ordered by the British to align the colony with Gen. Charles De Gaulle's "free French" movement or the British would cut the island off by blockade.

The report from the governor general, Leon Cayla, was disclosed by the colonial ministry.

[Madagascar lies in the Indian ocean and is separated from the southeast coast of Africa by the Mozambique channel. It has a coast line of over 3,000 miles and a population of roughly 4,000,000, including the people of Mayotte and Comoro Islands. Madagascar and its island dependencies were declared a French colony on Aug. 6, 1896.]

British Demands Refused.

Cayla assured the Vichy government, the communique stated, that he had refused the British demands.

This is the second attempt of the British to take over the island colony, officials said. The government announced late in July that British troops had attempted to land at Madagascar but were refused permission.

Since that time, colonial ministry officials said, British warships have been patrolling the entrances to Madagascar ports and preventing traffic movement.

SPANISH PRESS, AS AXIS' VOICE, LASHES U.S. ANEW

Says Washington Has Missed Pact's Point.

MADRID, Spain, Sept. 29 (AP).—The Spanish press, taking for granted that Spain has become a part of the expanding Rome-Berlin axis, renewed its attacks today on the United States.

Ramon Garriga, correspondent for the Spanish official news agency, reported that the visit to Berlin of Ramon Serrano Suner, Spanish minister of the interior, "definitely incorporates Spain into this new diplomatic system with which Hitler and Mussolini have gained so many resounding victories."

U. S. "Misses" Pact's Point.

The newspaper ABC declared that Washington apparently had "missed the significance" of the Rome-Berlin-Tokio alliance signed last Friday, judging from the Cleveland speech of the United States under secretary of state, Sumner Welles.

[Welles suggested Saturday night that far eastern problems still could be settled by conference, but said the United States was preparing "for all eventualities" and hinted at an impending extension of Pan-American defense policies.]

Aid to Britain May Mean War.

ABC warned that the axis might consider American aid to England and the pact with Canada as a cause for war.

The newspaper Arriba again assailed the United States for its Pan-American policy and told Spain's former colonies that nobody in Europe is thinking of attacking them.

BRITISH REPORT 4 DEMANDS BY ITALY IN SYRIA

New York, Sept. 29 (AP).—The British Broadcasting corporation, in a broadcast heard here by NBC, reported that Italian delegates meeting with the French had made the following four demands:

The use of Tripoli, Syria, as an Italian naval base.

The grounding at Rhodes, Aegean sea island, of all French planes now in Syria, for the duration of the war.

The handing over of two air bases in Syria, including Aleppo.

The demobilization of all French armed forces, excepting the police.

BRITISH PLANES BOMB DJIBOUTI, ITALIANS CLAIM

First Attack on Former French Port.

ROME, Sept. 29 (AP).—Italian sources reported the British had bombed Djibouti, former French port in Somaliland for the first time, during a series of farflung aerial operations by both British and Italians in Africa.

Ten persons were killed and wounded at Djibouti by low flying British airmen who attacked the terminal of the Ethiopian railroad to Addis Ababa, the official Italian news agency, Stefani, reported.

The British bombed Bardia and Derna, Italian shore bases in Libya, Salum on the Egyptian coast, Giarabuk, an oasis post in the Egyptian-Libyan border 150 miles inland, and Assab, Dessia, Combolcia, and Uesca Ueca, north of Lake Rudolf in East Africa. The high command described the results of these raids as negligible, with only one truck damaged in the Giarabuk attack. [The British said many explosions took place among a concentration of motorized vehicles in that attack.]

Claim British Routed.

The high command said British patrols were put to flight in land actions along the Kenya border at Todignac near Lake Rudolf on the west, and east of Wajir on the east. The British left six dead and many wounded in the western action, the Italians said.

The Italians also reported bombing and machine gunning the radio station, truck columns and antiaircraft guns at Wadi Jusuf, northwest of Gallabat in the Sudan.

Attack Italian Fort.

CAIRO, Egypt, Sept. 29 (AP).—A night attack on an Italian truck convoy, 15 miles west of Bardia, Libya, and the bombing of Italian positions at Fort Maddalena were reported today in a royal air force communique.

A salvo of bombs fell a few yards from the leading trucks in the desert attack near Bardia, the communique said. Mechanical transport concentrations southwest of Sidi Barrani, Egypt, were also bombed last night.

A general headquarters communique said that on Friday enemy aircraft bombed Bura, but caused no casualties. A patrol engagement near Wal Garis resulted in 12 of the enemy being killed, it said.

Down Italian Plane.

VALLETTA, Malta, Sept. 28 [Saturday—Delayed] (AP).—Ground defense batteries and fighter planes on the British Mediterranean island of Malta engaged Italian fighter and bomber planes late Friday, and one bomber was reported shot down. Bombers were reported to have caused some damage to government property, but there were no casualties.

AXIS-JAPAN PACT NO NEW THREAT, CHINA BELIEVES

CHUNGKING, Sept. 29 (AP).—China feels no anxiety over Japan's addition to the Rome-Berlin axis, informed political sources declared today, because Germany and Italy already have shown their inability to aid Japan's Asiatic conquest. The only reflection of official opinion was an editorial in the Central Daily News which called the tripower pact "a hollow pretense with Germany and Italy seeking Japanese assistance in Europe and Japan seeking axis support in Asia.

Neither is possible, it argued, because of geographic distances and the military weakness of the signatories. High Chinese quarters hold the view that the new pact is a military complement to the unsuccessful anticomintern pact and is a threat both to the United States and the soviet union.

As for Japan, these sources regard her decision as a more serious step even than the invasion of China three years ago. Japan could call off her Chinese campaign any time merely by withdrawing her troops, they contended, but now she is unalterably committed in the European war with no chance of escaping joint British-American or soviet retaliation in due time.

PLANES CAN RULE PACIFIC OCEAN: COL. M'CORMICK

Dominant Force in Hawaii Held Decisive Factor.

An air force based on Hawaii could rule the Pacific, Col. Robert R. McCormick, editor and publisher of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, said last night in an address over W-G-N and the Mutual network during the Symphonic hour.

Col. McCormick also said that no naval force could approach the Atlantic coast after establishment of our air bases in Newfoundland, Bermuda, and the West Indies.

He said that with every opportunity to be dominant in the air, the United States is in little danger of invasion. And, he added, altho history shows that the only real safety of a nation lies in its land forces, "our armies have defeated the armies of the most warlike powers in the world in the past and we are potentially stronger than almost any combination of opponents."

"So let us be of good cheer," he said. "If we can avoid bankruptcy and bolshevism we will see again the age of 'manifest destiny'."

Text of Address

The following is the text of Col. McCormick's address:

"Now that the draft act has been passed and all these billions have been appropriated, let's sit down quietly and consider the problem of national defense.

"Obviously the navy is our first line of resistance. It is now at Waikiki beach looking at the hula dancers, and that is probably the best and safest place for it. There will be no provocative incidents while it is there.

"For an insular nation that cannot be reached by aircraft, and North America is just that, the navy is the first line of defense or of offense because troops or airplanes can reach or leave the continent only by water.

Western Coast Strong.

"The navy is safe at Hawaii and if wanted can be brought thru the Panama canal to the Atlantic ocean in plenty of time to stop any invader from the east. It is not needed in the Pacific because Hawaii protects the western coast which, as I have pointed out before, is immensely strong, and because the Japanese navy does not carry enough fuel to cross the ocean.

"The navy is now being greatly enlarged, and that is all right, because we have been asleep in the development of airplanes, the weapons an American invented, and until we wake up and find out what air power is all about we should take advantage of our remaining wealth and, all the other nations being bankrupt, keep ourselves supreme on the surface of the sea.

"However, navies are in decline and may be facing eclipse.

"The talk of battleships being the mainstay of power at sea—like the aphorism that infantry is queen of the battlefield—is merely w i s h f u l thinking of old men living in the past.

Rôle of Ships Changed.

"Our old steam boaters who are resisting aviation are like the old salts who resisted the arrival of steam, and perhaps for the same subconscious reason; steam was the first step in the decline of sea power. Aviation is the last.

"Before steam, ships could sail around the world without stopping. They could keep the sea as raiders or blockaders for years at a time.

"When steam came, bases became essential, just as essential to sea power as ships. The British statesmen of that day were far-sighted and girdled the globe with British coaling stations. Thanks to them the British navy is able to blockade Europe without hazarding itself under the thunder clouds of air war.

"It is because of the danger and value of naval bases that I have been clamoring to acquire the foreign owned islands off our coast for the last 20 years.

Effect of Bombers Shown.

"This war has proved that fleets cannot remain where bombers may reach them. The British fleet remains in Alexandria because bombers cannot fly the thousand miles from Italy and back, but it cannot closely blockade the Italian coast nor enter the Adriatic sea.

"French bombers have driven the British fleet from Gibraltar within the last few days.

"Bombers drove the British navy from Skagerrak, from the coast of Norway, and the North sea. It even appears that the defense of the south coast of England is now left to coast defense artillery and aviation.

"However, the excited people who fear that her navy cannot even use the ports of western Great Britain and northern Ireland, and suggest that it conduct the blockade of Europe from New York, seem to be beyond the evidence.

"However, it is obvious from all this that no navy and no convoy of transports could approach the coast of North America in the face of adequate aviation.

"No navy could exist within our forthcoming Atlantic air bases in Newfoundland, Bermuda, and the West Indies.

"No fleet could operate inside of the Aleutian Islands and Hawaii, and when means have been found to use the Galapagos Islands, no hostile fleet will be able to operate between them and Panama.

Eastward Extension Likely.

"On the other hand, I can see how air power may extend indefinitely eastward.

"Please listen to this very carefully:

"It is 2,000 miles from California to Hawaii—too far for hostile air attack—but east and south of Hawaii the Pacific ocean is studded with islands. Any of these not adequately garrisoned, and obviously not many of them can be garrisoned, may be occupied by air infantry and parachute troops, and turned into air bases—so that a dominant air force based on Hawaii will do what no fleet can do—it will DOMINATE the Pacific!

"The brilliant Mr. Goering has shown us that we possess a potential air power that none of US knew existed.

Surface Sea Power Dying.

"Surface sea power is dying, and it is a very good thing for us that it is. We have not been a seafaring people since steam exalted the common labor of shoveling coal above the skill of New England top men in the days of the Clippers and the Constitution.

"Except for the M o n i t o r and river steamboats, long since obsolete, Americans have contributed little to ship design.

"Except in the type of oil tankers, our naval architects are uninspired and unenterprising.

"Our ship builders are the worst in the world.

"Our merchant seamen are organized in a communist union ready to sabotage our nation upon orders from Moscow.

"We have not now, and never can have, a sufficient naval reserve.

Naval Supremacy Would Pass.

"Whatever naval supremacy we may attain during the exhausting struggle in Europe will pass to some naturally maritime power after peace returns.

"On the other hand we invented the airplane and we perfected the airplane.

"Our airplane designers are the best and our builders are the best.

"In contrast with our mutinous, communist merchant sailors, the flower of our land is taking to the air.

"Just as we lost the ocean carrying trade of the world in the civil war, we have gained the air carrying trade of the world during this war.

"Moreover, private aviation sets the pace for military aviation, as the merchant marine has not done for the navy since the passing of the Clipper ships.

Every Reason to Be Dominant.

"With every opportunity and every reason to be dominant in the air, we can see that we are in little danger of invasion. But the history of Athens, of Carthage, and of Holland shows that the only real safety of a nation lies in the character, training, and armament of the land forces. If for any reason the naval or air shell cracks, there must be a hard substance underneath.

"Very well, then; our armies have defeated the armies of the most warlike powers in the world in the past and we are potentially stronger than almost any combination of opponents.

"In America automobiles were common vehicles of passenger transportation before the last war.

"Since then trucks have become a major factor in civilian transportation. Tractors are supplanting horses on the farm, where forage is almost free. Caterpillar tractors are doing the heavy work in the forests.

American Trained on Machines.

"Every American boy is half trained to drive any kind of a military machine. Today American boys are the real pioneers of radio.

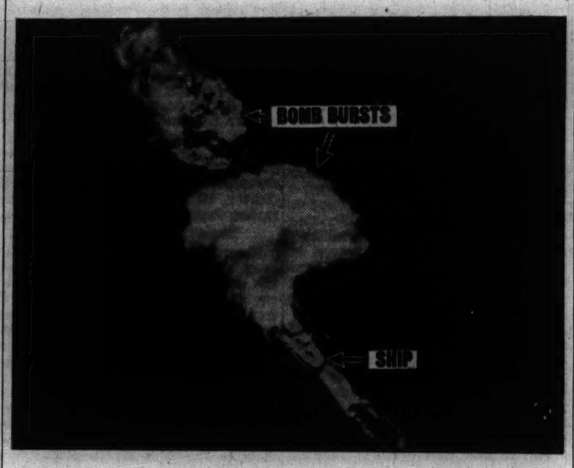
"Our mechanics are numbered in the hundreds upon hundreds of thousands.

"Our automobile factories normally produce three to four times as many machines as all other countries combined.

"Let industry arm the country, and we will soon have an output of arms and tanks far larger than anything that can be brought against us.

"So let us be of good cheer. If we can avoid bankruptcy and bolshevism, we will see again the age of 'manifest destiny.'"

Bomb Attack on German Ship



[Associated Press Wirephoto.]

According to British sources, the picture shows results of attack by a British Skua dive bomber on a German supply ship off the Norwegian coast. British said the ship was seen to list heavily and was abandoned.

SYMPHONIC PROGRAM

The musical portion of the program was presented by the W-G-N Symphony orchestra, conducted by Henry Weber, with Marion Claire as soprano soloist and Igor Gorin, baritone, as guest soloist.

The orchestra selections included Wagner's "Tannhauser March"; the Johann Strauss "Blue Danube," and Symphony No. 1 in E Major by Adolph Hoffman, W-G-N staff composer.

Miss Claire sang Franz Schubert's "The Organ Grinder"; the Bach-Gounod "Ave Maria," and the finale of Massenet's "Thais."

Gorin Sings Pledge.

Gorin, who recently became an American citizen, sang "Largo Al Factotum" from the Barber of Seville, and the Pledge of Allegiance to the Flag, recently set to music by Albert Hay Mallotte.

The production was directed by William A. Bacher, with Lou Jacobsen as assistant director and Robert Trendler as chorus master. Program notes by Cecil Smith were read by Bret Morrison.

John Weigel, the announcer, in introducing Col. McCormick, paid tribute to the late Gen. William [Billy] Mitchell, who for years advocated expansion of the nation's air forces.

BRITISH MEDICAL UNITS MODELS OF WAR EFFICIENCY

Writer Finds a Perfectly Organized System.

BY CAPT. M. M. CORPENING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Sept. 29.—Visiting hospitals never is pleasant, but a trip to the mercy houses in the peaceful English countryside certainly is less distasteful than tours of the routine cut and dried institutions. There are three things which immediately impress the visitor. These are the courage and spirit of the patients, the equipment and efficiency of the hospitals, and the quiet and serene atmosphere.

While this country was not prepared for war in essential military weapons necessary to launch an offensive, it certainly was prepared to fight to the finish on the home grounds. The very necessary medical section organization is a good example.

Perfectly Organized.

The entire island is subdivided into areas with attendant organizations. No matter where casualties occur the magnificent air raid precautions outfit is so trained and so organized that it knows instantly where to take the victims.

If the casualty is a minor case the nearest first aid station is known to every ARP worker. These first aid stations dot the entire island. Those with full staffs of doctors, nurses, and attendants are located to cover their area effectively. These are supported by stations of lesser importance with nurses in charge. These, in turn, are supported by simple stations where bandages and adhesive tape are available.

Handle Cases Quickly.

The casualty is handled quickly and efficiently, according to the seriousness of the case. Rehearsals in the various districts have been held for months.

Every detail also has been planned for the removal of patients from bombed hospitals to other institutions. The organization is so complete that if two or more hospitals close together were made useless at the same time it would cause no upset in the arrangements.

URGES U. S. TO SET UP 'LISTENING POSTS' ON ITS ISLANDS IN PACIFIC

HONOLULU, Hawaii, Sept. 29 (AP).—Guam and America's other strategic Pacific islands should be equipped as "listening posts" in America's defense of the Pacific, Chairman Colgate W. Darden Jr. [D., Va.] of the house naval affairs subcommittee said today.

Darden's group is making a 15,000 mile tour "to see that the entire naval program is rushed along as fast as possible." He said the committee is interested chiefly in progress made in dredging seaplane bases at Midway, Palmyra, and Johnston islands. Darden said that while he felt Guam was not a logical place for strong defenses, it "represents the logical outpost of our western defenses. Hawaii ought to be the bulwark"

"Eighty million dollars wouldn't begin to fortify Guam," he added, "and the whole question of how much the island should be fortified involves considerable national policy."

PUT DOMINIONS MEN IN CABINET, ENGLAND URGED

Voice in Affairs Demanded by Australians.

SYDNEY, Australia, Sept. 29 (AP).—A growing demand is being made here for formation of an empire war cabinet, in which the British dominions would be represented directly.

Premier R. G. Menzies.

This demand has resulted from the new Italian-German-Japanese pact and the abortive attempt by British naval forces and Gen. Charles de Gaulle's "free French" troops to capture Dakar, capital of French West Africa.

Altho the government of Premier Robert G. Menzies, who has been consistent in support of British war policy, has remained silent on the question, A. G. Cameron, leader of the Country party, publicly suggested formation of an empire war cabinet, asserting, "We were driven to that in the last war and it looks as if we'll be driven to it in this war."

Several Labor spokesmen also urged an empire cabinet.

Seek to Protect Soldiers.

William McKell, a Labor leader in parliament from New South Wales, declared:

"It is our duty to see that Australian soldiers are not used in half-hearted ventures or to face enemies strengthened by blunders and muddled or vague policies. Australia must have a say in the conduct of the war which it cannot do by cable or telephone. Silence on certain aspects of the war is no longer in the national interest."

CABINET SHAKEUP SEEN

BY LARRY RUE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Sept 29.—Altho the nation has been withstanding the fiercest attacks which the enemy has launched against England, particularly London, since the blitzkrieg started, widespread public dissatisfaction over the lack of adequate air raid shelters and the Dakar fiasco are expected to precipitate another cabinet shakeup.

Such a shakeup has been anticipated for some time, but hinged on the condition of Neville Chamberlain following two operations. THE TRIBUNE learns that it is now doubtful whether the former prime minister can resume his ardous tasks as lord president of the council.

Small War Cabinet Urged.

For some time there has been considerable agitation in the press for formation of a small war cabinet, probably composed of no more than three members.

Minister of Aircraft Production Lord Beaverbrook, besides Prime Minister Winston Churchill, has been recommended for the war cabinet. But now Churchill himself has been confronted with a demand that he fix the responsibility for what the Sunday Pictorial described as "De Gaulle's [Gen. Charles De Gaulle, leader of the "free French" forces] charade at Dakar," which, it says, "bears the stamp of incompetence of which, seemingly, the Chamberlain government enjoyed no monopoly."

Papers Demand Ousters.

Six other newspapers are urging "out with the men responsible" not only those who had the British government lend its name and support to this colonial adventure, but those who allowed the French warships which defended Dakar to pass unmolested a few days before thru the Straits of Gibraltar.

How much of the latter can be blamed on Lord Halifax is hard to say. But the foreign minister still is criticized for the agreement with Japan, closing the Burma road into China. Halifax, possibly with Minister of Home Security Sir John Anderson, who is blamed for the shelter troubles, are expected to be among those under fire when parliament meets.

PALESTINE HAILS TROOPS HOME FROM FRANCE

JERUSALEM, Sept. 28 [Delayed].—The high commissioner, Sir Harold Alfred MacMichael, and Maj. Gen. Philip Neame, commander of British forces in Palestine, today welcomed the first Palestinian company of the auxiliary military pioneer corps on its return from seven months in France, England, and Egypt. The Arab and Jewish soldiers paraded shortly after arriving by train. They were the last British unit evacuated from St. Malo, France, in June, when the Germans were only two miles away.

ENGLAND TAKES STEPS TO GUARD PUBLIC MORALE

Plans to Improve Raid Shelters at Once.

BY LARRY RUE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Sept. 29.—The total war has made every civilian in London a "frontline soldier." What is happening to him in the aerial blitzkrieg has just about become a military secret. One can guess, however, at his discomfort, and why it is now officially contended that the night bombing of London is aimed mainly at the morale of the public.

Lord Beaverbrook's Daily Express today advised the population, since the raid experiences are so common to all, "Quit talking about how close that whistling bomb came to you last night," or "how hard it was for you to get to the office." This is old stuff and a boring subject, the paper said. "The fact is that not one in 1,000 London citizens has yet seen an air raid casualty."

Promise Improvements Quickly.

The annoyance to thousands of persons, among them many women carrying babies, who line up before the air raid shelters every afternoon—hours before the night raid warning sounds—to spend the night on makeshift beds in close, damp, unventilated quarters, can be surmised. The lack of sanitary appliances is an admitted threat to public health.

The effect of all this on tempers and nerves is incalculable. As a result the government has been forced by the public clamor to begin a big building scheme to provide decent, livable, deep and safe shelters as an aid to keeping up the morale. Sir John Anderson, minister of home security, announced tonight that materials to build 1,000,000 sleeping bunks in communal shelters is now obtainable from the timber of houses demolished by bombs. He promised deliver. of the timber would be well under way by the end of the week.

Move 11,000 to Country.

Eleven thou and mothers and children were moved from London to the comparative safety in the country this week-end. This raised the number moved since the start of the aerial bombings to between 75,000 and 100,000. Most of the women and children were from the poorer districts of the east end, where blocks of houses have been wrecked, leaving thousands homeless. Arrangements are being made for many more thousands, who are expected to leave daily in the next few weeks.

A survey made by the New Statesman and Nation, a weekly, on how Londoners' sleep has been affected by the nightly raids, indicates that the public is making a slow but steady readjustment to the circumstances.

In six London areas on Sept. 12, 31 per cent of the persons questioned said they got no sleep at all. Three days later 28 per cent did not sleep, but on Sept. 19 the figure had dropped to 24 per cent. On Sept. 22 only 9 per cent had failed to adjust their lives to the raids.

The weekly demanded that a special branch of the government, if not a new ministry, be appointed at once to deal with the problem of bad conditions in shelters which it said was likely to become more serious in winter.

Altho there is a steady drift toward the safer communal shelters, the weekly gave this description, which it said was typical of families which have adjusted themselves in their own homes to the new conditions:

The father and mother sleep in a recess under the stairs; their daughters, 20 and 25 years old, in the cupboard under the stairs. All sleep on mattresses, take a sedative to induce sleep and use ear plugs to shut out raid noises. The mother was quoted as saying:

"I go to sleep in the afternoon. My husband and daughters go to sleep the moment they have finished the evening meal. The girls also try to sleep during their lunch hour and in shelters during the day. We just sleep when we possibly can."

MOSLEM LEAGUE REJECTS BRITISH COUNCIL SEATS

BOMBAY, India, Sept. 29 (AP).—The council of the All-India Moslem league unanimously adopted today a resolution declaring the league cannot accept the viceroy's invitation to send representatives to the expanded executive council and the proposed new war advisory council.

The decision followed an interview which the league's president, Mahomed Ali Jinnah, had last week with the viceroy, Lord Linlithgow, who offered Jinnah two Moslem league seats on the council. The league considers the number too small.

BOMBERS START SERIOUS FIRE IN RAID ON LONDON

Liverpool Ship District Also Damaged.

LONDON, Sept. 30, Monday (AP).—A serious fire in the city of London, persons killed and injured in residential districts of the capital, and several large fires in Merseyside—the shipping and ship-building districts of Liverpool—marked German air raids on Britain during the night, the government announced today.

The fire in the city of London—financial center of the capital—was serious, but is under control, said a communique.

German raiders were active over many parts of the country, the communique said, but London, the home counties—those nearest London—and Merseyside bore the brunt of the attack.

Attack Coast Ports.

British raids meanwhile were directed last night against ports on the German held French and Belgian coasts and gun emplacements near Cap Gris Nez, the air ministry said.

"Targets in Germany included railroad yards, oil plants, and aluminum works," the ministry added.

"In London bombs were dropped in many districts and a number of fires were started," said a communique. "One of them in the city was of a serious character, but now is under control.

"The others were less serious than on previous nights. Houses were destroyed and damage was done in many residential districts and a number of people were killed and others injured.

Large Fires Started.

"On Mersyside several large fires were started and some damage was done to commercial premises. Reports so far received indicate that casualties in this area have not been heavy.

"In the home counties, attacks were heaviest to the south and west of London. The damage, though widespread, was not heavy nor were the casualties numerous.

"One of the enemy bombers attacking London was shot down last night by antiaircraft fire.

"Two more enemy aircraft, one a bomber and the other a fighter, were shot down by our fighters yesterday evening. The enemy's losses during yesterday were therefore nine bombers and one fighter.

"Four of our fighters were lost but the pilots of two of them are safe."

WAR VETS CALL FOR EMBARGOES ON AXIS POWERS

Complete embargoes on all food shipments and military supplies to the Rome-Berlin-Tokio axis powers was urged yesterday in a resolution passed by the Veterans of Foreign Wars, in convention here.

The resolution, addressed to the President of the United States, also urged that this country intensify its national defense program and send to England all military equipment that can be spared by the army and navy.

The veterans also proposed that the nation act immediately to obtain naval bases in the Atlantic and Pacific oceans to protect itself against attack or invasion. The veterans are in session at the Hotel Sherman.

At Fort Sheridan Show

Thirty thousand spectators witnessed the final week-end military shows at Fort Sheridan yesterday and last night, with north shore police reporting an unprecedented traffic jam on Route 42, leading to the fort. The military show, directed by Maj. Gen. Lloyd R. Fredendall, drew a total of 55,000 spectators to the six demonstrations Friday, Saturday and yesterday. Thousands more were turned away yesterday after 7,000 cars were admitted to the grounds.

The night performances were made especially thrilling by the use of tracer bullets and great searchlights, altho the afternoon crowd witnessed what Capt. A. E. Schanze, assistant director of the show, said was the military equivalent of a golfer's hole-in-one:

The final shot fired by a battery of the 61st Coast Artillery, using 3 inch antiaircraft guns, severed the quarter inch cable by which a plane was towing a sleeve target two miles out on the lake and 7,000 feet high.

RUMANIA FORBIDS JEWS TO WRITE FOR FOREIGNERS

[Copyright: 1940: By the New York Times.]

BUCHAREST, Rumania, Sept. 29.—The Rumanian government today ordered all Rumanian Jews employed by foreign newspapers and agencies to cease working for the organizations immediately. Thus Eugen Kovacs, who has been Rumanian correspondent for the New York Times for 14 years, was forced to end his duties.

Kovacs, 46 years old, was an officer in the Austrian army in the world war. He is intimately acquainted with the heads of the political press bureau.

The American legation was informed of the decree but said it had no power to interfere in local affairs.

Other correspondents for American organizations rendered jobless by the decree are Alex Coler, Associated Press representative here for 20 years, and Liviu Artemie, correspondent for International News service.

BERLIN ESCAPES BOMBS BUT LOSES SLEEP THRU RAID

Believes British Repelled at Edge of City.

BERLIN, Sept. 30, Monday (AP).—An hour and 50 minute air raid alarm early today broke the sleep of Berliners, but no planes were heard over the city. Defense batteries were silent, and since no bombs fell here, Berliners assumed that the British planes were turned back at the outskirts.

The high command communique yesterday minimized British night attacks on Germany, saying that British bombers headed for Berlin Saturday night were turned away by antiaircraft fire.

Bombs were dropped in west and southwest Germany without causing "noteworthy damage," the communique said.

Swarm Across Channel.

Nazi daylight raiders, braving the defenses of "Hell's Corner" [the Dover area], swarmed across the English channel yesterday, informed sources said, and showered bombs on Folkstone, Ramsgate and Clacton-on-Sea after a night of steady attacks on London, Liverpool and south England harbors.

German dive bombers attacked the Rolls Royce motor works in Derby, England, from a height of approximately 170 feet in raids yesterday, DNB, reported today. The crew reported seeing the collapse of the assembly plants with crashing walls, DNB reported.

Ten British planes were shot down Sunday and Germany lost none, according to late reports received from aerial battlefields over Britain, DNB, official German news agency, said.

The harbors of east and south England and London were chief objectives of German raiders, but one squadron went as far as the Midlands for daylight attacks on armament works, said DNB.

Serious Damage Done to Docks.

The high command, reporting on the Saturday assaults, asserted that "serious damage was inflicted on London's Silverton docks in Gravesend, the Tilbury docks, as well as the Thames bend and East India docks."

Returning airmen declared great fires were still raging at Tilbury docks yesterday. The high command said 5,000 tons of bombs had been dropped on England, and of this number 4,000 tons had been rained on London.

The high command claimed Britain lost 28 planes to the Nazis' one Saturday, and also declared that German airmen sank two merchant vessels of some 6,000 tons in a convoy off the east Scottish coast.

LARGE MUNITIONS PLANT RAIDED BY BRITISH BOMBERS

Fly Thru Bad Weather to Attack Berlin.

LONDON, Sept. 29 (AP).—A rampaging royal air force, replying vigorously to Adolf Hitler's air blows, flew 600 miles thru thick weather to bomb Berlin power stations, "invasion ports" on the French coast, and left a large munitions works at Hanau, near Frankfort in an "inferno" of flames, official sources reported today.

Some of Germany's most vital railway centers and airdromes were attacked, an air ministry communique said, and severe damage was inflicted on the Wilhelmshaven naval base. Antiaircraft batteries in Berlin also felt the "made in Britain" air force, it was declared.

Shipyards Singled Out.

Lorient, and its warship building berths on the south Brittany coast of France, was singled out for the second time for special attack.

Le Havre, Fecamp, Boulogne, Calais, and Dunkirk also were heavily bombed, as were "Big Bertha" emplacements at Cape Gris Nez.

British bombers roared across a squally English channel again Sunday night to storm German bases along the continental coast. Watches on the British side saw great flashes from explosions and the most concentrated attack appeared to be in the Boulogne area.

The west power station in Berlin and the main transformer and switching station at Friedrichsfelde were bombed with high explosives and incendiary missiles which burst close to their targets, the air ministry news service said in an amplification of the Saturday night raids.

Bombed for Four Hours.

The munitions factory at Hanau, which produces metal alloys for airplanes, torpedo and submarine parts, and bronze bearings for variable pitch propellers was bombed for nearly four hours in a series of high level and shallow dive attacks, the news bulletin related.

Great explosions and fires from direct hits on the factory buildings by the vanguard of the raiders led their squadron mates to the targets who repeatedly straddled the works with "sticks" [series] of high explosives.

ESTRANGED HUSBAND ENDS LIFE.

Richard James, 38 years old, of 4360 Lake Park avenue, an unemployed milk wagon driver, shot and killed himself yesterday in the room of his wife, Caroline, at 1150 West 43d street. They had been estranged several months.

NAVY'S BUILDING PLANS RUN INTO A STRIKE THREAT

C. I. O. Union Authorizes Committee to Act.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Camden, N. J., Sept. 29.—Eight thousand C. I. O. employés of the New York Shipbuilding corporation, which holds government contracts totaling millions of dollars, today gave a negotiating committee "full power to act" unless the corporation grants a wage raise and other concessions in a new contract.

The action was interpreted as threatening a strike that might slow up the navy's building program. However, spokesmen for the Industrial Union of Marine and Shipbuilding Workers of America, a C. I. O. affiliate, said that "full power to act" does not mean that the committee can call a strike.

It means, they said, that the workers are ready to vote for a strike unless at least some of their demands are met.

Union Demands Stated.

The committee was instructed to inform shipyard officials that the union insists on complete reclassification of all workers, that it demands a 10 per cent wage raise, the closed shop, vacations with pay, and full job security for workers who are drafted into the army.

[Reclassification, in labor circles, means to elevate a certain unskilled or semiskilled class of workmen into a higher bracket, where they would draw a higher rate of pay under a general contract, but would retain the same job and perform the same task.]

The present contract expires next Friday. Negotiations for a new one have been proceeding for several weeks. Another meeting, the 11th, will be held tomorrow.

The corporation last week made a compromise offer, saying it would consider a general wage increase if the union dropped its demand for reclassification. The union committee at tomorrow's meeting will carry the word that this offer has been rejected.

U. S. Watches Ford Row.

New York, Sept. 29 [Special].—More than 500 members of local No. 425, United Electrical, Radio and Machine Workers union, a C. I. O. affiliate, today voted a two day extension of their present contract with the Ford Instrument company of Long Island City.

Last week the union threatened a strike against the company if its demands were not met. A meeting between union and company representatives is scheduled for tomorrow.

Federal officials are understood to be paying close attention to the dispute, since the Ford company manufactures bomb sights for the United States navy. It is considered that a strike would hinder the country's defense preparations.

Call Demands "Justified."

Officials of the union today asserted that "the members of the union feel they are not in any way interfering with the defense program of the nation." Jack Ruby, president of the local, said the union considers its demands justified "in view of the conditions in the trade and also of the $4,000,000 profits made by the Ford company in the last six months."

The union is seeking an increase in wages of 20 cents an hour, 11 holidays with pay instead of the present 8, and three weeks' vacation with pay for employés with the company more than five years.

TWO MEN SEIZED IN BLUDGEONING OF NUDE WOMAN

Philadelphia, Pa., Sept. 29 (AP).—Police Captain William J. Engle announced today that two men had been arrested in connection with the slaying of Mrs. Ethel Craft Atkins, 35 year old mother.

Engle said the men are William J. Earnest, 24, and Richard Brady, 24, both of Philadelphia.

The police captain said Earnest had admitted bludgeoning red haired Mrs. Atkins early last Tuesday morning following a party in a vacant farmhouse.

The body of Mrs. Atkins, who had married a second time after her divorce from John C. Angier of Baltimore, Md., a relative by marriage of the Duke tobacco family, was found last Tuesday night.

Sprawled halfway down a flight of stairs, it was nude except for stockings and a white slipper.

FRANCE SAMPLES ITS NEW SHORT RATIONS TODAY

Food Restrictions Hit Cafes, Too.

BY DAVID DARRAH.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

VICHY, France, Sept. 29.—The French population will go on short rations beginning tomorrow. For the past weeks housewives have had to present ration card coupons in order to purchase seven items of food. Tomorrow all restaurant menus will indicate after all dishes prepared from rationed foods the number of ration tickets required before they can be served as well as the price.

Food Shortage Shocks Paris.

PARIS, Sept. 25 (AP).—[Via Berlin, Delayed].—A true picture of Paris under German occupation in 1940 would have as one of its main panels a view of a food queue and one of a ration card. Frenchmen say that never since the famine of 1870 has it been so difficult to obtain food in Paris.

For, as a people who always have eaten well and who hate to wait in line, Parisians have had some rude gastronomical shocks since the Germans arrived.

When butter and oil disappeared completely French cooks found themselves baffled. They might have been able to get something to cook, but they didn't know how to cook it. Other staples such as cheese, eggs, and coffee disappeared, and rice, spaghetti, milk, chocolate, and salt were scarce and obtained only after long waits in line.

Card System Complicated.

The food card system was conceded by most people to be fair but, like so many French measures, it tends to be complicated. To the point was a newspaper cartoon which showed a child saying to a companion:

"Mama has gone to wait in line to get a card to avoid waiting in line."

Lines form for everything now. Hundreds fall in before coffee bars to get breakfast. Stores selling chocolate bars always have a huge audience on the days they are permitted to open. Crowds of people swinging tin pails or clutching empty bottles mean somewhere ahead is either a dairy or a wine shop. The lines always are three or four persons thick.

Restaurants thus far have managed to get sufficient food and those who eat out have been lucky, but new restrictions go into effect for them next week.

Pastry Seems Plentiful.

On the four days a week it may be sold, French pastry seems plentiful. One famous pastry and chocolate shop with branches in the United States sells ice cream and one can even get ice cream sodas and sundaes. Lobsters, oysters and shell fish arrive almost daily and vintage wines can be bought either at stores or restaurants.

Ordinary "Vin Rouge," however, which French homes buy by the liter [about a quart] for a few francs, has become difficult to get. Potatoes also are hard to get.

Food rules which came in during the war—beef only four days a week, two days without meat, three days without pastry, ice cream or liquor—still are in force. The Vichy government recently prohibited aperitifs of more than 16 per cent alcoholic content. Beer, wine and champagne are available every day.

Another characteristic of the times is "national coffee," which contains some coffee and lots of chicory and coffee substitute. People drink it to have some excuse to go to a café. Rationed and difficult to get is laundry and hand soap, and one American here remarked:

"I haven't had a bath in three weeks and I'm getting to like it that way."

Ho, Hum! What's an Hour? You Still Have to Get Up!

Chicagoans gained an hour of sleep yesterday as daylight saving time ended and clocks were turned back. But if you imagine that made them any happier about getting up this morning you're an old silly.

Putting Men and Dollars to Work

BY HOLGAR J. JOHNSON
President Institute of Life Insurance

"WHEN dollars work, men work"—that is the simplest way I know to describe a cure for unemployment.

JOHNSON

Life insurance policyholders, like everyone else, have a definite interest in increased employment. They also have a special reason for wanting to see capital employed.

For they—the 64 million of them—are among the most important capitalists in the country. In America it is the average man who owns the capital wealth of the nation—the 64 million life insurance policyholders, the depositors who own 45 million savings accounts, and the vast numbers who have small investments or any kind of property that brings in money. The so-called "little fellows," taken together, own so much more capital than the "big fellows" that there isn't any comparison.

When business activity rises, industry not only needs more capital, but it can afford to pay more for the use of capital—such as bank deposits and life insurance reserves. This raises the average interest rate on investments.

Just how important this rate is to our policyholders is indicated by the fact that most of the insurance companies averaged about 5% on their investments in the early "thirties," whereas nowadays they can only earn about 3½%. The difference means an added cost to policyholders for their life insurance protection amounting to about 400 million dollars a year.

WHY I bring this up is to suggest that we recognize the need for fostering conditions that increase business activity in every possible way and support such measures as will increase the flow of capital, owned by millions of Americans, into industry. For nothing will do more to increase employment, lower the cost of protection and put a premium on thrift—and thus improve the general welfare of the country.

This regular Monday column is provided by the Institute of Life Insurance to permit its President to speak to America's policy owners. Address inquiries to 60 East 42nd Street, New York City.

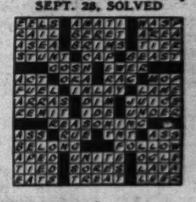
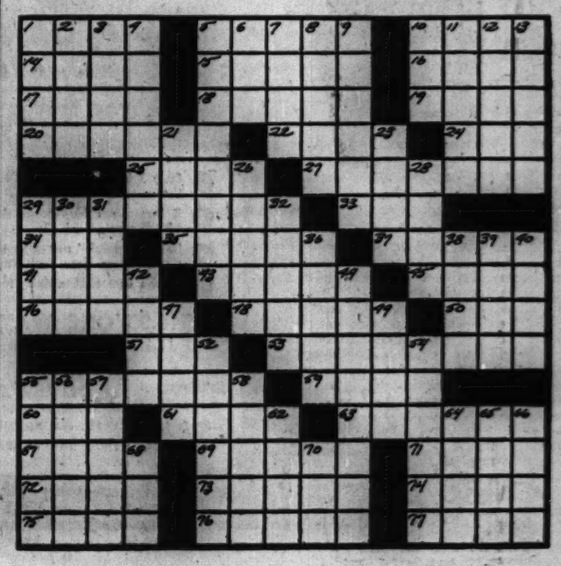
PUZZLE OF SATURDAY, SEPT. 28, SOLVED





THE CAMPAIGN
Both Sides of it

REPUBLICAN.

Step by Step.

(Provided by the National Committee of Democrats-for-Willkie.)

Mr. Roosevelt's third term bid is a bolder grab for power than his attempt to pack the Supreme court. The White House clique, that little group of ambitious men who surround him, flatter him, and write his speeches for him, failed in that grab.

Now they are back to try it another way. But they will be defeated on the third term issue just as emphatically as they were beaten on the court issue.

Over the week-end we have received reports from Democrats-for-Willkie organizations in 29 states. These reports, in each instance based on careful cross-section surveys, among Democrats and independents, indicate that several million men and women who voted for Mr. Roosevelt in 1932 and 1936 will vote for Willkie this year because they fear that to break the no third term tradition will be a step toward dictatorship.

Support Shows Sharp Drop.

Up to a week ago people generally were slow to alarm over the third term issue. Our state advisory chairmen and leaders of local clubs tell us that many of those who voted for Roosevelt four years ago feared the trend to dictatorship inherent in a third term, but they could not see him as a "conscious" dictator.

Sentiment tending to excuse Mr. Roosevelt, however, has shown a sharp drop within the last week, if reports reaching us are accurate. Two reasons are given for this. First, the reaction has finally set in to Former Secretary of Agriculture Wallace's attempt to tie Willkie to Hitler. Second, the nation-wide billboard campaign of the Democrats-for-Willkie, which is spread over 37 states and shows 10,000 huge figures of Uncle Sam turning "thumbs down" on a third term, is beginning to register with the voters.

The reaction to Wallace's attack is rather curious. Democrats have respected Mr. Roosevelt's running mate as a temperate, sincere man. They feel that he did not write his Des Moines speech himself, but was forced to take orders from the little group of ambitious men.

"Hysteria" Becomes a Fact.

In 1936 any one who predicted Mr. Roosevelt would try to pack the Supreme court would have been accused of hysteria. But he tried. When this attempt was defeated any one who predicted he would seek a third term would also have been accused of hysteria. But he is trying. Any one who now predicts that a third term for Mr. Roosevelt will be a long step toward dictatorship is once again stamped as hysterical by the Roosevelt strategists.

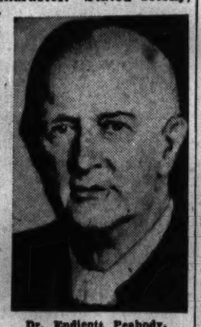
But the record shows that the "hysteria" of one year becomes the fact of the next.

DEMOCRATIC.

They Vote for a Third Term.

(Provided by the Democratic National Committee.)

The third term argument shrinks in the final analysis to a question of motive and character. Stated briefly, can the people trust the President to serve four more years without becoming a dictator?



Dr. Endicott Peabody. [Acme photo.]

There is no disposition here to question the sincerity of the Willkie Democrats who seem to think the third term issue is the only one that matters. Nevertheless, it is fair to point out again that the vast majority of them bolted the Democratic party in 1936 when the issue was unknown.

Why eight years in the White House should transform a good American into a hated foe of democracy is a trifle too subtle for the average voter to understand. As President Roosevelt pointed out in his address at the University of Pennsylvania, no dictator ever yet submitted his cause to a free election.

Faith Answers "Fear."

The best answer to those who "fear" the breaking of tradition is the faith of the people themselves in President Roosevelt and their confidence in his leadership. They have elected him twice by substantial majorities and they will do it again this year. That is the only real test in a democracy.

For those who like the testimony of competent authorities, one of the most convincing arguments was provided by Dr. Endicott Peabody, the venerable churchman who founded the Groton preparatory school and served as its headmaster for half a century. Among his students was Franklin D. Roosevelt and the two have been firm friends thru the years.

Three Good Reasons.

Joseph Leib, who has been conducting third term surveys, wrote Dr. Peabody for his opinion. In his reply, Dr. Peabody cited three reasons for his faith in Franklin Roosevelt. He said:

"1. I am entirely confident that Mr. Roosevelt neither wants to be dictator nor contemplates taking steps toward that position. He is in my judgment a thoroly loyal American with all that implies.

"2. I believe that he accepted the nomination because he believed that if elected he could be of real service to the country.

"3. I have no fear of trouble coming from a third term. The fact that it is unprecedented means nothing. There would be no progress if we required a precedent for every step."

Another prominent educator to indorse the Roosevelt candidacy is Dr. William Allan Neilson, president emeritus of Smith college, who pointed out the vital necessity of continuing the chief executive's foreign policies. "His opponent," said Dr. Neilson, "has announced agreement on the main points of foreign policy but he is being supported by many groups that are fighting the administration policy."

WILLKIE SWINGS BIG WASHINGTON VOTE TO TICKET

Wallace Rushing West to Stem Tide on Farms.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Seattle, Wash., Sept. 29.—There appears little doubt that Washington's 8 electoral votes will go to Mr. Roosevelt on Nov. 5.

But the Republicans are far stronger in this state than they have been in many years, and are giving the Democrats a battle. Two years ago the Republicans polled only 37 per cent of the total vote. In the recent primary they polled 48 per cent.

Republican leaders, therefore, look for a comparatively close election—that is, close compared with Mr. Roosevelt's Washington pluralities of 150,000 in 1932 and 250,000 in 1936. But the G. O. P. managers are not fooling themselves regarding the prospective result.

Met By Huge Crowds.

Wendell Willkie's tour of the state had a good deal the appearance of a triumphal progress. The turnout of 30,000 people to hear him in Seattle broke all records for political meetings "since the white men took over from the Indians," as one politician expressed it. Crowds of similar proportions greeted the candidate at Tacoma, Spokane, and other points.

In his speeches here, Willkie struck a popular note. He did not quarrel with the New Deal power development policy. He treated the quarter of a billion dollar investment in Grand Coulee and Bonneville as government asests and asked the support of Washington voters on the argument that he can operate these huge plants more economically and efficiently than Mr. Roosevelt can.

Makes Votes for Ticket.

Attacks upon his utterances in this state have been conspicuously lacking, wherefore the Republicans are confident that he made votes here—how many, of course, is anybody's guess.

The outstanding feature of the political situation in Washington is the evidence of reaction against the New Deal and of the disintegration of the radical groups that for eight years have been the mainstay of Roosevelt strength.

Washington from the start was a banner New Deal state. It ardently embraced the New Deal social legislation, crop curtailment, and other Roosevelt economic innovations. But since 1938 there has been an increasing disillusionment with the New Deal program that is causing the Democratic leaders no end of concern.

Farmers Desert New Deal.

Republican farmers who twice have voted for Mr. Roosevelt are backsliding in large numbers from the New Deal's philosophy of scarcity, which has failed to achieve for them the promised parity of purchasing power.

Eastern Washington, which is the grain growing section, is evincing interest in the Republican proposals of a better system of farm relief under the sponsorship of neighboring Senator Charles L. McNary of Oregon, G. O. P. candidate for Vice President.

Henry Wallace, the Democratic candidate for Vice President, is headed for eastern Washington to attempt to stay this tide of disaffection. He will confine his activities to eastern Washington, the Democratic leaders regarding the western part of the state, with its large urban centers, as safely Democratic in this election.

There also has been great dissatisfaction with the party in power on the part of beneficiaries of the social security laws. It is not, one learns, dissatisfaction with the social legislation, but rather with its administration.

Pensioners on Rampage.

Democratic Governor Clarence D. Martin, who was defeated for renomination in the recent primary, was under fire for months by old age pensioners for the failure of the state to pay them the $30 provided by law. The top has been $22. An initiative proposal on the ballot in November provides for $40.

Former Senator C. C. Dill beat Martin. In the last few days Martin pledged his support to Dill. That caused the Townsendites, who hate Martin, to threaten to ditch Dill. Dr. Townsend himself is coming into the state shortly for the purpose, it is said, of leading his followers into the Republican fold.

There also has been evidence of increasing reaction against the Roosevelt economic and fiscal policies because they have failed to diminish unemployment—still approximating 10 million persons after seven years—and have failed to revive industry.

GEN. FORD ASKS NURSES TO SIGN FOR ARMY CORPS

Lieut. Gen. Stanley H. Ford, commanding officer of the 6th corps area and the 2d army, asked yesterday for the immediate enrollment of all qualified nurses in the Army Nurse corps. The enrollment is preparatory to calling 4,000 nurses into active service before next July.

Qualifications for appointment include graduation from approved schools of nursing, registration as provided by state laws, affiliation with the American Nurses' association, and American citizenship. The maximum age of candidates is 35, and they must be single, widowed, or divorced.

Nurses accepted will have the relative rank of second lieutenants and may become first lieutenants thru examinations. They will be provided with uniforms, quarters, and rations in addition to their base pay. Nurses may enroll by writing to the superintendent of the Army Nurse corps, office of the surgeon general, Washington, D. C.

HUNGARIAN NAZI GROUPS MERGED INTO ONE PARTY

See Boost in Strength and Influence.

BUDAPEST, Hungary, Sept. 29 (AP).—A merger of the Magyar National Socialist party and the Arrow Cross party, largest of Hungary's Nazi groups, was announced today.

The merger placed virtually all Hungarian Nazis in one party, since several other small groups were united some weeks ago with the Magyar National Socialists.

The merger, together with a more lenient government attitude toward the Nazi groups, was expected to lead to an immediate increase in their strength and influence.

'Little Hitler' May Be Chief.

Evidence of the government's changed attitude toward Nazi groups since the recent Vienna conference—at which Germany and Italy sliced off a large section of Transylvania from Rumania and gave it to Hungary—was seen in the release from prison Sept. 18 of Ferenc Szalasi, Hungary's "Little Hitler" under a general amnesty to political offenders.

Szalasi, who headed the Arrow Cross party, is expected to head the merged organization. The new party will have about 20 per cent of the 260 members of parliament.

Changed Political Life Seen.

The Nazi newspaper Magyarsag, said that "uniting of the two big parties changes the picture of Hungary's internal political life. Almost 50 Nazi legislators will fight unitedly in the Hungarian parliament for the Hungarian Arrow Cross idea. This circumstance enhances greatly the political, economic, and moral strength of the movement.

"Our conceptions and aims correspond with the ideology and political scope of the axis powers. Parallel with them, we wish to build up a new and happy Europe of racialism and national socialism."

PLAQUE ERECTED HONORING FIRST CHICAGO PRINTER

A bronze plaque honoring John Calhoun, Chicago's first printer, was dedicated yesterday at the southwest corner of Clark street and Wacker drive, where Calhoun printed the first issue of The Chicago Democrat, the city's earliest newspaper.

The ceremony, presided over by Douglas C. McMurtrie, opened Printing week in Chicago, commemorating the 500th anniversary of Johann Gutenberg's invention of movable type. McMurtrie, director of typography for the Ludlow Typograph company, is chairman of the Chicago celebration committee.

The speakers yesterday included the Rev. John Evans, religion editor of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE; Jack L. Hagen, president of the Chicago Club of Printing House Craftsmen, which presented and erected the plaque; George McKiernan, representing the Chicago Graphic Arts federation; Robert Collyer Fergus, grandson of Robert Fergus, a pioneer Chicago printer, and Ulmer Turner, radio news commentator.

BAN LIQUOR SALE TO GREAT LAKES NAVAL RECRUITS

Tavern owners were notified by the police yesterday that they connot sell liquor to recruits undergoing training at the Great Lakes Naval station. The tavern owners were warned that their licenses would be revoked if the order is violated.

Commissioner Allman issued the order after a conference with naval officials. Similar agreements have been made by police of north shore suburbs, it was said.

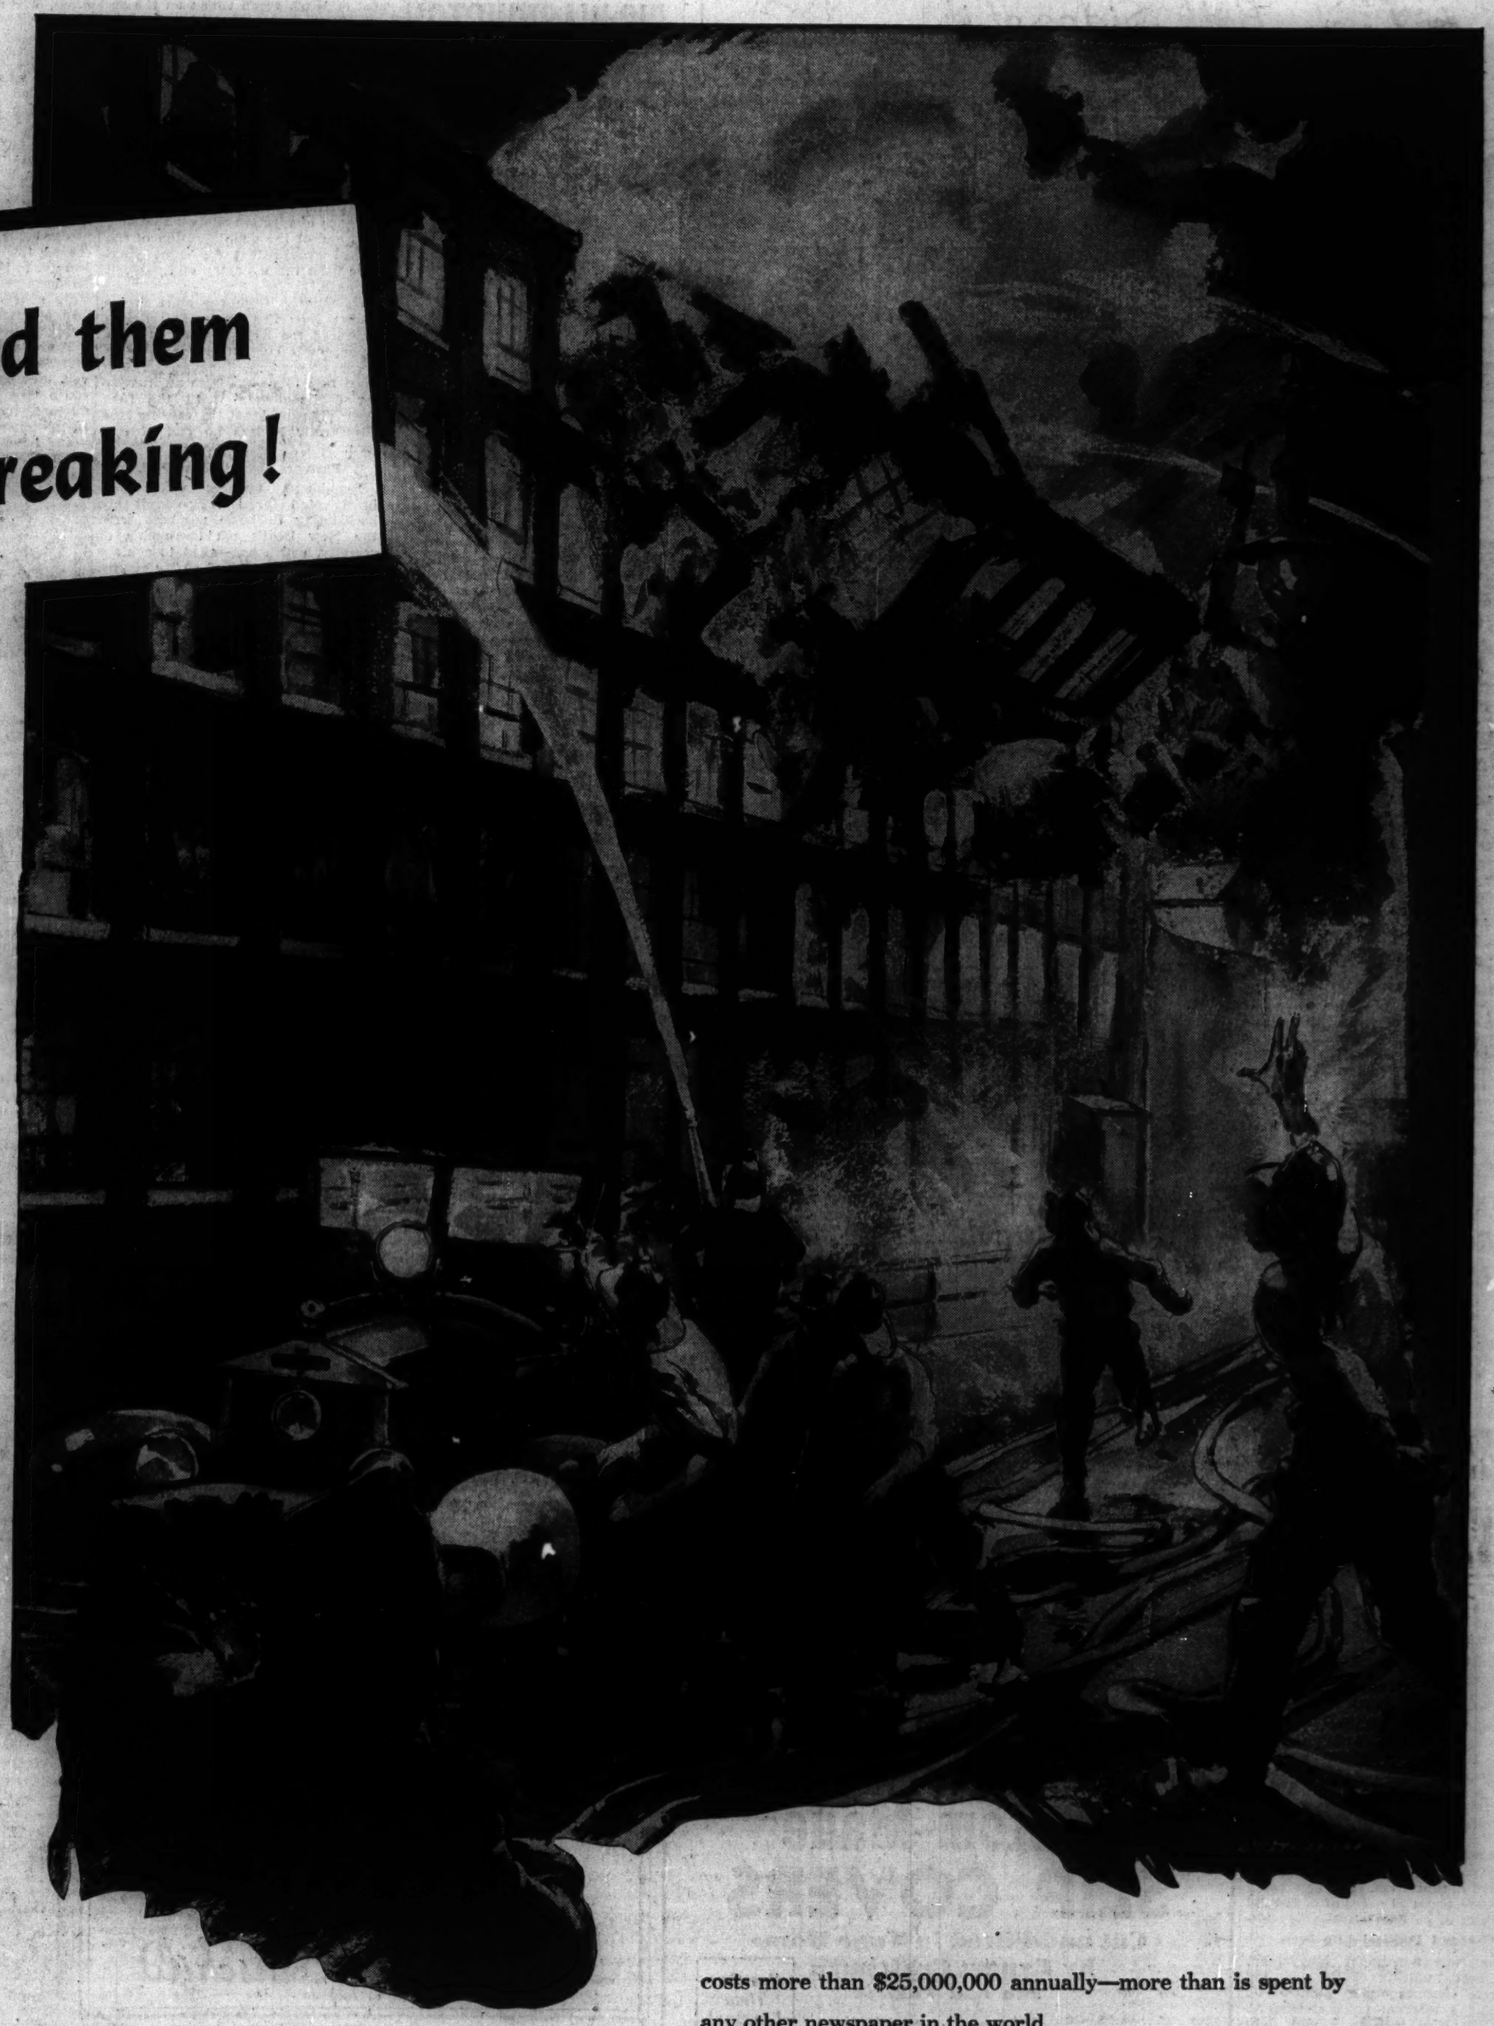
. . . you'll find them where NEWS is breaking!



An explosion rocks the waterfront . . .
A parade turns into a riot . . .
A new airport is opened with the blare of bands, and speeches of officials . . .

* * *

Wherever news is breaking, you'll find News reporters getting the facts—and News photographers getting the pictures.

The reporter glorified by the movies is a breezy chap, who likes his blondes young and his bottled stuff old. The News reporter in real life is less spectacular, but infinitely more dependable. He is probably married, may live in Brooklyn or the suburbs—and his hobby, on days off, may turn out to be nothing more exciting than raising flowers or playing golf. And some of our most capable reporters don't answer to Mr., but are Misses and Mrs.

News reporters are selected or trained for their natural abilities. In a superlative degree they must have a nose for news, infinite accuracy in gathering facts, a sense which separates the significant from the unimportant, and a knowledge of human and dramatic values.

News photographers from one standpoint have an even more difficult job. A reporter may be late—and still be able to gather an excellent story from eye-witnesses. But a photographer can never be late. His lens has to catch the story while it is happening. A minute later there may be no picture.

Like our reporters, News photographers are the cream of the crop. They are skilled experts, with the best equipment—speed graflexes, candid cameras with the best lenses, and big Berthas for shooting action closeups at long range.

While reporters and photographers work in the field, News re-write men, headline writers, editors, and studio workers are doing equally skillful work at desks and in developing rooms.

The News has an editorial staff of more than 350 reporters, re-write men, sports writers, feature writers, and editorial employes. In addition to news gathered by the local staff, The News subscribes to the Associated Press, United Press, Chicago Tribune Press Service, Standard News, and City News.

Photographs alone cost The News about $450,000 a year. The News has a local staff of some 50 photographers and studio men, and subscribes to the more important picture services. The News holds the first and only AP Wirephoto franchise in New York. It operates two picture planes. And it has the only portable AP Wirephoto sending and receiving set in New York. To publish The News requires a staff of more than 3,400.

The News staff, ably directed, turns out the paper which is read by more readers than any other in America. And in making this newspaper, neither effort nor money is spared. Editorial expenses alone run into several million dollars annually. To produce The News and get it in the hands of the readers costs more than $25,000,000 annually—more than is spent by any other newspaper in the world.

The News is proud of its staff, and proud of its product which millions read.

Our staff fills the reading requirements of the largest audience in America—but only News advertising columns can fill their tremendous merchandise requirements. A family audience exceeding 1,925,000 daily and more than 3,350,000 on Sunday consumes carloads of groceries, buys tons of tobacco, takes trainloads of furniture, buys miles of automobiles, annually purchases millions of items of apparel. G. O. P. CARAVANS PRESS DRIVE FOR DOWNSTATE VOTE

Democrat Candidates Will Swing Into City.

Democratic state campaign activity swings into Chicago this week. The three Republican caravans will continue their downstate travels for the fourth consecutive week, but the two Democratic groups that have spent four weeks downstate will come into the metropolis for a nightly schedule of ward meetings.

That schedule will be interrupted Wednesday evening by the Cook county Democratic organization dinner in the Palmer House, which will have Paul V. McNutt, federal social security administrator, as the principal speaker. Mayor Edward J. Kelly, County Chairman P. A. Nash, and Senator Scott W. Lucas also are on the program.

Spotlight on Springfield.

One other important Democratic event is set for tonight. National Chairman Edward J. Flynn has called to Springfield the national committeemen and state chairmen of the thirteen midwestern states assigned to the Chicago regional headquarters, presided over by Senator Lucas. The Illinois senator recently held a similar conference in Chicago and some leaders are asking why Flynn has called another one and placed it in the state capital, which is inconveniently situated.

The week's biggest Republican event in Chicago will be a speech by Senator Robert A. Taft, a preconvention Presidential contender, on the grounds of the Morgan Park Military academy next Saturday night.

Dwight H. Green, Republican nominee for governor, will deliver his customary Monday radio speech tonight and it has been announced that he will discuss unemployment, relief and the WPA. Members of the Willkie Office Workers' group will be in his audience at the La Salle hotel.

44 Counties on G. O. P. Tour.

The three Republican caravans, headed, respectively, by Green, Wayland Brooks, nominee for United States senator, and Hugh W. Cross, nominee of lieutenant governor, are billed to speak in 44 downstate counties, their engagements including a total of 25 night massmeetings.

Senator James M. Slattery, who holds his office now by appointment and is seeking a full six year term on the Democratic ticket, will deliver tonight the first of a series of eight radio talks that will wind up on Nov. 2, the Saturday before the election.

The Democratic state candidates headed by Slattery and Harry B. Hershey, nominee for governor, will devote themselves to north side ward meetings tonight.

Hershey is scheduled to speak in the 46th ward at 3212 Broadway and in the 45th ward at 1411 Oakdale avenue. Slattery will take the platform at 4605 Lincoln avenue in the 47th ward and 6443 Sheridan road in the 49th ward. Tomorrow night the candidates are scheduled for six south side ward meetings.

A STREAMLINED WOMAN LIGHTS WAY FOR SCIENCE

Science may be able to combat gas pains following surgical operations as a result of the two year study of a living "transparent woman" in Illinois Research hospital, it was reported yesterday. The study was directed by Dr. Charles B. Puestow, associate professor of surgery at the University of Illinois college of medicine.

Thru the coöperation of the patient — a 28 year old Illinois woman whose name was not revealed—the second of two operations heeded to close an opening thru the abdominal wall into the large bowel was postponed until doctors had been given the opportunity of studying the activities of the intestines as revealed thru the opening in the abdomen.

The woman stayed in the hospital two years while the doctors studied the digestive processes and also the reactions caused by various drugs.

The patient has been discharged from the hospital as normal after her second operation.

Polish Good Will Vessel Dedicated to Sea Scouts

The 56-foot ketch, Poleszuk, in which five Polish Sea Scout leaders sailed on a world good will tour that ended when their homeland was invaded, was dedicated yesterday as a training vessel for the Sea Scouts of the Polish Roman Catholic union. The ceremony, which was preceded by a parade of members of Chicago Polish organizations, took place at the Naval armory at Randolph street and the lake. The ship has been refitted and painted by the scouts who will train on her.

CRIER SUMMONS NILES CENTER TO TOWN MEETING

The bell and call of the old New England town crier roused late sleepers in Niles Center yesterday as Eugene Razkow, dressed in a costume of the revolutionary war, made the rounds of the suburb to advertise the first of a series of Niles Center town meetings tonight. Maj. Harold Meyer of Fort Sheridan, who spent a number of years in Hawaii and the Philippines, will address the meeting tonight on "The Community's Part in National Defense." The series, presented in the Niles Township Community High school auditorium, is sponsored by the newly formed Civic League of Niles Center.

QUESTIONS AT DAKAR.

The attack of the British and "free French" force on the West African port of Dakar, followed by their speedy withdrawal when they met resistance by the French forces that remain loyal to the Vichy government, has given rise to a number of questions, most of them as yet unanswered.

To begin with, why did Mr. Churchill want Dakar?

The port has the only first class harbor on that portion of the African coast. The British say the attack was launched after they had received information that a number of Germans had appeared there. Was the attack to prevent the port being used as a base for raids on the British life line to the east? Since the Mediterranean has been blocked, that life line runs off Dakar on the way around the Cape of Good Hope.

Dakar is also the logical jumping off point for a European attack on South America. Its seizure to prevent such an attack seems far fetched, however, since no such attack could be launched unless Britain fell, and in that event a British force could not hold Dakar long.

Dakar is the principal port of Senegal, source of France's black troops. Was it intended that Gen. De Gaulle, head of the "free France" movement, should establish headquarters there to recruit a Senegalese army for the liberation of France in the event that Great Britain, a year or two years hence is able to take the offensive?

Do the six French warships that the British permitted to sail past Gibraltar unmolested a few days before the Dakar attack explain that expedition? Did the British let them pass in the expectation that they would be surrendered at Dakar?

The quick withdrawal of the expedition when it met opposition would indicate that while the British-French force may have been prepared to fight, it did not expect to do so. It is not improbable that it was sent out as a garrison rather than an expeditionary force. De Gaulle, it is apparent, had underestimated the resistance that would be offered. His statement that he did not intend to fight Frenchmen was a clear indication that he expected the Frenchmen at Dakar to yield without fighting.

It is hard to see that the withdrawal will have a serious effect on the British cause. That effect certainly cannot be material. It might be moral. It has been suggested that the Dakar failure will cause wide defections from the British cause in the middle and far east. This does not seem probable, however, unless Dakar is a final straw on top of the British defeats in Norway and Flanders. By itself it is more than overbalanced by the current stiff resistance that is being offered to the invasion of Britain itself.

If the last war offers any guide, Dakar should have little effect on British relations with the Moslem peoples of the empire and adjoining countries. At Gallipoli the British went all out, were beaten, and had to withdraw, but neither that nor the Mesopotamian disaster disturbed the empire's Moslem relations seriously.

WILMINGTON FARMERS OBJECT.

These are exciting days for the residents of Wilmington, a Will county country town 53 miles from Chicago, as they contemplate what the immediate future has in store for them. With 1,741 inhabitants, according to the 1930 census, Wilmington is destined to be one of America's boom towns, for the ordnance department of the army has picked out Wilmington as the site of a 25 million dollar munitions project, to employ 10,000.

At four to the family, 10,000 workmen should mean 40,000 persons. Some of the workmen may live in nearby towns and go to Wilmington in automobiles, but many will live in Wilmington. And all of those people will buy a lot of groceries, furniture, and clothing. They will require moving picture theaters. And they will want fresh vegetables and milk to be brought to them from the nearby farms.

Prosperity is coming to Wilmington all right. But a good many people who have lived in the community all their lives will not be there to enjoy it. For the government plans call for the use of 65 square miles of land or 41,000 acres. The farmers who live on the land the government wants will have to go elsewhere.

Will county is one of the state's best agricultural counties, and farmers have plowed back much of their earnings into the soil, or have used their income to erect good buildings. Some of the Wilmington farms have been occupied by the same families thru several generations. Over half of the farmers are tenants who may be unable to find acreage elsewhere of equal fertility.

But all, whatever their claims, are going to be forced out of the community just as prosperity in a big way comes there for the first time. Those who own farm land the government wants will have to sell freely or have the property taken away in condemnation proceedings. There are 79 counties in Illinois where land is less fertile than that of Will county. There is considerable land in Wilmington which has been laid waste in strip mining operations. But the government has decided that it wants the particular sites in the particular county. Wilmington farmers who accepted man power conscription as equitable in 1918 can never be convinced that the same is true of property conscription. Whatever they are paid will not be enough to put them in as good condition as they were in before they lost their property. Those who keep their farms will gain, but their profits are of no advantage to the dispossessed.

STRIKES IN DEFENSE INDUSTRIES.

The Jones & Laughlin steel mills at Aliquippa, Pa., was tied up the other day not because of any quarrel between the employer and the C. I. O. Steel Workers' union, but because the union was trying to collect back dues from its members. Pickets were stationed at the gates to prevent any man who hadn't paid his dues from going to work.

The same C. I. O. union is threatening to tie up the Bethlehem steel mills which is said to have 800 million dollars in national defense contracts. The cause of the conflict is obscure.

Another C. I. O. strike is threatened at the Long Island City plant of the Ford Instrument company. This subsidiary of the Sperry corporation makes bomb sights for the navy.

It may be only an accident that these strikes and threats of strikes all come from C. I. O. unions and all concern industries which are of first importance in the armament program. It may be only a coincidence that there are many communists and communist sympathizers in the C. I. O.; that some of them are in a position to influence its action; and that the communist party line is dictated from Russia, which is bound by treaty to Germany. Stalin does not want America to be militarily strong at this period in the world's history because his ally, Hitler, is of that mind.

It doesn't seem likely that these threats to production arose spontaneously. At any rate, the position of the steel workers' union is deserving of special mention. At the Chicago convention some months ago the union voted support of Mr. Roosevelt. Mr. Roosevelt is seeking a third term on the plea that there is a national emergency calling for a vast armament production and that in such an emergency he is the only man in the country who can assure a rapid and uninterrupted supply of weapons and other equipment for the army and navy.

The inconsistency scarcely needs to be stressed. If the national danger is great enough, as Mr. Roosevelt and the steel workers say it is, to require the nation to accept a third term, it ought to be great enough to impose a little self-restraint, a little willingness to discuss and compromise, before interrupting production of war materials. In a period, allegedly of national emergency, a strike in a steel mill merely to enforce the collection of union dues and the threat of strikes in a factory making bomb sights and other factories making armor plate can hardly be regarded as contributions to the national safety.

THE FORGOTTEN GUARD.

At last, Maj. Gen. Lawton of the 33d division is enabled to announce when the Illinois National Guard will be mobilized for federal service. He expects that they will be inducted on Jan. 3 and that they will be trained at Camp Peay, near Tullahoma, Tenn. Whether these expectations will be recalled remains, of course, to be seen.

In any event, that leaves half the Guardsmen in the United States still in the dark. They know only that some time or other they will have to go to camp for a year.

With all the stage setting he could contrive, Mr. Roosevelt appeared before congress to request the right to mobilize the Guard. In due time, the necessary legislation was passed, as it was apparent from the first that it would be.

A competent executive would have had his schedules of troop movements well advanced before he asked the mobilization. A half-way competent executive would have had the schedules completed long before the bill was passed. Today, five weeks after the enactment, Mr. Roosevelt still can't tell half the Guardsmen in this country when they must report for duty.

It is no wonder that Brig. Gen. Charles H. Grahl of Iowa, president of the Adjutant Generals' association, spoke up the other day in protest. He stressed the injustice to the men of the Guard which comes from withholding information which they must have if they are to avoid needless worry and loss. Gen. Grahl's indignant speech was merited, but it is doubtful if it will accomplish much in the immediate future. The trouble lies in administrative incapacity at the top and only an election can remedy that.

It should be added that the same Mr. Roosevelt who has shown so little consideration for the Guardsmen and so little executive capacity in scheduling their movement to camp is the same Mr. Roosevelt who says he should have a third term because he is irreplaceable and indispensable in a time of national emergency.

Editorial of the Day

FOR WHOM ARE WE SAVING INDO-CHINA?

[New York Daily News.]

This newspaper yesterday printed a story by two well known and eminently reliable Washington correspondents, John O'Donnell and Fred Pasley. Gist of the story was that the Roosevelt administration has agreed to sell to the French Indo-China colonials all the arms and munitions they can buy for their fight against the Japanese invaders of Indo-China. How are the goods to be delivered?

We hope our correspondents are mistaken; but that happens seldom. Their story is at least strengthened by the President's order of yesterday, stopping scrap iron and steel exports anywhere except to the western hemisphere and Great Britain, effective Oct. 16.

In case we are now out to save French Indo-China from the Japanese, for whom are we going to save it?

Do we save it for the two-fifths of France which is controled by the Vichy government? That government has agreed to let the Japs have various Indo-China points which the Japs want. Do we save it for the three-fifths of France that the Germans now occupy; meaning do we save it for Adolf Hitler?

Or are we out to save Indo-China for the British empire to add unto itself after the war? Perish the thought that we may be going to save Indo-China for ourselves. We're too righteous as a nation to take anything for ourselves out of any war we horn into; and besides, Indo-China would be both a military and an economic liability.

The same questions go for the Dutch East Indies, which we suppose will be next on the list of colonies Uncle Sam is supposed to save.

Holland is five-fifths occupied by the Germans, and bids fair to remain in that condition for quite some time.

If we save the Dutch East Indies from the Japs, do we save them for Holland's present actual ruler, Adolf Hitler; for Holland's exiled Queen Wilhelmina; for the British; for the Dutch now in the East Indies; for ourselves [again perish the thought]; or for whom?

It's a puzzling world, mates, and it doesn't grow less puzzling as this war roars along.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

Hew to the Line, let the quips fall where they may.

MUSIC ON LAKE FRONT, 1883.

When the Chicago Symphony orchestra starts the celebration of its 50th season [Thursday night, Oct. 10], many oldtimers probably will rise up and say, "Tush, tush! It must be older than that. Why, I remember when Theodore Thomas' orchestra used to play in the Exposition building on the lake front, 60 years ago and more."

Well, that was the Old Maestro's orchestra, folks, not Chicago's. He would come here on tour. This city was one of his favorite stamping grounds, but his headquarters were then in New York. We have come across a relic of those early Thomas concerts in the form of a program for his "summer garden" engagement from July 9 to Aug. 11, 1883. It is rich with the atmosphere of old Chicago.

Concerts were given on Monday, Tuesday, Thursday, and Saturday nights, and music lovers could enjoy refreshments as they listened to the classics. The program announces as available to the hungry or thirsty: vanilla and strawberry ice cream, cake, lemonade, ham and cheese sandwiches, soda and mineral waters, buttermilk, ginger ale, and three brands of beer.

The advertising matter in old amusement bills is of more interest to the student of American manners than the details of the program. We learn from this job of printing, among other things, that:

Parlor folding beds saved room rent and cost from $25 up; that the Monarch oil stove was nonexplosive and boiled and baked at the same time from the same heat; that the Central Music hall hair store received the latest styles direct from Europe and specialized in water waves and bangs; that a certain haberdasher's "side clip" collar effectually held the tie or scarf in place; that bow ties and Ascots were worn by the best dressers; that the latest perfumes were named "wild olive" and "kiss-me-quick"; that Race Brothers ran a popular oyster house at 114 Madison street; and that to close out summer underwear a Dearborn street shop would sell a good pair of men's drawers for 50 cents.

SONG OF ESCAPE.

Today, I said, I will write a sonnet
And find escape from these sordid things—
The world with the curse of war upon it,
Its struggles and petty bickerings.
By aid of Poesy's necromancy
I'll summon Pegasus; on his wings
I'll travel far from it all, in fancy,
To lave in Lethe's forgotten springs.

And so to the beckoning woods and meadows
That dreamily languish in Autumn's arms
I soared away, but the gruesome shadows,
And moans of anguish, and war's alarms
Followed me, haunted me all day long—
Tonight, with a sob, I end my song.

The Duke Will Speak in Blitz Park.

After many sleepless days I have finally completed my opening speech. I asked tha Mama fer some help an she tells me her jelly an watermelon rind pickling was more important. Course maybe tha Mama is smart cause if I happen to get beat, by say 10 or 15 votes, at least we wood be eating. Tha speech will be delivered in Blitz Park, one block south of Grant's monument.

I picked this spot figgerring that on a/c tha traffic is always tied up nobody could walk out on me. Another reason for this location is that you get a ready-made audience of some 3,000 or more birds. I think they're constructing a sandbox or sumthin. Seems they're breakin their necks to have it ready by tha time our Mayor has grandchildren.

I wanted to be sure that my plans were okay, so I stops this morning and had a friendly chat with flag-waver No. 638. His answer was, "Yes, and then again, no." With this splendid bit of advice, I'm all set to go. My platform is gonna have 12 vital points—cood just as well be 40 cause in these years who tha hell lives up to them after you're elected.

A bit of high class humor is gonna knock em right off of their shovel handles when I springs the one about so and so is already changing tha sign on his place from Hyde to Hide Park. Suppose you've all noticed as how Henry Ford is now on our side. Pretty soon Ickes is gonna say, "So what, what's he ever accomplished?"

My closing remarks are filled with beautiful patriotic sentiments and then I'm gonna ask my millions of admirerers to join me in singing a patriotic song. Tha Mama's first thought was that I wood go over bigger if I cut out tha rest of tha speech and just used tha closing remarks. Now she's changed her mind again—claims mebbe just tha song alone wood get me tha most votes. I told her that one of us was crazy and that I'd rather not mention names. Duke Bakrak.

P. S. An she says, "You woodn' hafta."

WARFARE AMONG THE STARS.

They said they saw the full moon, reddening thru the trees,
They didn't see what I saw, I, who see what I please;
They didn't see the airplane, banking and swooping with ease,
Alter its course to rescue the shell torn moon's refugees.
Jupiter trained his searchlight to sweep those perilous seas,
And the convoy of stars went whirling like a swarm of angry bees.
These are the things I saw, then, and a stranger thing than these,
For a meteor clove the heavens like a banner flung to the breeze.
They saw the moon, a burnt shell, rising beyond the trees,
They didn't see what I saw, I, who see what I please.

HOUSE CLEANING—A DAILY CHORE.

MOST housewives clean house at least twice a year. The purpose, of course, is to clear out all particles of dirt—the chief transporting vehicles of bacteria. Unfortunately, sunlight has little effect upon dust-borne germs. When we hang blankets and comforters on the line and allow the elements to work their will, most of the disease producing organisms are wafted away on the breezes that blow.

We all realize that certain microbes can live in quiet undisturbed places for many months altho most of the dangerous forms will succumb within a few weeks. But with poor housekeeping, no one can pass thru a room without stirring up enough air currents to dislodge particles from the floor or the furniture. Then it is that every breath may carry noxious "critters" into the nose and throat.

Thoro renovation includes not only drapes, carpets, upholstered furniture, and pictures, but closets and shelves. Blankets also can harbor dangerous types, particularly the virus that causes the common cold. Soap and water is the best disinfecting agent we possess and floors, woodwork, ceilings, and walls may be washed without injury.

While these periodical episodes are highly desirable, it is more important that bacteria which filter out of the air should be removed from the floors, table tops, etc., daily. Rugs and couches may be vacuumed and an oiled mop will take up millions of potential offenders.

A few months ago an experiment was conducted in two carpeted rooms of the same size. In one, a blanket sprayed with streptococci was suspended and beaten vigorously for 10 minutes. A half hour was allowed for the dust to settle and later all the windows and doors were opened to permit free ventilation. Each room was then swept with a sterile broom and this immediately filled the air with large quantities of lint. In the chamber containing the blanket, germs were found in a dangerous concentration, while the other was comparatively clean. In other words, the sweeping redistributed a high percentage of the bacteria previously deposited on the floor.

But when the rugs were removed and the linoleum was wiped with a mop, the oiled strands held the bacilli compactly—with the result that the air was relatively pure.

More important than the cleaning perhaps, is the protection of those who are doing the job. During this period, therefore, a gauze mask should be worn over the nose and mouth as a precaution. Many of us can recall that mother and all of her assistants were obliged to go to bed with sore throats or severe colds—the result of inhaling more microorganisms than they could withstand. Thin rubber gloves are also helpful. The lifting or moving of heavy articles of furniture should be left to the stalwart male members of the family.

It is fair to say that most of our colds appear because we have inhaled the "starters"—the viruses and the germs that come after them. If we would keep reasonably free from these and other infections, our homes must be kept in a sanitary condition. Regular attention—each day—is far more effective.

RIDGE ON ROOF.

A. R. writes: About a year ago I noticed a lump on the roof of my mouth. It does not pain. Is there anything to be alarmed about?

REPLY.

Probably not. Where the two halves of the body join, a slight ridge may be detected. The widened portion may feel like a lump.

INFLUENZA.

G. R. writes: What is "intestinal flu"?

REPLY.

Influenza may manifest its effect chiefly in the respiratory tract, the abdomen, or the nervous system. In the so-called intestinal type there may be fever, abdominal pain, diarrhea and vomiting. The spleen is usually enlarged.

TOXEMIA, OR POISONING.

F. E. R. writes: What is meant by "toxemia"?

REPLY.

Poisoning. Signs and symptoms that are due to disease or to improper functioning of some vital structure. For example, toxemia may accompany pregnancy or an overactive thyroid, or may follow typhoid fever, pneumonia, etc.

ANYTHING TO SAVE THE RAM?

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

Writers should confine themselves to 200 or 300 words. Give full names and addresses. No manuscripts can be returned. Address Voice of the People, THE TRIBUNE.

FOR THE DEER SEASON.

Forest Park, Ill., Sept. 27.—The letter in your paper headed "Defends Dove Hunting" is one of the best arguments for conscripting every person who applies for a hunting license and not releasing him from service until he proves himself an expert shot. Then if the country is not at war and the lust to kill is still strong in him, he can hunt at least without maiming and deserting the wounded creature.

Read the following from the October issue of Nature entitled "On Those Who Leave Crippled Deer," by Frederick F. Van De Water:

"I know it is not mere intuition that weights both my spirit and my stomach while the deer season endures, for I have sought thru growing dusk to find and end a fawn whose fore legs had been bullet-shattered by some one inferior to the suffering beast, and I have heard Ray Pratt tell, in the dry voice beneath which our game warden hides pain, of the mercy killings he makes as the deer season's aftermath.

"Perhaps my morality is lamentably warped, yet I hold that he who cripples and leaves to exquisitely slow death a live thing has wrought unenviable iniquity. I know that each hunting season does more incalculable harm to man than to the defenseless thing he slaughters."

BIRD CALLS.

AND JIMMY'S PICTURE GOT BY.

New York, Sept. 27.—The corniest but most efficacious technique in baiting chumps is the fomentation of controversy. The timely ebullience of a dogooder will sell more show tickets than a page ad.

The eldest scion of an exalted personage, and himself prominent in insurance, marine corps, and juke-box activities, entered the cinema field. His contribution to the celluoid realm required, according to all report, considerable aid aside from its intrinsic merits. The local constabulary being under the command of the satraps of the party of humanity obligingly put the kibosh on the presentation of the masterpiece. Outcries that listened like the squeals of a duroc boar with his tail in the gate resulted. Then did the party of humanity's minions renig.

Quien sabe? NED ALVORD.

SAYS TRIBUNE IS A BULLY.

Chicago, Sept. 27.—Why shouldn't even the devil get his due? How naively your editorial took away the credit from President Roosevelt for leasing the bases from England by stating that he was forced into such a transaction.

Did congress force him, did England force him, or is it possible THE TRIBUNE wielded its influence and forced him to pursue a policy in accordance with its own views?

The Tribune policy is that of a bully who has lost all sense of sportsmanship.

J. F.

SAYS EDITORIAL IS TRASH.

Chicago, Sept. 27.—I want to voice my protest against your editorial, "Toward War in Asia." It would seem to me that a paper of the standing of THE TRIBUNE would be above using such trash for political purposes. The insinuation that our President is either insane or using the present crisis for political purposes is particularly uncalled for.

I will vote for Wendell Willkie in spite of the fact that he has your support.

CHARLES A. RICHARDS.

THREE SCENES; THREE ACTORS.

Chicago, Sept. 27.—Let's call this Sequences:

SCENE 1.

"This country with its institutions belongs to the people who inhabit it. Whenever they shall grow weary of the existing government, they can exercise their constitutional right of amending it or their revolutionary right to dismember or overthrow it. By the frame of the government under which we live this same people have wisely given their public servants but little power for mischief and have with equal wisdom provided for the return of that little to their own hands at very short intervals. While the people retain their virtue and vigilance no administration by any extreme of wickedness or folly can very seriously injure the government in the short space of four years."

—Abraham Lincoln—first inaugural address.

SCENE 2.

"In 34 months we have built up new instruments of public power. In the hands of a people's government this power is wholesome and proper. But in the hands of political puppets of an economic autocracy such power would provide shackles for the liberty of the people."

—F. D. Roosevelt—message to congress, January, 1936.

SCENE 3.

"Awaken your fellow citizens to those moral and spiritual values, without the exercises of which our democracy must inevitably contract into a dictatorship. And I turn to that vast, mistaken, deluded government of ours in Washington, and I say to them: Give our country back to us, it belongs to us. We want it. We're not cynical about it. We love it. We should like to share the burden of it amongst ourselves. We should like if necessary to suffer for it, so that we may pass it on intact to other generations."

—Wendell L. Willkie—Coffeyville, September, 1940.

V. H.

WASHINGTON'S JUDGMENT.

Michigan City, Ind., Sept. 25.—Washington in his farewell address especially warned us against the foreign policy we are pursuing. He said that if we morally take sides, we will sooner or later enter into a conflict completely foreign to our own interests, by unnecessarily parting with what should be retained for our own defense. He also stated that at such times as the present corrupted, deluded, and ambitious citizens would sacrifice the interests of this nation, by promoting our participation in foreign affairs, while at the same time virtuously pronouncing that they had the interest of the nation at heart.

But don't take my word for this; look up the speech and see for yourself.

LOUIS M. WELSH.

AFFORDS HIM A LAUGH.

Ohio, Ill., Sept. 24.—Having voted in and been interested in 15 Presidential elections, no argument for producing laughter has come to my notice equal to that of that profound [?] statesman by the name of Lucas last week.

A. W. HUSSEY.

LICENSE NO. 2193.

Chicago, Sept. 27.—A Chicago Surface Lines bus, No. 2193, went thru the red light going on Ogden avenue, crossing Washington boulevard, at 12:05 p. m. today [Friday].

ANOTHER FRIGHTENED MOTORIST.

HE PREFERS THE NAVY.

Chicago, Sept. 27.—Being familiar with boats and the lake here and being within the conscription limit, I am urged by my wife to apply for a position in the navy. She thinks we could get by on about $200 a month, stationed here in Chicago. Her relatives live here, so naturally we could not consider anything outside the city.

I therefore implore your aid as to whom to appeal to for consideration.

H. F. U.

P. S. She thinks I would look swell in a rear admiral's uniform that we saw in Fox news, but she doesn't like the three cornered hat the man wore.

Beaver Dam, Wis., Sept. 27.—I have written the following to Stephen Early, secretary to the President:

"I have a son 30 years of age who is a good mechanic, and would like to get him a commission as captain in the aviation mechanics branch of the army air corps.

"He has a wife and child to support and so can't afford to enlist as a private and work his way up. Please write me where he should apply and what references he will have to give in order to get his commission at once."

W. H. BABCOCK.

AN "IF" CONCERNS WALLACE.

Rosco, Cal., Sept. 26.—I've sent this to the Hollywood Citizen and wish you would print it:

If every anti-Roosevelt editor and every Willkie campaigner would ask all prospective Democratic voters: "For whom are you really planning to vote in November for President? What if Roosevelt, satisfied with the historic honor of a third election and elated with the added political influence, should soon retire or become incapacitated? Would you thank your voting intelligence for "President" Henry Wallace?" AMERICANER.

THREE TERMS NOT ENOUGH?

Chicago, Sept. 26.—Why all the fuss about a third term? If Wendell "I Will" Willkie intends to fulfill all his campaign promises, he will require at the least four terms.

MISS B. O.

FRIEND OF THE PEOPLE

SHARE IN ESTATE.

Chicago, Sept. 27.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—When a boy's father dies and the father's sister dies shortly after [1] leaving the boy his father's share of the estate [the boy is 25 years of age], [2] can another sister of the father tell the boy what he can spend the money for? She is not conservator of the boy but [3] the will reads he must consult the aunt first. Is this legal? The boy's mother is still alive. Can she come in on husband's share of his sister's estate?

F. V.

1. It is not clear whether you mean that there is a will so worded as to give the father's share to the son. It seems possible that the gift would lapse or at least that the son would not receive the full share. We cannot advise without knowing whether there is a will and if so it's wording.
2. There is no such general rule.
3. This wording is unusual. We cannot construe it without having it before us.

A WOMAN TAKES FIRST LESSON IN DRIVING AN AUTO

Traffic Court Will Hear Her Experiences.

Mrs. Mary Burns is 55 years old. Until yesterday she had never driven an automobile. Her husband, Michael, decided it was time she learned.

They got in their car in front of their home at 8324 Ada street and started out. At 80th street and Damen avenue Burns stopped the car. His wife moved into the driver's seat. He told her how the gear shift and foot pedals worked.

"Now," he said, "let's go."

The car lunged forward, then jerked along for perhaps a hundred feet.

It Heads for a Garage.

In a frame garage behind 8000 Winchester avenue, sat William Hoyle of Wellston, Mich., who is visiting relatives at that address. He was perched on a box, studying a road map preparatory to his return home.

Suddenly the side of the garage came down with a crash. The Burns' car, wholly out of control, with Mrs. Burns frantically clinging to the steering wheel, shot thru the opening.

It crashed into an auto parked in the garage. Then it caromed off, struck Hoyle, fracturing his hip, and finally stopped against the opposite wall.

Victim in Serious Condition.

Hoyle was taken to St. George's hospital in serious condition.

Mrs. Burns was taken to the Gresham police station, charged with reckless driving, and released. She will appear in Safety court today.

"I got excited," Mrs. Burns said. "I stepped hard on a pedal but the car didn't stop, it leaped forward. I guess it was the gas pedal."

COOPER MOROSE OVER SNUB, HIS WIDOW REVEALS

New York, Sept. 29 (AP).—Courtney Ryley Cooper, 53 years old, author and "circus fan No. 1," who hanged himself in a closet of a Park Central hotel room yesterday, had been morose over snubs he had received in Washington when he sought to inform officials of German activities he reported he had discovered in Mexico, his widow said today.

Courtney Ryley Cooper.

Mrs. Cooper said her husband had conferred with his friend and writing collaborator, J. Edgar Hoover, director of the FBI, but she did not know the result of their conferences. Mrs. Cooper said her husband made an exhaustive investigation in Mexico several months ago and unearthed details of German conditions and propaganda there.

R. E. Sackett, special agent in charge of the FBI office here denied that either Hoover or any other member of the FBI had talked with Cooper about Mexico.

MRS. W. B. NORTON DIES; WIDOW OF TRIBUNE VETERAN

Chicago relatives received news yesterday of the death of Mrs. Marie Therese Norton, the widow of Dr. William Bernard Norton, religion editor of THE TRIBUNE from 1907 to 1928. Mrs. Norton died Friday in San Francisco, where she had made her home for a number of years. She would have been 82 years old had she lived until tomorrow.

Mrs. Norton was the former Marie Therese Werneburg. She was born in Chicago. At the age of 55, she was graduated from Northwestern university. She served as teacher and principal in the Chicago schools for many years.

Mrs. Norton was the mother of Mrs. Louise French of Chicago; Mrs. S. W. Clemes of the faculty of Lucknow Christian college in India, and Mrs. Fred W. Norton of San Francisco. Dr. Norton died in 1936. Funeral services for Mrs. Norton will be held here, the time to be announced later.

BARE NEW DEAL'S COACHING OF BIG 3D TERM ARMY

Lyons Tells of Sessions in U. S. Buildings.

BY CHARLES LEAVELLE.

The New Deal government last May began actively coaching leaders of the vast political machine it has built up among Democratic women.

This was the statement yesterday of Richard J. Lyons of Libertyville, who has spent more than six weeks investigating the machine, which is known as the Reporter plan of the women's division, Democratic national committee.

Lyons began his revelations Saturday before a meeting of the county Republican committee, which was called into session by Dwight H. Green, Republican candidate for governor. Lyons exhibited samples of the bales of campaign literature, more than a third of it printed at government expense, which hundreds of thousands of women are passing out thru the nation.

Tells Story of Institute.

Yesterday the former state representative told the story of the National Institute of Government, a country-wide organization of women, sponsored and created by the women's division of the national committee. Its avowed purpose is to teach American women to become "government minded."

The building of the National institute went hand in hand with organization of the Reporter plan, which had its first real impetus when Miss Mary W. Dewson, vice chairman of the national committee, began mobilizing women to work for President Roosevelt's election in 1936. The public knew even less about the institute than it did about the swift, silent growth of the Reporter plan, Lyons asserted.

"But in the first week of last May it burst into the open," he continued. "Four thousand eight hundred women poured into Washington to meet in government buildings and to learn first hand from the leading New Dealers how to fan sentiment for the third term 'draft' that followed.

Came from Every State.

"These women came from every state in the Union. They went back to their precincts and counties to instruct their fellow workers in the Reporter plan. With them they took additional reams of literature turned out by the presses of the federal government under the New Deal."

In Washington the women heard Attorney General Robert H. Jackson, Secretary of Agriculture Wallace, Secretary of Labor Frances Perkins, Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau, Florence Kerr, assistant commissioner of the WPA, and many others. They met in the new Interior building, United States government auditorium, and other places.

Their guest of honor was Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, wife of the President. A national magazine last week asserted it was due to Mrs. Roosevelt that the women's division of the national committee gained its great power. It was stated also that Mrs. Roosevelt and her friends developed in New York state the scheme that later became the Reporter plan.

The latter honor, however, is accorded to Miss Dewson by the Democratic Digest, official organ of the women's division. But it is true that Mrs. Roosevelt and Miss Dewson worked together to elect and reelect Mr. Roosevelt governor of New York.

Indorsed by First Lady.

And the Reporter plan has the hearty indorsement of the first lady. In January, 1939, she said:

"If we follow the study plans of the Reporter plan we will not be misled by what uninformed people sometimes say. Catchwords spread quickly. . . . Untruths spread like wildfire. This is why the Reporter plan is so valuable—it corrects misinformation and gives the facts."

She set the example which led to the plan's slogan, "Campaigns are won between elections." And from it sprang another slogan, "Elections are won in the precincts." The Reporter plan covers the nation precinct by precinct and county by county.

Its setup calls for seven leaders in each state, seven in each county, and seven in each precinct. In Illinois this would mean 714 county workers and well over 50,000 precinct operatives. The closely knit pattern is not unlike the soviets [councils] which made Russia communistic, Lyons declared at the end of his investigation.

And the hundreds of thousands of women in the Reporter plan work ceaselessly. At the Democratic national convention here last July, Dorothy S. McAllister, director of the women's division, told something of this never ending campaigning for the New Deal.

"The women of the Democratic party have been building their organization for the past four years on the principle that campaigns are won between elections. They are fortified with facts to fight the campaign."

She then listed 1,500 publicity directors, 1,200 directors of radio, 2,000 discussion groups—all ready to plunge into the campaign. [For discussion groups the department of agriculture and the AAA have issued 15 attractive booklets, glorifying the New Deal's farm program. These are printed at government expense.

Circulate 10 Million Fliers.

Even before the convention, Mrs. McAllister said, the Reporter plan had circulated 10 million "Rainbow Fliers." These are sheaves of colored sheets which set forth "graphically and simply" the record of the Roosevelt administration and "clarify the issues of the campaign." And in closing she said:

"In our President we recognize a power of leadership that is worldwide. There are millions of human beings among the self-governing nations of the world who look for leadership and faith in the principles of democracy to the United States of America and to the first citizen of the world, Franklin D. Roosevelt."

"It was at that convention," Lyons observed yesterday, "that the voice of the President was heard telling of the long, wakeful hours he spent alone with his conscience, thinking over the matter of a third term. But what I have learned about the Reporter plan, its vast scope and its amazing ambitions, leads me to doubt that the gentleman in the White House lost very much sleep in the manner he describes."

LATIN AMERICA'S EXPERTS ON WAR GATHER IN U. S.

Will Inspect Defenses and See President.

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina, Sept. 29 (AP).—Military preparedness on an unprecedented scale is being pushed by the Americas.

Altho this was started weeks before Berlin, Rome and Tokio bound themselves to fight any new enemy in either of the world's two wars, it has reached its height amid the world reaction to the pact.

Besides South and Central American military representatives already in the United States to acquaint themselves with North America's potential military might and talk with United States military leaders, these missions were en route or were ready to leave today:

ARGENTINA—The head of the army, Inspector General Guillermo J. Mohr, accompanied by his chief of staff, Lieut. Col. Roque Lanus, is at sea, bound for New York on the steamship Uruguay.

Paraguay Sends Commander.

PARAGUAY—Gen. Nicolas Delgado, commander-in-chief, scheduled to leave Asuncion by air today.

PERU—Col. Felipe De La Barra, chief of staff, passed thru Guayaquil, Ecuador, today by plane.

BOLIVIA—Commandant José Tamayo, chief of general staff, flying with the Peruvian leader.

Colombian Group Flying.

COLOMBIA—Brig. Gen. Luis M. Castaneda, en route by plane, via Miami, with Lieut. Col. Ernesto Buenaventura, chief of aviation; Lieut. Col. German Ocampo, commandant of the military academy, and Maj. Hernando Mora, chief of artillery.

URUGUAY—Inspector General Marcelino Bergalla and his air force commander, Lieut. Col. Oscar Gestido, left Buenos Aires last week, flying by way of Rio de Janeiro, to Washington.

GUATEMALA—Gen. Rodolfo Mendoza and Col. Enrique Peralta, chief of staff and assistant director of the military academy, respectively, en route by air, via Brownsville, Tex.

On the schedule of the Latin American delegates are meetings with President Roosevelt on Tuesday and subsequent visits to the Chesapeake bay defenses; visits to Fort Benning, Ga., an important infantry post; Randolph field, Texas, air corps training center; Fort Sill, Okla., artillery center; Fort Knox, Ky., amored corps headquarters; a tour of the industrial areas of Detroit and New York, and finally a trip to West Point.

The missions are in conformity with the Havana accord reached by the 21 American nations which laid the groundwork for a possible system of mutual assistance pacts thruout the western hemisphere, including Canada, altho she was not represented at Havana.

Mutual Help Pledges.

The Havana conference adopted a reciprocal assistance agreement under which, in events of threats to the security of any of the American nations or the hemisphere as a whole, the various nations would consult on the actual form of aid to be given. Since then the United States and Canada have reached a mutual defense agreement.

The Latin American missions to the United States scarcely could be considered the consultation envisaged by the Havana conference, but Latin-Americans see them as preparation for such a council of war should it ever become necessary.

Wreck Rumanian Tank Car Train on Way to Germany

ZAGREB, Jugo-Slavia, Sept. 29 (AP).—A train made up mostly of tank cars, en route from Rumania to Germany, was derailed during the night between Zagreb and Lubjlana in what was believed to be an act of sabotage. The tracks were damaged so severely that traffic was held up all day. Jugo-Slav newspapers were forbidden by censors to publish the news.

Dale Carnegie, through the Dale Carnegie Institute, has trained more business men and women to talk effectively than any other living man. During the past 27 years, more than 35,000 men and women have profited by Dale Carnegie courses in New York, Philadelphia, Washington, Chicago, Boston, London and Paris. 4. "SELL" YOURSELF, YOUR SERVICES, your product, your enthusiasms.
5. WIN MORE FRIENDS by increasing your knowledge of practical psychology, your skill in human relations.
6. IMPROVE YOUR MEMORY, speak without notes and recall names and faces.

HARRY EVANS

AUTHOR—LECTURER—INSTRUCTOR

Mr. Evans' lectures and articles on selling are familiar to Sales Organizations and business men and women throughout the United States. He has been a member of the Dale Carnegie Institute faculty for many years.

"I consider Harry Evans one of the outstanding Instructors on our staff. His ability to inspire people to greater achievement is well known to thousands of men and women. He is also a convincing and forceful speaker."—Dale Carnegie.

HOW THIS COURSE IS CONDUCTED

You will meet one evening a week for sixteen weeks as one of a group of 40 business men and women.

These meetings will be held in private dining rooms of hotels or restaurants. Each group will be strictly limited to forty.

Your instructors will tell you what is right with your talk and what is wrong with it, and how to remedy and improve it. Every member of the class will write his suggestions for improving your talks; so when you finish, you will have the instructor's help and the comments of 39 of your fellow students. You will receive the helpful co-operation of your associates in the class.

As a result of this training you will soon develop courage and self-possession. You will learn to think on your feet. You will conquer fear; and "Fear," said Elbert Hubbard "defeats more men than any other one thing in the world."

As the course progresses, you will be shown how to plan and prepare and construct your talks, how to illustrate your points, how to be clear, how to be entertaining, how to be impressive and convincing. You will be shown how to win confidence, how to get every one agreeing at the outset, how to state your proposals, how to appeal to the motives that produce action. You will be taught how to appear to advantage before a group, how to remember what you want to say, how to begin and how to end your talks.

If we described here all the things this training will do for you, it would sound like exaggeration. So we have prepared a booklet which outlines the benefits to be derived from this training, which will be given away at this meeting. In our files at 20 E. Jackson Blvd. are the names of hundreds of students who have taken this training. If you care to investigate, we will furnish you any or all of these names. You are invited to write or telephone them and discover for yourself precisely how they have profited by it.

MAKE YOURSELF QUICKLY AND FAVORABLY KNOWN

Theodore Alvy, Chief Engineer of La Cour Iron Works, attended monthly meetings of the American Association of Engineers for twelve years without being able to say a word. After completing this training, he arose at one of their meetings and spoke for twelve minutes.

"I made more friends," said Mr. Alvy, "and acquired more prestige by one twelve-minute talk than I had been able to do in a dozen years as a silent, inarticulate member."

Hundreds of other students have had similar experiences. So can you at meetings in your business or community.

Veteran news gatherers at the nation's capital, these men need no map to find their way thru the maze which is official and unofficial Washington.

Chesly Manly

When those in power do not wish the people to know the truth about vital issues, the Chicago Tribune correspondents shown on this page dig up the facts.

When the news is hard to get, when ordinary channels are apparently blocked, these men have the ability to get the real story because they are accustomed to doing their own fact-finding instead of depending on the propaganda handouts of press bureaus, lobbyists and politicians.

No censor blue pencils their dispatches. Unmoved by official pressure and threats of reprisal, they report the truth and the Tribune prints it.

'Meet the People,' Hollywood Youths' Revue, Stirs Enthusiasm

BY CECIL SMITH.

A cross-section of Hollywood youth introduced itself to the jaded old world audience of Chicago Saturday night and found first-nighters in a mood to award a friendly, approving welcome. These west coast youngsters, some of them so young that the ink can scarcely be dry on their high school diplomas, created their revue by a kind of spontaneous combustion, out of a determination to show the world that the movies had not scouted out all of Hollywood's promising talent. Audiences in Hollywood and San Francisco agreed that the premise was sound, and accordingly the young troupers ventured toward "the east" [Chicago and New York] in search of further fame and fortune.

"Meet the People" is a somewhat disorganized potpourri of all the music, dancing, humor and sentiment its various collaborators could dig up for an evening's diversion. The players plug it for all they are worth, and, as I shall indicate presently, some of the players possess highly marketable charms. Saturday night's opening was an infectious and enthusiastic occasion, and must be chalked up as an eminently successful occasion for cast and authors alike.

"MEET THE PEOPLE."

Revue in two acts and 26 scenes. Music by Jay Gorney. Lyrics by Henry Myers. Settings by Frederick Stover. Costumes by Gerda Vanderneers and Kate Lawson. Production staged by Danny Dare. Presented by the Hollywood Theater Alliance in the Grand Opera house, Saturday evening, Sept. 28, 1940.

THE PLAYERS.

Jack Albertson, Jack Boyle, Marion Colby, Elizabeth Talbot-Martin, Bernice Parks, Kenneth Patterson, Barney Phillips, Nanette Fabares, Jack Gilford, Eddie Johnson, and many others.

As is inevitable in its very nature, however, "Meet the People" is an affair of ups and downs. The better moments, adding up into at least half the evening, are delightful. A wholly professional level of expert professional entertainment is attained in a hilarious skit picturing the members of a company union listening to an uplifting lecture; in a dance-song-pantomime called "Elmer's Wedding Day," and in some of the solo contributions.

At the other extreme, the material at times gets positively corny, as in an imitation "Ballad for Americans" entitled "The Bill of Rights," and in the first act finale extolling the virtues of sandwiches. In a number of spots potentially amusing material is partly wasted or poorly aimed, because of inadequate writing, direction, staging or costuming.

Several brilliant individual bits illuminate the performance. Elizabeth Talbot-Martin rightfully stops the show with really magnificent imitations of such well worn subjects as Katharine Hepburn and Greta Garbo, as well as Mrs. Roosevelt and California's own Aimee Semple McPherson. Jack Gilford, something of a lowbrow Reginald Gardiner, gives a hilarious monolog, well written by Milt Gross, on gangster and hospital movies. Marion Colby does a superb satiric job of deadpan, expressionless torch singing.

In total substance "Meet the People," in its informality and friendly gayety, offers a good evening. Its pervasive tinge of "social significance" will neither disturb rightists nor satisfy leftists, and its publicized preoccupation with the common man seems academically professional compared to the sense of mission of "Pins and Needles."

Nearly everybody who sees "Meet the People" will like it for its hearty fun, despite its bad costumes, its intermittent amateurishness of production and direction, and its habit of lapsing from something spirited and fresh into something abysmally bromidic. It has not a distinguished score nor distinguished dancing. But it does have a healthy concern for the entertainment of its audience, and in this aim I think it succeeds very well.

Good Morning!

As a spectacle, "Brigham Young—Frontiersman" is really something to see. . . . As a human document I found it profoundly disappointing.

The film depicts the story of the Mormons. . . . It starts, with their persecution by bigots at Nauvoo, Ill., proceeds to the trial of Joseph Smith for treason, Brigham Young's championship of the fallen prophet and his assumption of leadership.

Eager to serve, but uncertain as to his "call," he nevertheless fires the Mormons with ambition, guides them in their flight across the frozen Mississippi, and otherwise thru hell, fire and high water to their final settlement on the shores of Great Salt lake.

Here the Mormons know hunger, sickness, disappointment. . . . Locusts come to devour their grain—AND—SEA GULLS arrive in clouds to eat the locusts. . . . The onslaught of these birds—they'll tell you in Utah that never before nor since have they flown so far inland—at last convinces Young and his people that he is God's chosen leader.

The subject of polygamy is hurriedly shuffled into the background. . . . An unbeliever asks Brigham who has stopped at his well for a drink: "How many——?" And without waiting for the question to be finished, the latter answers:

"Twelve." [Or was it "11?" I forget and does it matter?]

Dean Jagger in the title rôle is not particularly effective, and I thought Vincent Price the worst possible choice for Joseph Smith. Neither has the magnetic quality that is essential for mass control. . . . Mary Astor, Tyrone Power, Linda Darnell, Jane Darnell, and other cast members do the best that could be done with the script as written.

Scenery, photography are immense. And the locust and sea gull episode is certainly something. [Tho it DID inspire immoderate laughter among certain folk I know.]

See you tomorrow.

Thru the LOOKING GLASS

It's interesting that beauty advice to the career girl nowadays touches on more than the superficial things such as makeup and hairdo and manicures. Last week, for example, in two demonstrations done especially for the enlightenment of the working girl, a beauty expert did some sensible, sound talking on the down to earth [it's a horrible pun!] subject of feet and their care.

Career women, we've found, think it's unglamorous or something to admit that their feet hurt or that any but the most swish shoes are worth wearing. But in private they confess to us, often and long, that aching foot bones are driving them crazy.

The beauty expert advised foot exercises. She suggested that many of them could be done while sitting at one's desk or riding to and from work in the morning. The old "shoveling sand" exercise, which pulls up the inside arch and gives it a limbering workout, is one of these. All you do is pretend that you're shoveling sand with each foot. Try it and see what it does.

She doesn't go so far as to tell working women to wear flat heels all the time [knowing darned well that they just won't do it], but she earnestly advises them to wear low heels a good part of the time. In fact, whenever possible. She suggested, too, that the career girl keep two pairs of shoes available—a relief pair in the locker every day. The relief pair should be of a different last and it should be a cool pair.

Hot and cold foot sprays, of course, are wonderful for combating foot fatigue. Another trick she recommends is relaxing completely by resting with the feet up before dinner.

The Borrowed Cottage

By Alice Campbell

[Copyright: 1940: By Alice Campbell.]

SYNOPSIS.

Rowan Wilde, an American girl, goes to the isolated cottage of Hazel Fordyce in England to do some studying. Arriving at night, she enters the house and is frightened by footsteps. Investigating, she opens a closet door and a dead man falls out. As she rushes from the house she runs into 25 year old Stephen Smedley, a member of a publishing firm, who becomes of ill health, has come to the country for a rest. He lives near by in an old chapel. Rowan tells Stephen her story and he goes off to get his car. When he fails to return Rowan starts out to search for him and stumbles upon him prostrate. Helping him into the house, he collapsed upon the sofa. Rowan leaves him and goes to her bedroom for a nap, but is awakened by Stephen entering her room holding a butcher knife. A sharp command from her makes him drop the knife and retreat. The next morning he seems to remember nothing of the knife episode, and the dead man has disappeared. Mrs. Faithful, the housekeeper, fails to show up, but has sent Mrs. Yallilee, mother of Egbert, the caretaker, to get Rowan's breakfast. Rowan has found a brief case with a manuscript about Russia in it and is hiding it with her bloody skirt and a gun she has also found, just as the Rev. Bogge and Lord Romrytch arrive at her cottage searching for the vicar's brother Bertram, whom they say has been allowed to study in the cottage. From their conversation Rowan gathers that Bertram had assaulted the vicar's servant girl, who was engaged to Egbert.

LUNCHEON DATE.

INSTALMENT XIII.

Two imperative blasts on a motor horn sent Lord Romrytch scuttling over the lawn. The Reverend Cyprian collided with Rowan, grunted apology, and charged cumbrously back thru the passage to the Tudor room.

Lord Romrytch wheeled. "I beg your pardon!" Coming back he bestowed on her what could only be termed a nudge. "Decent fella, Boggie," he twinkled. "Ingrowing conscience, that's all. And conservative—you know? I suppose he's thinking if this brother of his lands in a mess or comes to a sticky end it'll be nasty for the Church."

"He doesn't seem to me much like a clergyman," remarked Rowan.

"Ah, but you're American, aren't you? Different breed over your side. Lady Romrytch is American. Comes from Jersey City. She's honking for me now. Why not come along down and meet her?"

"Why, thanks, Lord Romrytch; but if she's in a hurry will she want to be bothered with introductions?"

"Nonsense! Skip along."

He pushed her elbow and hurried ahead to hold open the lower gate. Taking in his spry person, hardbitten in the baggy plus fours, and the commonplace visage, she decided that a jockey who had climbed for 10 years onto a counting house stool would present much the same appearance as England's greatest public benefactor. Fantastic wealth had given him no side, nor had a title curbed the restless energy which had driven him to the top. If he and not the vicar had been on a still hunt for the missing man she would have felt far less comfortable than now.

From the gray cushions of the sumptuous car a woman raised scowling eyes above a vanity mirror. Despite a flawless skin, beaded lashes, and lemon hued curls worn in juvenile fashion, Rowan put her age down about 40.

"Dahlia, I'd like you to meet Miss Wilde. She's in lone possession of this hutch.

"How do you do?" Rowan said politely and was rewarded by a flash of enviable teeth. "Please don't spoil your game being nice to me. I see you've got your clubs."

"Trust Henry," drawled Lady Romrytch, extending mulberry tipped fingers. "If any good looking girl gets by him she's got to have speed. Say, what's the idea being down here all by your lonesome?"

Rowan explained. Lady Romrytch finished the work on her face.

"Well, well! Rather you than me. Do you golf? I can get some clubs rustled over to the course if——"

"Thanks awfully. I don't feel very energetic, I'm afraid."

The rayed eyes swept her.

"Humph, you haven't got to trim off two pounds, five ounces in a couple of days. Well, it's grand meeting you. Henry?"

Lord Romrytch left off tenderly polishing the bonnet of his car, touched a button by the driving seat, and released The Coon Can Collegians from Luxemburg broadcasting station. Against a blare of saxophones he said, "I was going to suggest getting Miss Wilde over for lunch."

Rowan gasped. Lady Romrytch managed her surprise more successfully. With a good imitation of warmth she said, "Why not? If she'll come. It'll be pot luck, of course."

"Oh, but I can't!" Rowan glanced from her blue jumper frock to Lady Romrytch's mustard yellow tweeds, molded by some tailor whose prices would soar upward from 40 guineas. "That is, I'd have to come as I am, because——"

"Well, what's wrong with that? Gosh, look at us! It's settled, Henry. Sending a car for her or what?"

"Picking her up." The man who had begun life as Henry Bickers grinned into Rowan's disconcerted eyes. "One sharp. Be ready."

The great car ground away.

Common, these two, but very kind. It would be a relief to snap right out of things for an hour or so.

Re-entering by the drive Rowan made it convenient to stroll past the Tudor windows. All the red silk curtains had been drawn, and behind them she could hear a faint, angry swish as pages were turned, once the fall of a heavy volume. Ransacking the bookcase. So the search was not for something to meet the eye. Papers, yes, but no parting message left by a prospective suicide.

Papers! What about the contents of the brief case upstairs?

In another minute she was shut in her room, hauling the leather case out of her bag. It hadn't been touched, she still didn't dare to break the seal on the envelope, but swiftly, nervously, she took a peek into the big manuscript. It seemed thoroly innocuous—a prosy, verbose account which she could not say was autobiograhical, historical, or what, only that it dealt somehow with the portion of Europe called Ukraine and contained at intervals dry tables of figures. There was a frequent recurrence of the first singular pronoun.

No, she could make nothing of it; but did she want to leave it or the other things in so vulnerable a place while she was out of the house? Stephen Smedley might have cleared out, but there was the vicar. She mistrusted any man, clergyman or not, who took the liberties this Bogge was taking with premises not his own. She also mistrusted her daily woman.

She lifted her eyes to the window. There was Stephen, now doggedly approaching along the longitudinal path. One question had been answered. He had not absconded minus his spoils.

"Go inside," she signalled. "I'm just coming down."

When he had swerved round the wall she sought desperately for a safe hiding place. Locks she felt weren't good enough. It must be somewhere no one would think of looking, a teaser in this simple house.

She craned up towards the thick, wired thatch. It sloped in a shelf not far above her head, and just here, within reach, an old bird's nest had found lodging. Raking the nest out she was able to slip her hand into a cavity unexpectedly spacious—large enough, in fact, to contain not only the brief case but her stained skirt as well. The nest she put back, corking up the hole. All above was reed thatch, compact, a guarantee against rain.

Mr. Smedley was backed against the fireplace. A shave had improved him and tho he retained the gray bags and suede lumber jacket he had put on a clean, dark blue shirt.

"Garden," said Rowan grimly. "We can't talk here."

With a sharp flicker at her he went ahead. Rowan paused at the kitchen door to inform Mrs. Yallilee she would not be lunching at home.

"We'll switch the steak and kidneys over to dinner. Take the middle of the day off, if you like."

Rowan bolted from the house, breathlessly arriving at the little lookout platform where Stephen impatiently awaited her.

"Where's the skirt?" he demanded. "If that woman finds it——"

"She won't." Rowan set her chin. "Now, then, if you don't tell me right here and now what you've done with that body, I'll——"

"Done with——? What on earth are you drivelling about?" He paused. Pretty good acting. Could it be acting at all?

Break some eggs into a pan containing a little bacon fat, stir them around like mad until they have cooked, season with salt and pepper, and serve. That may look to you like a recipe for scrambled eggs. It will do for scrambled eggs out in the open, and some cooks get pretty good results with that kind of cooking at home, but really tender, fluffy scrambled eggs aren't usually made that way.

They're made in the top of a double boiler over hot water. Usually the cook allows an egg and a half per serving, and adds a tablespoon of cream per egg. She beats eggs and cream together lightly with a fork, pours them into the top of a double boiler, in which she has melted a little butter or bacon fat, and stirs them as they cook.

She sprinkles the cooking eggs with salt and pepper, and when they have just coagulated, before the mixture becomes dry, she serves them.

EGGS SCRAMBLED IN THE SKILLET.

If you're bound to use the frying pan and not the double boiler for scrambling eggs, use very low heat, stir quickly, and take up the eggs before they get dry. It is easy to overcook them when they are prepared over direct heat. Overcooking or the use of too high heat will make them dry and tough.

VARIATIONS FOR SCRAMBLED EGGS.

1. Add a few drops of scraped onion to the eggs as they cook.
2. Use tomato juice or tomato sauce for the liquid, instead of cream.
3. Season with finely chopped onion, green pepper and pimiento. This blend is better for luncheon eggs than for breakfast eggs.
4. Spread hot buttered toast with deviled ham, anchovy paste or sardine paste, and serve the eggs on top. Excellent luncheon dish.
5. Add small dice of cheese to the eggs when scrambling them.
6. Scramble cooked shrimp with the eggs.
7. Add chopped cooked bacon or ham to eggs while cooking them.
8. Serve the eggs on buttered toast over hot asparagus tips. Or add cut cooked asparagus to the eggs in cooking them.
9. Add chopped chives or parsley to the cooking eggs. If parsley is used, add it just before serving. If chives are chosen, cook them with the mixture.
10. Accompany scrambled eggs with broiled fruit, jam or preserves. Fruit juice may be used as the liquid in the eggs, if desired.
11. Add drained canned tomatoes to the eggs while cooking.
12. Add shredded dried beef, fish flakes or freshened finnan haddie to eggs while scrambling them.
13. Add crumbled, cooked sausage.
14. Add whole kernel or cream style canned corn to the eggs. A little chopped cooked bacon and a dash of onion juice make this dish an excellent one for a late supper.
15. Add sliced, sautéed mushrooms to the eggs. A little chili sauce or catsup may be used to help season them.

Housewives will think of other scrambled egg variations, but it should be remembered that scrambled eggs at breakfast rarely need adornment, and that most variations are better served as luncheon or supper dishes.

Sept. 30, 1940.

Universal Day—A progressive day for those who can combine the practical and the artistic issues.

September—This is the last day of a truly five-month in a five-year. All the strife and surprises, changes and upsets, which is what five brings, filled this month chockful. England and Germany had their tensions and nerve raids, and even the elements helped keep the picture unpredictable. One more monarch left his throne hurriedly. Here in this country there were the ups and downs in the political scene, and aviation was strongly to the fore as five rules aviation. Too many "sparks" from the brilliant five brought fires and explosions. The world isn't likely to forget this five-month in a hurry.

Year Ahead—If this is your birthday, you should get busy now preparing for greater activity and business expansion.

Minor Repercussions.

A fine private collection of rare books and first editions has been expected in Chicago. It had belonged to an Englishman now in India who owns a home on the east coast of England. When that section of the coast was ordered evacuated, he cabled his London representatives to remove certain treasures, including the library, from the house, and to dispose of the books if a buyer could be found. The London representative of a Chicago store, having notified the store that the library was on the market, was given orders to purchase it. Final negotiations were made in a funk hole, as the Englishman called it, and the contract, too, signed below ground. The books were being packed for shipment to America when a German bomb struck the building in which they were being packed.

"Library completely destroyed by German bomb," said a terse cable from London to Chicago.

Cuff Notes.

The Italian musical classicist, Corelli, is the latest of the old masters to be musically victimized by Alec Templeton. His new composition is Corelli in the old Corral. [Corelli wrote many chorales.] . . . A check for $1,000 from one contributor and a 25c donation from an entire family were received at British war relief headquarters at 53 West Jackson the same day. . . . There are many heart warming stories in connection with the decorators' British war relief shop at 615 North Michigan avenue, which raised more than $15,000 last week. The donations pour in singly and by truckloads, and the givers also buy—sometimes one another's things. A bookcase sent from a Lake Forest home was bought by a friend of the donor in town. A Sheffield cake tray that was among the donations of an architect who gave days of his time arranging the shop was promptly bought by his best friends. Even the lad Mrs. Edmond Raftery brought in from the Little Traveler in Geneva, Ill., to help wrap packages bought, too—a wall map that hung near the package wrapping booth. One of the small objects snapped up—a Victorian umbrella with pictures of Victoria as a young girl and as an old lady on the handle and the initials H. R. H. in gold. It will be a present to Helen Hayes, collector of Victoriana.

Mr. D. S. Wheaton lives on Wheaton street, Wheaton, Ill. . . . Try chocolate ice cream and lemon ice for a pleasing combination. . . . The famed Lake Zurich Golf club uses blankets made from the wool of their own flock of sheep. The wool is sent each year to a factory down east and members buy the blankets not needed by the clubhouse. . . . Patron saint of the club is St. Barnabas, and his portrait, done by Milo Winter, hangs above the fireplace. The face of St. Barnabas is, however, that of the late John Manley, Chaucer expert at the University of Chicago. . . . A complete set of actual autographs of all the 56 signers of the Declaration of Independence, including the two rarest American historical characters, Thomas Lynch and Button Gwinnett, is on sale in the book department of a loop store.

Dedicate Recreation Area in Back of Yards District

A recreation area two blocks long at 47th street and Damen avenue in the congested back of the yards neighborhood was dedicated yesterday by Bishop Bernard J. Sheil. The center is a project of the Back-o'-the-Yards neighborhood council, which supplies hot lunches for 1,500 needy children daily. The dedication was the high point of a fair being held on the grounds to raise funds for the council. The fair will close this evening.

Frederic John Mullins of Salem, O. Miss Anderson attended the Faulkner school and the University of Chicago, where she was a member of the Quadranglers. She is a granddaughter of former State Senator James E. MacMurray. Mr. Mullins also attended the University of Chicago. The wedding will take place early this winter.

Winter Theater Season to Start this Evening.

There already have been several theater openings this fall, but with the opening tonight of the Theater Guild and American Theater society's series of plays inveterate theatergoers feel that the winter theater season really is starting. "Ladies in Retirement" is the play that is opening the series. Flora Robson, the English actress, will be making her first Chicago appearance on the stage of the Harris theater in the leading rôle.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles True Adams and Mr. and Mrs. Robert M. Adams, whose names have headed the list of guild subscribers for many years, have taken tickets again this year. Mrs. Emmons Blaine holds tickets for opening nights and for Wednesday nights as well. The Jacob Bischofs, the Charles Henry Browns, the Ralph Bards, Dr. and Mrs. Loyal Davis, the Maurice P. Geraghtys, the Errett Van Nices, Frank McNair, Mr. and Mrs. Frank S. Sims, the Orville J. Taylors, the Charles H. Swifts, and the Marvin B. Pools are others who have subscription tickets and who will help to make the Harris audience a gala spectacle tonight.

The Chicago Council on Foreign Relations has cards out for a luncheon meeting on Friday at which the speaker will be Gen. Robert E. Wood. Gen. Wood's subject will be "Our Foreign Policy." A graduate of the United States Military academy, Gen. Wood served in Panama as chief quartermaster during the construction of the Panama canal. He also served as a member of the general staff in France during the world war.

Broome Sisters' Debut Date Moved Forward.

Mrs. John A. Spoor and Mr. and Mrs. Thornhill Broome have changed the date of a tea they will give to introduce their debutante granddaughters and daughters, Miss Elizabeth and Miss Caryl Broome, from Nov. 15 to Nov. 12. The sisters want to be in New Orleans for a debut ball on the night of the 16th, so their own party was advanced. The tea is to be given in the home of Mrs. Spoor. Mrs. Spoor and the Broomes, whose home is in Pass Christian, Miss., will give a supper dance at the Casino on Nov. 22 for the buds.

Announcement is made of the approaching marriage next Saturday of Miss Lady Eleanor Litsinger and Eugene Earl Mancinelli. The ceremony will take place at 10:30 o'clock in the morning in Howe Memorial chapel on the Northwestern university campus and Mr. Mancinelli and his bride, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Robert Litsinger, will leave immediately for Biloxi and Pass Christian, Miss. Only the immediate families will be present at the ceremony. Miss Alice Howell of Cleveland will be Miss Litsinger's attendant. Ralph Mancinelli will be his brother's best man. Mr. Mancinelli and his bride will make their home in Evanston.

Of interest to their Chicago friends is the announcement Mr. and Mrs. Leander H. La Chance of Glendora, Cal., are making of the marriage on Aug. 31 of their daughter, Helen, to Paul Van Deusen, son of Julian Van Deusen of Pasadena. The bride, accompanied by her father, was here this summer visiting her sister, Mrs. Albert E. Widdifield of Riverside, and her brother and sister-in-law, the Donald La Chances of Kenilworth. Mr. Van Deusen and his bride are at home in Pasadena after a wedding trip to Mexico.

Mr. and Mrs. Nelson L. Barnes Jr., yesterday became the parents of a son, who has been named Nelson L. III. The baby was born in Passavant hospital. Mrs. Barnes is the former Miss Clarice Hamill.

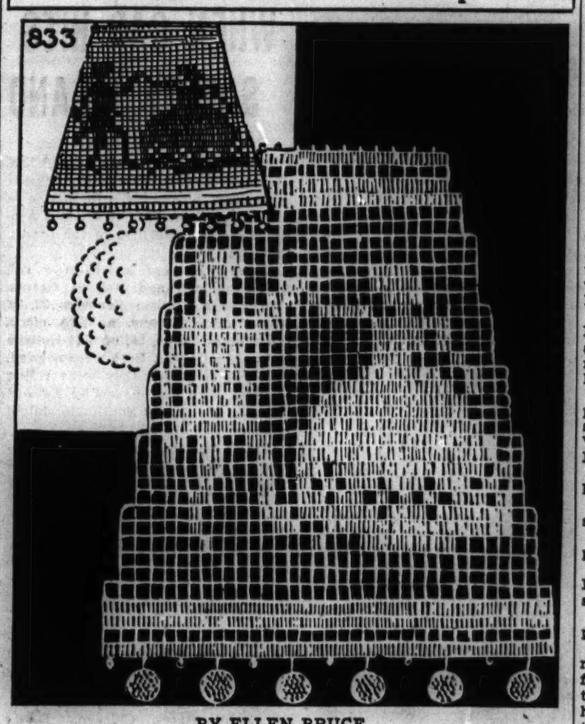
Archbishop Stritch Opens Season of Carroll Forum

Archbishop Samuel A. Stritch yesterday opened the fourth season of the Charles Carroll forum, at the Palmer House, with a plea for the laity to support the forum as an important educational agency. More than 1,600 persons were present. The Rev. James Magner, of the Catholic university, Washington, D. C., founder of the forum, presided. He will retain his chairmanship and will commute from Washington to take charge of sessions. The forum presented to him a purse to pay travel expenses.

Crocheted Shade for Lamp.



BY ELLEN BRUCE.

Dainty crocheted boudoir lamps are instantaneously appealing and easy to create. This pattern is suitable for any shade ranging from 20 to 31 inches in circumference around the lower edge. Crocheted ball fringe finishes it. The instructions include directions for creating figures developed in crochet work, with illustrations of stitches.

For instructions in crocheting the boudoir lamp shade, No. 833, send 10 cents in stamps or coin to the Needlework Bureau, Chicago Tribune, 220 Fifth avenue, New York City.

Looking at Hollywood
By John Chapman

Diary of a Movie Correspondent.

Hollywood, Sept. 29 Monday.—Out to the cowboy lot, Republic, where they have a new hand, Jimmy Durante, who is working on "Melody Ranch" with Gene Autry and Ann Miller. Jimmy confesses he is terrified at the thought of having to ride a horse, but finally he has to go thru with it. He must ride down a cowtown street between Autry and Miss Miller. Gene spurs his animal to a gallop toward the camera and the other two nags, as horses will, gallop, too. The moment the trio are out of camera range Jimmy's scream of "Cut-ut!" convulses everybody on the lot. . . . Only Durante and some real punchers such as Yakima Canutt have genuine suntans; the other actors have theirs put on in the makeup department. . . . In the evening with W. Bolton to bowl at Westwood, and in the next alley is Harold Lloyd, an inveterate bowling nut. On the screen he always looked pleasant, befuddled and funny. In an alley, minus the glasses and with a day's whiskers showing slightly blue, he looks grimly determined as he piles up the spares and strikes.

Tuesday: To Pathé's Culver City lot to watch Orson Welles direct a snow sequence for "Citizen Kane." The snow is deep around a house and front yard, and in the middle of the yard is a snow man. The stuff is made, they tell me, of plaster with soda in it. It fizzes up and when it settles it becomes porous and can be molded. A sprinkling of gypsum over the top provides the glitter of real snow. . . . Welles' sprained ankle is about well and, if he'd remember to shave, he'd look handsomer than he ever did in New York because he's almost slender. Diet, exercise, and going on the wagon have reduced him 40 pounds. . . . Not shaving is one of Orson's favorite pastimes. He has never owned a razor. . . . I am told Welles is broke, having used up or set aside for taxes all of the $150,000 R. K. O. began paying him when "Kane" started. But shooting is nearly completed and Orson will immediately start another picture—preferably a small budget one "on location" [location films are cheaper]—and draw the down payment on another 150 grand.

Wednesday: Out to Pathé again for another look at Welles in action. This time he's shooting an interior, in which a father and mother sign over their 5 year old son to a bank. The bank brings up the boy to be Welles, and part of the plot is that it does a lad no good to be raised by a financial institution, even if he does go to Groton and Harvard. . . . Over to Paramount for a chat with Gene Markey, who is producing the Orrin Tucker-Bonnie Baker musical, "You're the One." We watch a recording, which is a weird performance. Four young men huddle 'round a mike in a big sound studio. They all wear earphones. The studio is as still as a church yard, but the young men are jigging up and down. Suddenly they burst into a phrase of song. Then more silence, more jigging, and another moment of vocalizing. What they are doing is fitting a chorus onto the sound track of a piece played some days before by the Tucker band. Picture shooting starts next week—and then they'll go before a camera and fit action to the newly married sound tracks. A simple business, the movies!

Thursday: To the Warner lot to see a final process shot of Humphrey Bogart and Ida Lupino in "High Sierra." It's an automobile chase. Tomorrow Bogart and Mayo Methot will rent a schooner and sail to Catalina for a week's holiday. . . . Afterward, some one tells me Spencer Tracy has made a small fortune in extra bonuses he collects if he jumps from one assignment to the next without a rest.

Friday: The Frank Nugents and Tom Petteys for dinner. Pettey, who quit the Hays office to head the Hollywood bureau for PM, has now left that post. Nugent, New York movie critic doing a year's writing stint at 20th Century-Fox, says he intends to go back to the old job after the year is up—but that he likes Hollywood better than he thought he would.

Saturday: Remember the society couple who got stuck in the parachute jump at the world's fair last year? Well, Alfred Hitchcock has worked the episode into "Mr. and Mrs. Smith." So I go to RKO to watch Carole Lombard and Gene Raymond make it. Backgrounds were made by a Hitchcock crew in New York, and now they're fitting action to them. In one scene the actors are suspended in a parachute chair from the top of the stage, and for the 30 minutes it takes to make the shot the studio buys a $250,000 insurance policy on Miss Lombard—and less on Raymond—from Lloyd's. The insurance gag is an old stunt, but this one is real. It costs $100 a minute. I can't help wondering what would happen if Carole did fall and break her beautiful neck. Would Lloyd's mournfully sound the Lutine's bell?

Most Effective Cure for Baby Talk: Ignore It

By GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.
[Copyright: 1940: News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

In answering this letter I am taking for granted that no new baby has appeared on the scene to account even partly for this little girl's habit:

"My problem is this: Betsy soon will be 4 years old. She was in the hospital for 12 days. She is home with me now, has been for a few weeks now, but since I have had her home she has been talking baby talk.

"I tried to ignore it, but I give up. Now I am correcting her, but to no avail. The more I correct her the more she does it. Mrs. Bevans, please let me know what I can do.

"Before Betsy went to the hospital she talked that way, but now she does it more than she did it then. Will Betsy snap out of it herself? I hope so.

"Please tell me what to do and how to do it."

I'd suggest a few simple, common sense measures.

One, ignore the baby talk completely.

Two, stop noticing cute little things Betsy does or repeating clever things she says.

Three, talk to her more as a companion, less as a very little child.

Four, and last, let her "help mother" like a "big girl." Praise her for it. Buy her a few new and older toys and books. Tell Daddy what a help his big daughter has been thru the day. Don't ignore Betsy, but center her attention on other things and people.

These measures should work. And, of course, school, nursery, or kindergarten probably would effect a cure if nothing else was tried, since no child likes to be considered "a baby" by her peers in age.

Chicago Symphony Offers Tickets for Popular Concerts

The 15th anniversary season of the Chicago Symphony orchestra will open Oct. 10, and the popular concert series begins Oct 19 and will continue on 14 alternate Saturday nights until the season ends. Applications for blocks of tickets for the popular priced concerts already are being received from business firms and industrial plants, who will resell them to their employés. Henry E. Voegeli, orchestra manager, said that the only requirement for firms wishing tickets is that they must take at least 30 for each concert. The orchestra, conducted by Dr. Frederick Stock, plays in Orchestra hall.

Swain's Tongue Tied by Quarrel of Newlyweds

BY DORIS BLAKE.
[Copyright: 1940: News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

Perplexed tells us of her deep affection for a certain young man who, she thought, was on the verge of proposing to her when she made the mistake of taking him over to call on a recently married couple. On their arrival they found the newlyweds not speaking to each other, and an unpleasant evening was had by all. On the way home, Perplexed's young man said: "Gosh, scenes like that scare a fellow out of wanting to get married. That's a couple I would have thought could get on amicably together."

The young man must live to learn, of course, that even newlyweds will get into hot debates without its threatening marriage necessarily. And their keenest differences are likely to occur in that first trying period of adjustment.

However, the moral of our tale is that it would be better to take a suitor, from whom a proposal is desired, to a home or homes where one is reasonably sure there will be no quarreling. It is confusing to men, who continue to assume the major responsibility rôle, to see, hear, and read of so much marital strife in our midst. With some of them, it may require a deal of offsetting with examples of congenial living.

But, after all, the major number of marriages do survive satisfactorily enough so the young men needn't be so frightened by headline news of divorces.

SUBPENA HORNER AIDS, RECORDS IN 2 PER CENT QUIZ

Hunt Resumed for 'Little Black Book.'

BY HAL FOUST.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., Sept. 29.—The hunt for the "little black book" treasured by the late F. Lynden Smith turned this afternoon toward the office of the invalid governor, Henry Horner. Notary subpenas were issued for his two private secretaries, Arthur P. O'Brien and Mrs. James V. Cornwall, for them to testify in a suit for accounting of the statehouse machine's 2 per cent club.

Mrs. Margie Spengler.

The subpenas command these secretaries to produce all records in their possession of collections or disbursements of this campaign fund raised by exacting 2 per cent from the paychecks of state employes. The command covers the original or any copies of the "little black book," confidential notations of collections and disbursements kept by Smith.

Reveal Copy Made.

Smith, director of public works and former campaign manager for the statehouse machine, told a few intimates before his mysterious death here on March 9 that last December a copy of the "little black book" was made for the governor's office. At that time he was estranged from the bedside cabinet headed by Finance Director Samuel L. Nudelman.

Since Smith's unexplained death in a bathtub of a Springfield hospital, no one has admitted knowing the whereabouts of this book—and this is the first published report of a copy ever having been made.

A third notary subpenas was issued for Mrs. Margie Metz Spengler, who was Smith's private secretary for four years until last December. As a witness before a legislative investigation committee last June, she denied knowing anything about the "little black book."

Saw Nothing, Heard Nothing.

In the legislative inquiry Mrs. Spengler won a title as a perfect confidential secretary, maintaining that she saw nothing, heard nothing and could tell nothing of Smith's affairs. Altho from Smith's home county, Livingston, she thereafter received a Nash-Kelly patronage job in the Chicago subway commissioner's office, where she is now employed.

While Attorneys D. Logan Giffin and Alfred F. Newkirk were obtaining these subpenas, they also announced that information had come to them of new and heavy campaign shakedowns of civil service guards at the Joliet and Statesville penitentiaries. Their suit, brought in behalf of three former guards, alleges that the plaintiffs were forced to contribute 2 per cent of their salaries, in violation of civil service law, and that some of this campaign fund was fraudulently diverted by some of its managers.

BARKEEP UNION GETS REPORT ON FINANCES TODAY

Approximately 1,000 bartenders will meet in the Morrison hotel at noon today to hear a report on the affairs and finances of their organization, local 278 of the Bartenders and Beverage Dispensers' union. The union is being administered by a receiver appointed Aug. 16 by Judge Robert Jerome Dunne in Circuit court.

Maj. Gen. Roy D. Keehn, the receiver, and his assistant, Maj. James U. Sammis, announced they will make reports at the meeting. The two were placed in charge of the union after its business agent, George B. McLane, charged in court that Frank [The Enforcer] Nitti had seized control of it.

Keehn's report will contain assurances that the union treasury has not been looted. There is on hand in banks, to the credit of the union, $85,000 in cash and bonds having a face value of $54,000, according to a recent computation.

A grand jury investigation of the union is expected to be concluded today and William Crawford, assistant state's attorney, said he intends to ask that indictments be voted.

Boulder Dam Valve Test Spills Torrent of Water

Boulder City, Nev., Sept. 29 (AP).—A mighty torrent of water, 30 million gallons a minute, was released from Boulder dam yesterday in a test to make sure the 12 giant outlet valves would function in an emergency. The water cascaded in a huge arc 183 feet to the Colorado river below, creating a twin falls 13 feet higher than Niagara. Half the outlets are on the Nevada side, half on the Arizona. The roaring falls caused a mist which made it necessary for motorists in the area to use the windshield wipers.

Appling's Bid for Batting Title Fails.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

The White Sox's bid for a clear title to fourth place instead of a tie met up yesterday with the ambitions of Elden Auker, who fashioned his sixteenth victory and thus provided himself with an extra talking point on the question of his 1941 salary. Auker accomplished his purpose in leading the Browns to a 2 to 1 triumph in Comiskey park in the season's finale. Meanwhile, Boston's Red Sox won another pair from the Athletics to climb into fourth place alongside of the Chicagoans.

Auker was not the only gentleman who had reason to keep his own welfare in mind. Luke Appling and Rip Radcliff went into battle believing there was a chance to capture the American league's batting title. The little Brownie fly chaser faded completely before John Rigney. But Appling set out with a rush, producing singles in his first two appearances. In his third he was out on a grounder and in his last was melted down when Lucadello made a one-handed catch of a liner. So Luke finished second with .348 to Joe DiMaggio's .350, and Radcliff dropped to .341.

It was a sad day, too, for Rigney, who was forced to accept his 18th defeat. He won 15.

Four Hits for One Chicago Run.

The Sox scored first, but the run put a terrific dent in their hit total. Four safeties were burned up in the production of the tally in the second inning. With one out, Appling beat out a hit back of second. Wright's single sent Appling to third and he scored on a hit off Auker's glove by Rosenthal. Kennedy flied out and an infield single by Rigney loaded the bases, but Kolloway fanned.

Rigney had a hitless job under way until Berardino opened the third with a triple to the scoreboard in left. Swift was the victim of strikes, but Auker dropped a single into short left, scoring Berardino. Cullenbine also singled and Wright's bad throw put the runners on third and second, but Lucadello fanned and Kennedy ended the inning by perpetrating one handed robbery on Radcliff's booming drive close to the bag.

Error Gives Browns a Run.

Judnich's single in the fourth led to what proved to be the winning run. After Clift had struck out, Judnich stole second despite Tresh's perfect throw to Appling. McQuinn singled to right. Judnich was ready to stop at third, but when he observed Wright juggling the ball, he went on home.

The Sox overlooked a swell bet in their half of the fourth. Appling led off with his second hit and was safe at second when Auker pegged Wright's tap into center field. Rosenthal lofted to Judnich and Appling elected to go to third after the catch, but Judnich's arm kept Luke from making a success of the bold venture.

In the Wake of the News

BY ARCH WARD.

THIS is the week the United States pays tribute to the most dynamic personality intercollegiate football has developed. . . . It is significant that Knute Rockne, nine years after his death, this week-end will attract to South Bend a crowd greater than ever turned out to see him or his famous teams in life. . . . "Knute Rockne—All-American," which will have its world première Friday night, is something more than an interesting motion picture. . . . It's the story of sportsmanship, Christian charity, and Americanism. . . . Rockne, a Norwegian immigrant, came up the hard way. . . . He reached the height of his fame at a time when America was becoming rich and fat and soft, but he never was an apostle of the easy life. . . . Like scores of other football coaches who are helping to develop a virile, sturdy type of citizen, Rockne constantly preached that there was no royal road to success. . . . He taught that individual strength, like a nation's strength, is developed by sacrifice and toil. . . . The scene in which he defends football before a board of educators who are attacking the sport is justification enough for the entire picture. . . . It will make a lump come into the throat of every supporter of amateur sport. . . . They say that Pat O'Brien, who plays the title rôle, was lucky to be chosen. . . . We happen to know he feels that way about it. . . . But there's another side. . . . Friends of Knute Rockne—and that means almost every football fan in the land—are lucky that a man of O'Brien's talent and enthusiasm got the job. . . .

By the way, did any of you baseball fans file those national magazines which last April revealed how the Boston Red Sox were going to win the 1940 American league pennant? . . . Somehow we mislaid our copies. . . . Ted Lyons' nickname for Pete Jablonowski Appleton is "Halloween Puss." . . . Coach Howard Jones is making radical changes in his football system at Southern California this year. . . . In the past his quarter back has done 90 per cent of the running, passing, and kicking, but now he is using the right half back as the back man on left formation plays, and he also is making the quarter back and full back positions interchangeable. . . . Not since his early days at Iowa has Jones used any one other than the quarter back as a triple threat. . . . The presence of such expert ball carriers as Bob Robertson, right half back, and Full Backs Jack Banta and Mel Bleeker probably is responsible for his departure from old methods. . . . Tom Kelly, who is in charge of special police at all Chicago race tracks, was welterweight boxing champion of the American Expeditionary Force during the world war. . . . Sportsman's park, home of the St. Louis Browns and Cardinals, still is known by old time St. Louisans as "the park that Rube Waddell built." . . . Owner-Coach Bert Bell of the Philadelphia Eagles becomes irked at reporters who refer to his helpers, Heinie Miller and Jim MacMurdo, as assistant coaches. . . . The proper designation, says Bell, is co-coaches.

VICTORIOUS BIG 9 TEAMS PARADE FOUR STAR BACKS

Texas at Indiana.
South Dakota at Iowa.

BY WILFRID SMITH.

While four Western conference teams were sweeping their nonconference games Saturday in the most impressive inaugural in nearly a decade, these same squads paraded four half backs who may be worthy of highest mythical honors in late November.

Minnesota turned back a highly rated Washington team in Minneapolis, 19 to 14, a battle in which the lead changed three times in the second period. With superior man power Ohio State's defending champions scored 27 points in the second half to whip Pittsburgh, 30 to 7.

Purdue's youngsters, with speed and passing, routed Butler, 28 to 0. In Berkeley, Cal., Michigan astounded its partisans with a 41 to 0 victory over California.

Franck Alert on Defense, Too.

Minnesota presented George Franck, its brilliant right half, who also calls Minnesota plays. Franck scored two touchdowns, returning Washington's kickoff for the winning points and then saving the game in the fourth period with a determined defensive rush that knocked Ernie Steele and his convoy blocker, Rudy Mucha, out of bounds when it seemed Steele would complete his run to the Gopher goal.

Don Scott, Ohio State's triple threat back, pitched two touchdown passes against Pitt and otherwise led the Buckeye attack which accomplished as much by alertness as by definite plan.

At Purdue, Mike Byelene, fleet right half back, proved he had lost none of his effectiveness. Paired with Johnny Galvin on the varsity and supported by Full Back John Petty, the Boilermaker star led the 65 yard assault that opened the scoring.

Big Day for Tom Harmon.

Michigan's Tom Harmon carried the torch in the debacle at California. Harmon took the Bears' initial kickoff 94 yards for a touchdown. In the second period Tom returned a punt 72 yards for Michigan's second touchdown, and followed with an 86 yard sprint from scrimmage for the third score. In the last half Harmon plunged eight yards for another touchdown and completed Michigan's scoring with a forward pass for the sixth touchdown of the game.

Saturday's engagements prepared Purdue and Ohio State for their meeting this week. This is the only Western conference game.

At Columbus Saturday, it will be Purdue's speed versus Ohio State's defensive strength and Scott's passing attack. Experience favors the Buckeyes.

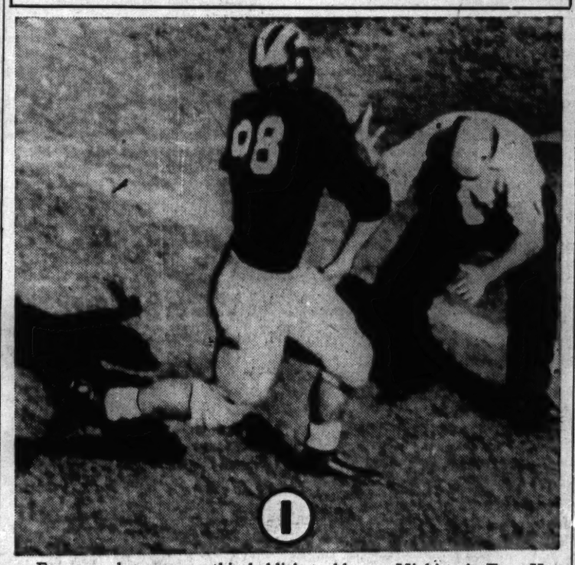
Surprises in East and South.

Minnesota carries on this week in its annual series with Nebraska, which is highly favored to take the Big Six championnship.

Two reversals of public opinion were registered in Saturday's play. Principally because Tulane had been undefeated in the regular season last fall and had shared the Southeastern conference title with Tennessee, the Green Wave had been figured to whip Boston college, but lost, 27 to 7.

Since Southern California on several occasions has been a notoriously slow starter, there had been a suspicion in some quarters that the Trojans were not ready. Washington State's Cougars battled Southern California to a 14 to 14 tie that may eventually complicate the Rose bowl setting.

Even a Fan Tries to Stop Harmon



From nowhere comes this baldish tackler as Michigan's Tom Harmon nears the end of 86 yard touchdown run in the second quarter of his team's 41 to 0 victory over California in Berkeley Saturday.

Contact! California's twelfth man shows how a man like Harmon should be tackled. Surely this will pull the willowy Wolverine to earth.

But, no! As tho he hadn't noticed the slight interruption, Harmon's away for a touchdown—his third, by the way. He made four in all.

Pop and Mom Harmon Greet Tom in Chicago

The Michigan football team, still jubilant over Saturday's 41 to 0 triumph over California in Berkeley, arrived on three chartered United Air Lines mainliners at 11:30 o'clock last night. Twenty minutes later the three planes roared on to Ann Arbor.

Tom Harmon, Michigan back who scored four touchdowns, was met by a delegation of 20 townspeople from Gary, Ind., including his mother and father, Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Harmon. Tom jumped out of the plane carrying a cake which was given him in San Francisco Saturday on his 21st birthday. He had saved it until he and his parents could take the first helpings.

Tom said he was surprised and amused when a fan tried to tackle him near the goal line when he was on the way to his third touchdown. Tom ventured a guess that the ambitious spectator had been drinking something stronger than soda pop.

"California has a good team," he said. "We were just lucky to get some touchdowns early and break their morale."

Coach Fritz Crisler expressed the same sentiment, adding that the performance of his team was much better than he had expected. He said he was surprised that California did not offer stiffer resistance.

Fifty-four in all were in the party.

TIGER SLUGGERS HOLD EDGE FOR WORLD SERIES

But Can They Hit Reds' Star Pitchers?

[This is the second of a series of three stories discussing the world series between the Cincinnati Reds and Detroit Tigers which opens Wednesday in Cincinnati.]

BY EDWARD BURNS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Cincinnati, O., Sept. 29.—The dopesters, those fellows who know how things are going to turn out before they happen, are assembling here in droves. But somehow there is an unusual amount of restraint.

Many of the experts still haven't recovered poise lost as a result of having picked the Yankees. In fact, most of the experts last winter picked the Yanks to take four straight from the Reds in this fall's world series, even as they did in 1939. Naturally there must be some readjustments.

One line of reasoning is that the Detroit Tigers, who beat out the Yanks for the American league championship, should be able to beat the National league team the Yanks were scheduled to lick four straight.

They're Unpredictable.

With the usual allowances for any player getting hot during the series, tho tepid in the regular season, this year's dope hinges mostly on what two great hitters, Hank Greenberg and Rudy York, can do against two great pitchers, Paul Derringer and Bucky Walters.

On certain days in the American league season, pitchers of mediocre rating have been able to make both Greenberg and York look helpless. And on other days, and many other days, the ranking pitchers have seen their slickest pitches banged far, far out of the reach of the fleetest fielders.

Greenberg has hit 41 homers this year and York 32, including the one that clinched the pennant. Still, it wasn't a case of homers or no count with either of the big bruisers. Greenberg has made 194 hits and driven in 150 runs and York 186 hits, with 132 runs batted in.

A Matter to Ponder.

A total of 282 runs batted in by the No. 4 and No. 5 hitters in one batting order is something to cause even great pitchers like Derringer and Walters to ponder. You can discount total hits in one way and another. Some gents, as we in Chicago know too well, can hit like everything with no one on base. But when you're talking about a money slugger, look at his runs batted in total.

If Greenberg and York don't bat in runs in the impending world series, it won't be because they are choking. Some thought Greenberg had a little tonsil trouble in the 1934 and 1935 world series, but his record this year indicates he has been breathing freely at all times.

It seems a bit funny to hear most of the offense dope centering on two Tigers, neither one of which is Charley Gehringer. Charley will be very much of a threat at bat especially in the games played in Briggs stadium, which has a right field screen much more in his range than the one here. Gehringer batted .314 this season.

Don't Forget McCosky.

Detroit partisans are looking to Barney McCosky as the gent most likely to run wild in the series. And this youngster might do it. He has a batting average of .337, only two points under Greenberg and 16 points higher than York. He has made 195 hits [not including today], nine more than York and one more than Greenberg.

In thinking about offense, we seem to have emphasized the power of the Tigers while ignoring the Reds. This emphasis is justified to some extent by the fact the Tigers led the American league with .288 while the Reds were fifth in the National league with .264. It is beside the point just now that the Reds led the National league with fielding while the Tigers were sixth in their league in fielding.

BY GEORGE STRICKLER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Milwaukee, Wis., Sept. 29. — A semblance of order was restored in the western division of the National Football league today when the Green Bay Packers moved back into first place by halting the Chicago Cardinals. Scoring two touchdowns and a field goal in the first period and two touchdowns in the third, the Packers turned back the Cardinals, 31 to 6, before 20,234 in State Fair park.

Cecil Isbell brought the Packers their first touchdown on a one yard smash at tackle and later in the first period passed 35 yards to Don Hutson for another. Early in the third period he definitely closed the door on the Cardinals' last hope by breaking thru the line for 39 yards and the third touchdown.

Hinkle Kicks Goal.

The remainder of the Packers' scoring was done by Clark Hinkle, who kicked a field goal from the 31 yard line in the first period and added two points after touchdowns; by Tiny Engebretsen and Hutson, who kicked an extra point apiece, and by Joe Laws, who went nine yards with a pass from Rookie Hal Van Every late in the third period. A few moments later Laws was carried from the field to a hospital where it was learned he had suffered a badly wrenched left knee. Laws will be kept out of the lineup for about three weeks.

It was the first defeat in four starts for the gallant little band of Cardinals, who sought desperately to shake off the weariness and letdown that followed their surprising 21 to 7 victory over the Chicago Bears Wednesday night. The spirit was willing but the attack was weak, except for a moment in the second period when an intercepted pass set up a touchdown and again in the final minute of the game when 145 pound Bobby Kellogg of Tulane launched a one man attack that carried fifty-five yards.

Christiansen Goes Over.

Marty Christiansen, rookie full back from Minnesota, scored the touchdown on a fourth down smash at the line that barely gained the required three inches. Hugh McCullough's attempted place kick for the extra point was blocked.

Green Bay, in scoring its second league victory in three starts, was far from the football team that defeated the All-Stars in Chicago and five days later whipped the Washington Redskins on this same Fair Grounds gridiron. But after a shaky first period

REDS WIN 100TH GAME BY BEATING PIRATES, 11 TO 3

Third Team Since 1913 to Accomplish Feat.

Cincinnati, O., Sept. 29 (AP).—The champion Cincinnati Reds ended their National league conquests today by trouncing the Pittsburgh Pirates, 11 to 3, and becoming one of three teams since 1913 to reach the 100 mark in victories.

In their parting shot before entering the world series Wednesday, the Reds started a bombardment early in the game and never let up. The St. Louis Cardinals of 1931 won 101 games and the Cubs of 1935 an even 100.

Red Stars Injured.

The season came to a close with two, and possibly three, of the Reds' regulars on the hospital list. Catcher Ernie Lombardi is out with a sprained ankle and may not be able to play against the Tigers at all. If not, his place will be taken by Jimmy Wilson, who is 40 years old and one of the smartest catchers in the business.

He had been coach of the Reds until Catcher Willard Hershberger committed suicide. Wilson was then transferred to the active player list. He is not in Lombardi's class as a power hitter.

Lonnie Frey, regular second baseman, was not even in uniform today. He suffered a broken toe on his right foot Friday when the heavy iron lid fell from a water cooler in the dugout. Eddie Joost, a weak hitter, is Frey's understudy. Manager Bill McKechnie said he did not know whether either Lombardi or Frey would be able to take part in the series.

Ripple Hurts Wrist.

To add to the Reds' woes, Jim Ripple, the only outfielder hitting above .300, was hit on the right wrist by Elmer Rambert, Pirate rookie pitcher, in today's game. Later, X-ray examination showed no bones were broken and McKechnie believes Ripple will be able to play in the series.

Despite these injuries the Cincinnati sentiment remained undimmed. The townspeople weren't seething with excitement the way they were this time last year, and as far as could be learned there was no betting going on. However, Crosley field is sold out for the series except for the 4,500 bleacher seats that will go on sale the day of the game, and a few hundred standing room tickets.

Budge Beats Perry for Pro Tennis Crown

Donald Budge of Oakland, Cal., won the national professional singles championship by defeating Fred Perry of Beverly Hills, Cal., yesterday, 6-3, 5-7, 6-4, 6-3. Then he teamed up with his vanquished opponent to defeat William Tilden of Los Angles and Vincent Richards of New York for the doubles title. The 14th annual tournament's windup, at the Chicago Town and Tennis club was witnessed by a crowd of 4,000.

The 25 year old Budge and the 29 year old Perry were too much for their veteran opponents in the doubles. The Tilden-Richards pair made a battle of it thruout the first set, but after tying the match at 5-all, dropped the next two games and the set.

It was Budge and Perry in the second set, the Californians romping off with a 6-3 victory. The veterans came back in the final set. Tilden and Richards led 4-1 in the final set before Budge and Perry put on steam to tie the match at 5-all. Tilden and Richards took the lead again, but the match was tied at 6-all and 7-all. Budge and Perry won the next two games, and the match and title, 9-7.

Adventurers.

I love adventurers. The man who bolts
The boundary that would bind and dwarf his soul,
And sprints ahead to leave behind the dolts
Who doubt that he will ever reach his goal,
Is my hero. And I admire a man,
Footsore and bramble torn, who got his scars
By braving hidden hazards as he ran—
Altho he stumbled reaching for the stars.
For what would be our plane of living now
Were it not for adventurers who went
Upstanding thru the storm to disallow
Defeat until their quest brought betterment?
The good that is and is to be occurs,
And always has, thru brave adventurers.

—Nicholas Lloyd Ingraham.

It Takes All Kinds.

Have read that President Robert [Mustn't Play Football] Hutchins and the University of Chicago are going to aid in defense plans, but there wasn't a word about offense. Maybe that has been discarded.

LIONS DEFEAT RAMS, 6-0, FOR FIRST VICTORY

Whizzer White Scores on 20 Yard End Run.

Detroit, Mich., Sept. 29 (AP).—The Detroit Lions won their first National Professional football league victory in three starts today with a 6 to 0 triumph over the Cleveland Rams. Byron [Whizzer] White swept around his right end for twenty yards and a touchdown shortly after the third period opened to climax a sixty-three yard drive.

Another costly result for the Rams was a broken leg sustained by Bill Conkright, regular center. Coach Dutch Clark said tonight Conkright will play no more football this season.

The Rams were outplayed and their own scoring opportunities were nullified by fumbles or pass interceptions. Their best chance came late in the first period when a fifty-four yard march, highlighted by the passing of Half Back Parker Hall, carried them to Detroit's 14 yard line. There they lost the ball on downs.

Detroit made 13 first downs to 5 and gained one hundred and seventy-two yards from scrimmage to forty for the Rams.

DODGERS WIN, 10-3

Pittsburgh, Pa., Sept. 29 (AP).—The Brooklyn Dodgers today celebrated Homecoming day for their coach, Dr. John Bain Sutherland, by drubbing the Pittsburgh Steelers, 10 to 3, in the city where Sutherland attained national fame as a collegiate leader.

The triumph, the first for Sutherland as a pro coach, was witnessed by 26,618, third largest in National league history here. The loss, too, was the first for Coach Walter Kiesling's Steelers.

The only touchdown came late in the first quarter on a plunge drive from the 1 yard line by Brooklyn's Pug Manders. Ace Parker converted from placement.

De La Salle scored first when Right Half Regan tossed an eleven yard pass to Left End Wachdorf in the end zone. The play was set up when Baranowski of Leo fumbled on his own 20 yard line and a series of line plunges brought the ball down to the 11.

Leo tied the score when McDonald reeled off a forty-five yard run, going from his own 25 to the De La Salle 30. On the next play, Baranowski took the ball from McDonald on a reverse and raced thirty yards to go over.

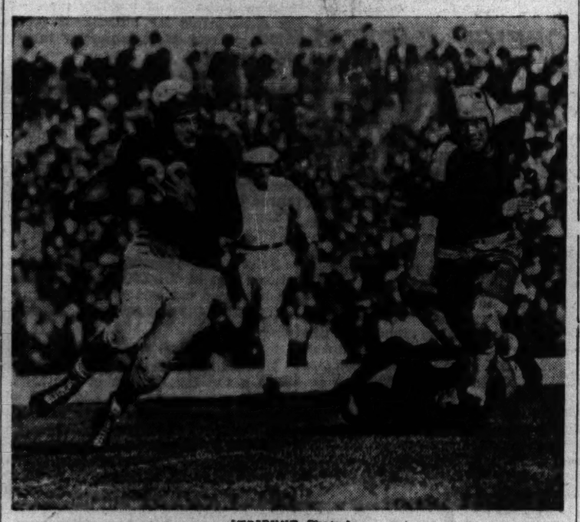
A Cardinal Play That Worked



[TRIBUNE Photo.]

Hugh McCullough (33), Chicago Cardinal half back, speeding around end for a sizeable gain in second quarter of yesterday's game with Green Bay in Milwaukee. No. 64 is Howard Johnson, Green Bay guard. The Packers won, 31 to 6.

Packers Whip Cards, 31 to 6; Lead Division

in which poor passing cost them touchdowns that ordinarily are routine, the Packers settled down to give a commendable exhibition of football and wound up with a team of rookies and reserves making two threats against the exhausted Cardinals in the fourth period.

Packers Intercept Six Passes.

Pass interceptions, of which there were six, set up Green Bay's first and fourth touchdowns and field goal, and a poor kick-off by Ki Aldrich, Cardinal center, led to Isbell's long scoring run.

Hinkle took McCullough's pass in the first quarter and brought it back sixteen yards to the Cardinals' 44 yard line. Isbell's third down pass to Hutson was completed over Rookie John Hall's head for forty-eight yards and a touchdown, but the ball was brought back to the 22 yard line where an official had detected Hutson's heel print on the sideline. Isbell then passed to Mulleneaux in the end zone. McCullough tackled Mulleneaux before the ball arrived and it was ruled interference, giving the Packers the ball on the 1 yard line. Isbell then slipped outside Conway Baker and bucked thru Marshall Goldberg and Bert Johnson on the goal line for the score. Hutson added the extra point.

Hinkle Kicks Field Goal.

Three plays later Center Charlie Brock made the first of his two interceptions, giving the Packers the ball on the Cardinals' 28 yard line. When Isbell began having trouble passing within reach of receivers and a five-yard penalty had set the Packers back, Hinkle place kicked a field goal to make it 10 to 0.

In the closing minutes of the first period, an exchange of punts left the Packers on their own 42 yard line. Hinkle went outside Left Tackle Joe Beinor for ten yards and Isbell split the guards for twelve on the next play. Then he passed to Hutson, who made a shoe string catch in the corner of the field and dived over from the 3 yard line to avoid Milt Popovich's flying tackle Hinkle added the extra point.

Spread Fools Cardinals.

Center Tom Greenfield brought Aldrich's rolling kickoff back ten yards to the 50 yard line at the start of the third period. Three plays netted eleven yards. Then Laws called for a modified spread in which the Packer ends split out several yards each way. The Cardinals met the maneuver by dropping into a five man line with the guards far apart. Isbell spun, then barged thru the opening between the guards, veered off to his left behind good blocking, and raced unmolested to the goal.

Several minutes later Brock intercepted another pass and returned it seventeen yards thru a swarm of Cardinals to the 9 yard line. After a pass had gone awry and Hinkle had failed to gain, Van Every passed into the flat to Laws. Aldrich had the veteran trapped on the 5 yard line, but Laws merely came to a stop, went into a little dance before the puzzled Cardinal center, then scooted on for the goal. Hinkle kicked the extra point to bring the scoring to a close.

George F. Barrett presenting Gunther Lueschen with trophy after the 19 year old Edison Park lad won yesterday's Elgin to Chicago 70 mile bike race.

Gunther Lueschen, warehouse worker, yesterday won the 14th annual George F. Barrett A. C. Elgin to Chicago bicycle race. The victory was a struggle thruout the 70 miles, even to the finish line, for 16 year old Bill Carnduff, who was second, was only two yards back.

Lueschen, who lives at 3742 Lakewood avenue and rides for the Edison Park Wheelmen, covered the distance in 3 hours 1 minute and 55 seconds. He finished third in last year's race. Fastest time for the scratch riders was made by Bob Kaergard of the C. Y. O., who rode from downtown Elgin to Damen avenue, at 21st place in 3 hours 9 minutes and 28 seconds.

Sox Over Cubs, Most Any Way You Look at It

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

The White Sox have been beaten—a few times—in their city series toil with the Cubs, but not many people ever picked 'em to suffer such humiliation at the hands of their home town rivals. So it is with the fall meeting scheduled to be opened by the long standing baseball enemies tomorrow in Wrigley field. The Sox seem to have an edge on paper and this same edge should be noticeable when they get on the ball field.

Position for position the Sox must be granted superiority in most of the spots. In the aggregate their pitching can be considered a little more effective. Hence, if the Sox are better in the majority of individual positions and have more pitchers than the Cubs to pour into a short series, they must have a bulge in a team vs. team rating. And the Sox also have an indefinable something that makes it tough for an enemy to figure them. They're always coming up with the unexpected. They even lose that way occasionally.

Tresh is Best Catcher.

In the interests of brevity, but at the same time to promote tavern arguments, let's take the respective positions [pitching excepted] as follows:

Catcher—With the youthful Mike Tresh the Sox have a little more all around skill than the Cubs, whose main dependence is the none too sprightly Al Todd, altho the latter occasionally connects with a long drive.

First baseman—Whether the Cubs use Glen Russell, Phil Cavarretta or the much traveled Zeke Bonura, the Sox have much the better of this in Joe Kuhel, a nifty fielder and dangerous bat wielder.

Second baseman—If Billy Herman is in shape he should be more formidable than the Sox's Jimmy Webb.

Shortstop—The Sox have Luke Appling, which is all that need be said in this case.

Solters, Gleeson on Par.

Third baseman—Bob Kennedy of the Sox is just a freshman, so is inclined to be unsteady. Stan Hack, the Cub veteran, doesn't cover the ground as of yore, but has had a good year, especially with the bat.

Left fielder—Figuring hitting and fielding there isn't much difference between Julius Solters of the Sox and Jim Gleeson of the Cubs.

Center fielder—The Cubs' Hank Leiber might hit a long ball if the pitching is careless. He also fields well. But nobody ever has termed Mike Kreevich anything less than an A1 performer altho he slumped badly at the plate this year.

Right fielder—Taft Wright of the Sox is a dangerous hitter, but defensively has his bad days. Billy Nicholson of the Cubs is an average fielder and has power at the plate except against left handers. The Sox expect to start two of this variety in the first four games.

Sox Have Edge on Mound.

The pitching, which answers everything in a short series, might easily ruin all the above experting. But on performances the Sox tentative starting quartet of Ted Lyons, Thornton Lee, Eddie Smith, and John Rigney, appears to carry a little more weight than the Cubs' Claude Passeau, Vern [Lefty] Olsen, Larry French, and Bill Lee.

In reserve the Sox will have Bill Dietrich and Jack Knott, regular starters during the season. Gabby Hartnett, the Cub manager, will have to think twice if it becomes necessary for him to rush help to one of his starters.

Dizzy Routed Again; Cards Beat Cubs, 6-0

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

St. Louis, Mo., Sept. 29.—Baseball faded out of the 1940 picture today with a 6 to 0 Cardinal victory over the Cubs, who were blanked by the Coopers, Morton the pitcher and his battery mate brother, Walker, a recent graduate from Columbus of the American association. Dizzy Dean was the losing pitcher.

Morton, in his eleventh victory against a dozen defeats, handed the Cubs their third straight setback of the series by yielding only six hits. He also drove in the first run, which was scored by his brother, whose single launched a three run attack on Dean in the second inning.

Dean Is Hit Hard.

Working five innings, Dean, with his half speed, curve and change of pace, yielded nine of the Cardinals' 12 hits and five of the runs, the sixth going over at the expense of South-Paw Vern Olsen, who pitched the final three innings.

It was the third loss of the National league season for Dean, who thus finished with a .500 average, which he built up before and after his sojourn with Tulsa of the Texas league. He won his first two after returning from Tulsa, then was batted out twice by the Cardinals, including today's beating.

Connecting for a double and two singles, Jim Gleeson had just half of the Chicago hits off Cooper. It was the Cards' 14th victory over the Cubs in 22 games this season, which had the Cardinals winding up in third place, one position lower than their final standing of 1939. The Cubs closed in fifth position, one notch lower than a year ago and their first windup in the second division since 1925.

Cards Get Three Runs.

The Cards scored three runs in the second on W. Cooper's single, Marion's sacrifice, Crespi's walk, M. Cooper's single, Hack's error on the throw to third and Stu Martin's single.

Dean held the Cardinals in the third, following Slaughter's double, but in the fourth the Cards added two markers on Crespi's safe bunt, M. Cooper's sacrifice, Stu Martin's walk and Walker's double. Dean yielded singles in the fifth to Mize and Marion, but escaped.

As Dizzy left the field he stopped at the box of Sam Breadon to shake hands with the Cardinal club owner, who sold him to the Cubs for $185,000 and three players two years ago last April.

RED SOX DEFEAT A'S TWICE TO GET 4TH PLACE TIE

Boston, Mass., Sept. 29 (AP).—Capturing a double header from Philadelphia, 9 to 4 and 4 to 1, Boston's Red Sox edged their way into a fourth place tie with the Chicago White Sox today in an American league finale.

The two victories, the second behind Woody Rich's five hit pitching, ended the Boston season with a five game winning streak, with all but one of the victories at the Athletics' expense. It was Rich's first start of the year.

Red Sox Manager Joe Cronin led a triple steal in the sixth inning of the second game. With two out and Dom DiMaggio batting, Cronin stole home from third while Bobby Doerr advanced from second and Johnny Peacock from first. Score:

Increases Forecast in All Districts.

Railway freight traffic in the last three months of 1940 will top the 1939 period by 7 per cent, a compilation of shippers' anticipated requirements indicated yesterday.

On the basis of forecasts by members of 13 regional shippers' advisory boards covering operations in all parts of the country, the Association of American Railroads set the fourth quarter total at 6,511,835 cars, compared with 6,084,567 cars of revenue freight actually transported in the 1939 period.

Increases were forecast in each of the 13 districts. The following table lists the regional boards, the actual car loadings in the fourth quarter of 1939, the number of cars expected to be required in the last three months of this year, and the predicted increase:

ANOTHER TRANSIT CASE HEARING TO BE HELD TODAY

Attorneys for the city and the traction lines are scheduled to appear today before Federal Judge Michael L. Igoe, who three weeks ago granted another continuance in the long succession of hearings on the proposed unification of the city's transportation services. At that time Judge Igoe told the attorneys that the remaining obstacles to unification could be cleared up in 10 minutes.

The draft of the plan was sent to Ald. James R. Quinn, chairman of the transportation committee, last Tuesday. Quinn said he expected to place the ordinance before the council Wednesday.

The two major problems remaining on which the attorneys will report to Judge Igoe today are agreement on a pension plan for the transit lines' 21,000 employés and arrangement by the lines to buy or lease the Chicago Motor Coach company as part of the proposed system.

COMMONWEALTH & SOUTHERN

I would appreciate having a report on the Commonwealth & Southern corporation. What has been its earnings record?—C. F. A.

Answer: Commonwealth & Southern corporation is the top holding company of one of the three largest electric power systems in the country. The system supplies electricity, gas, transportation, and other facilities to about 3,500 communities in 10 industrial and farming states in the south and middle west with a combined population exceeding 10 million.

The parent company controls 32 operating subsidiaries. There were 165 companies in the system when it was organized in 1929 and a maximum of 232 at one time, but 192 were eliminated in the last 10 years. Seven companies have been or will be dropped this year.

Funded debt of Commonwealth & Southern totals $52,000,000. Capital stock outstanding consists of 1,500,000 shares of $6 cumulative preferred stock and 33,673,328 shares of common stock, both of no par value.

Only one-half of the regular dividend rate has been paid on the preferred stock since April 1, 1935. Unpaid accumulated dividends on the preferred will total $17.25 a share on Oct. 1. Nothing has been paid on the common stock since March 1, 1932.

Gross earnings, net income, and earnings per common share of the company and subsidiaries compared as follows in recent years:

	Gross Earnings	Net Income	Earned per Com. Share
1932	$114,514,000	$13,243,000	$0.13
1933	109,092,000	8,215,000	*0.02
1934	114,890,000	7,444,000	*0.05
1935	122,183,000	9,407,000	0.01
1936	135,355,000	13,350,000	0.13
1937	148,856,000	15,125,000	0.18
1938	145,993,000	11,865,000	0.09
1939	140,868,000	13,414,000	0.13

*Loss.

Consolidated net income of the company and subsidiaries in the seven months ended July 31 this year was $8,171,632 equal to 9 cents a common share against $8,026,798 or 8 cents a common share in the same period of 1939.

PLANE EXPORTS SET NEW PEAK DURING AUGUST

All Sales Abroad 350 Millions.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 29 [Special].—Shipments of aircraft reached a new high mark in August and helped boost exports to the United Kingdom for the month to $125,309,000. This was the largest monthly figure since November, 1924.

The commerce department, reporting today on August sales abroad, said that the plane exports totaled $30,000,000 and that exports to Britain were $17,000,000 above the July total.

The value of all United States export trade in August rose to $350,000,000 from $317,000,000 in July, principally as a result of increased shipments to the United Kingdom, Canada, and Japan, the department said.

Exports to Canada were valued at $63,500,000 in July and $71,000,000 in August, and shipments to Japan increased from $15,000,000 to $25,000,000.

Total Volume Rises.

Exports to all other countries combined showed a slight decline in August, principally as a result of reduced shipments to China, British India, and Australia, the department said. Exports to South America were maintained at approximately the July levels.

The rise in exports to the United Kingdom in August reflected mainly a further expansion in British purchases of commodities essential to a war economy, according to the report. Shipments of aircraft reached a new high mark of nearly $30,000,000 for the month. Exports of iron and steel semimanufacturers continued an upward trend unbroken since the start of the year.

Tops All of Europe.

As in July, total exports to the United Kingdom in August were higher in value than exports to all European countries in the same month a year ago. The moderate rise in shipments to other European countries was accounted for chiefly by the gain in trade with the soviet union, which took a relatively large amount of refined copper. There were gains in trade with Sweden, Finland, Ireland, Jugoslavia, and Greece.

Exports to Japan which were approximately $10,000,000 above those in July, included larger amounts of metals. Shipments of refined copper increased by approximately $6,000,000, of iron and steel semimanufactures [scrap, bars, ingots, etc.] by more than $2,000,000. There were heavier shipments of lubricating oil, metal working machinery, and chemicals and related products to Japan.

22 OIL COMPANIES TO FACE ANTI-TRUST PROSECUTION TODAY

Washington, D. C., Sept. 29 [Special].—Charges of restraint of competition will be filed in federal District court for the District of Columbia by the justice department tomorrow against the American Petroleum institute and 22 major oil companies.

Part of the complaint demanding divesture by the companies of their reputed control of pipe lines and other transportation facilities will not be pressed at this time, Attorney General Robert H. Jackson said, because the national advisory defense commission reported such action might disrupt an essential defense industry.

The complaint charges the companies conspired to fix and maintain uniform, noncompetitive prices to be paid for crude oil bought from independent producers and sold to independent refiners, and that they conspired to restrict the production of crude oil and the manufacture of petroleum products. These restrictions, it is charged, are accomplished thru reports made to the institute.

Among companies named in the complaint are Atlantic Refining, Barnsdall, Cities Service, Consolidated, Continental, Gulf, Midcontinent, Ohio, Phillips, Pure Oil, Shell, Skelly, Socony Vacuum, Sun, Texas, Tide Water, Union of California, and Standard of California, Indiana, Kentucky, New Jersey, and Ohio.

FOREIGN CAPITAL INFLOW IS HEAVY DURING 5 WEEKS

Washington, D. C., Sept. 29 (AP).—The treasury reported today that the flow of foreign capital into this country during the five weeks ended July 3—which included the period when France fell—amounted to $300,903,000.

This was the third largest influx on record for so short a time and compared with an inflow of $389,000,000 in April, 1939, and $386,000,000 in September, 1938, when the threat of war was strong in Europe.

The heavy movement increased foreign short term funds in this country to an unprecedented total of $3,342,819,000. The previous peak was $3,126,539,000 on May 22, 1940.

French funds increased by $185,708,000 to $504,841,000, and British funds rose $43,396,000 to $397,903,000.

The major decreases in balances were: Italy, $35,184,000; Netherlands, $13,583,000; Belgium, $10,705,000, and Norway, $5,105,000.

Net purchases of American securities by foreigners during the period amounted to $10,487,000.

NEW COAL PRICE TO BOOST BILL OF CHICAGOLAND

Minimum Rise Put at 3½ Million Yearly.

Chicagoland's annual coal bill will be boosted at least three and a half million dollars—and possibly more—by fixed prices for bituminous coal which go into effect tomorrow thruout the nation.

This estimate was made yesterday by W. J. O'Brien, vice president of the Sterling-Midland Coal company of Chicago and representative of 300 mine operators in southern Illinois and Indiana. O'Brien charged that the price fixing—provided under the Guffey coal act of 1937—is deliberately aimed at industry and is intended to bring John L. Lewis' United Mine Workers' union back into the fold of the New Deal.

Prices for industrial and home stoker coal in the Chicago area will be increased between 25 and 50 cents a ton under the new schedule, O'Brien said.

Home Owners Affected.

He said home owners who now pay $5.35 a ton for Indiana or southern Illinois stoker coal will pay $5.85 a ton for it tomorrow. Approximately 4 million tons of stoker coal are used annually in the Chicago area, and 2 and a half million tons of other types of coal are used in homes. The area consumes approximately 13 million tons of bituminous coal each year. Industries use about half of the total.

O'Brien said the new price schedule has been fixed to benefit eastern coal operators at the expense of those in the midwest. He said that under the new prices, soft coal from West Virginia—the heart of the C. I. O. union's stronghold—can be sold in the Chicago area for $1.45 a ton altho it must be sold for $1.70 a ton in the east. At the same time, he said, mine operators in Indiana and Illinois, whose costs are lower, will be forced to charge $1.70 a ton in the midwest.

Differential Blow to Markets.

"This differential of 25 cents a ton is intended to deprive us of our markets," O'Brien said. "Indiana mines alone produce 17 million tons of bituminous coal a year, but when the price differential goes into effect the business will go to the eastern mines."

O'Brien said a petition to enjoin the department of interior from enforcing the coal act will be filed in the United States Circuit Court of Appeals. He said the petition will charge that the interior department disregarded all facts presented at formal hearings setting up the price schedules.

"The Ickes outfit [Harold L. Ickes, secretary of the interior] completely disregarded the facts presented by coal miners and operators, altho those facts were to be used as the basis for the fixed prices," O'Brien said.

Bolster for Union Seen.

He said the price advantage given West Virginia miners will provide jobs in eastern mines and bolster Lewis' union, and charged that the administration hopes thus to mend the break between Lewis and President Roosevelt.

The interior department has administered the coal act since the coal commission was abolished after a futile attempt to enforce price schedules in 1937.

Nation-wide opposition of consumers to the prices which were fixed at that time caused the commission to withdraw the price schedules.

DRAFT ACT IS CAUSE OF GREATER ACTIVITY IN HOME FURNISHINGS

Conscription, responsible for an increase in marriages, has provided many new buyers of home furnishings, resulting in substantial gains for manufacturers.

Percy Wilson, managing director of the Merchandise Mart, reported that a survey of August sales showed decided increases in 1,900 lines over the same month of last year. Other reasons given for the upturn were the defense program spending, war blockades curtailing imports, and the threatening shortage of raw materials.

The "abnormal number of weddings" and increasing purchasing power were reported the cause of a 22 per cent increase in silverware sales.

DAY by DAY on the FARM by BOB BECKER

Frost Hits Mosquitoes.

Sept. 29, 1940.

WHEN old Jack Frost visited the Du Page county farm last week for the first time this fall he delivered a heavy blow to the mosquitoes. These troublesome insects had been altogether too plentiful during the warm weather, and the boys on the farm had had plenty to say about the way the little biters were attacking them in the fields and woods. Several were wondering if the mosquitoes were breeding on the farm or if they were moving in from nearby areas.

J. Lyell Clarke, sanitary engineer of the Des Plaines valley mosquito abatement district, settled that question quickly. He came out to the farm, hiked thru the fields, and looked over the ponds, and his verdict was that few mosquitoes were developing in the low areas on the farm. He added that most of the insects were migrants from known mosquito breeding marshes near by.

Offers Two Suggestions.

Clarke had two suggestions for control of the few possible mosquito breeding spots on the farm. The first was that the creek which winds thru the east woods be ditched deeper to insure a continuous flow of water. He explained that mosquito eggs are deposited on the ground in and alongside creek beds and ditches. A shallow bed allows the water to spread over a wider area, fills pockets along the banks, and serves to hatch the eggs deposited along the shores. A deep creek bed, however, would hold the water in a narrow channel and assist mosquito control.

His other suggestion was that a planting of Gambusia minnows [surface-feeders] in the farm ponds might be a big help. These top minnows, he explained, would feed on any mosquito larvae hatched after the high spring water level. They are used often in mosquito abatement projects.

Finds Ponds Clean.

In inspecting the ponds Clarke didn't bother to take water specimens. He said he felt sure there would be no mosquito larvae in the water because of the clean banks and water surface.

The number of mosquitoes which might be hatched from the ponds and the shallow creek is insignificant compared with the number of these insects coming from big marshes west and north of the farm property. Clarke called attention to several of these marshes. He said that the drainage canal which carries sewage from the city of Wheaton is another possible source of mosquitoes. The city treatment plant is less than a mile east of the farm property, and the canal passes thru one corner of the farm. When sampled this week the water was clear and clean, but Clarke said that if the stream became polluted due to improper functioning of the sewage disposal plant it would serve as a breeding place for mosquitoes.

Experiments conducted by the Des Plaines valley mosquito abatement district show that mosquitoes may travel as far as 16 miles from their hatching place.
